ITALIANS PUSH INTO ETHIOPIA; 400 MILE FRONT

South Armies March in Three Columns.

BY SIR PERCIVAL PHILLIPS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland, Oct. 28.—The Italian army tonight was reported to be continuing its advance in Ogaden province toward the highlands of southeast Ethiopia. The invaders are pushing forward without meeting serious resistance.

A thin screen of Ethiopian cavalry and infantry in that area is falling back wherever contact is established. Villages immediately behind the Ethiopian outer defense are being bombed daily by Italian airmen and defending troops are hastily evacuating the communities.

The present phase of the Italian invasion in the south covers a front of more than 400 miles, cutting across the southeast corner of the African empire. There are three synchronized operations. Two columns of troops are moving up fairly accessible valleys, and the third column is advancing across the arid desert wastes bounded by British Somaliland.

Raiders Cleared Out.

One column with headquarters at Dolo has cleared out raiding bands of tribesmen who cross into Jubaland. This column has occupied the Ganale Dorya river as far north as Gorgoru.

Large quantities of food, weapons and ammunition are being concentrated at Lugh, within the frontier of Italian Somaliland, and it is believed that Gen. Rodolfo Graziani, commander of the Italian army in the south, is preparing an intensive drive along the river in the direction of Addis Ababa. It is expected he will launch this offensive when other troops have reached the foothills beyond Ogaden desert.

The second Italian column has made considerable progress up the Webbe Shibeli river. The villages around Geledi have been occupied after aerial bombardments. One detachment is reported to have advanced as far as Hiran.

Tanks Lead the Way.

The most rapid advance has been achieved in north Ogaden. There tanks are rumbling forward along a caravan trail leading from Balumbal on the frontier of British Somaliland. Infantry regiments of the invaders are reported to have advanced to a position ten miles west of Meridleh.

Harradigit, at the edge of the plain, has been destroyed by bombing planes. Two other towns, Sasa Baneh and Daggah Bur, have been subjected to daily airplane raids since last Tuesday.

Bombing squadrons also ranged further westward, attacking retreating tribesmen.

Observers in British Somaliland believe that it may be weeks before there is a decisive battle. The Ethiopians are planning to allow the invaders to penetrate well into the foothills before they launch a mass counterattack.

Defenders Fall Back.

The army of Ras Desta Demtu, son-in-law of Emperor Haile Selassie and commander-in-chief of the Ethiopian troops in the south, which retreated toward the Webbe Shibeli river under pressure of the Italian flank movements, has resisted the temptation to fight the mechanized enemy in unfavorable country.

The so-called main army of Dedjazmatch Nasibu is concentrated in the neighborhood of Jigjiga and shows no signs of moving forward to meet the enemy. The concentration was completed this week by completely evacuating Harrar of all troops. Only a small garrison of irregulars remains witnin the city for police duty.

Hostility toward foreigners has been increasing in Harrar, which is the second largest city of Ethiopia. The few still remaining were not allowed to traverse beyond the walls while the wild hill men, en route to join Dedjazmatch Nasibu, were passing over the mountain. Wherever the Ethiopians saw a white man, usually for the first time, they challenged him with threatening cries and gestures.

Sleep Outside City Walls.

Even officials of Harrar, hitherto friendly to Europeans, are showing an antagonism which they admit is due to the league of nations' failure

COUNCIL GROUP VOTES 16-0 FOR DAYLIGHT TIME

Nelson Referendum Plan Is Tabled.

The judiciary committee of the city council yesterday recommended passage by the council of an ordinance placing Chicago officially on eastern standard time, effective next March 1. The decision was by unanimous vote of the sixteen members present.

Also by unanimous vote the committee tabled an amendment sponsored by Ald. Oscar F. Nelson [46th] proposing that the time change be submitted to a referendum in the April primary.

The time change ordinance, introduced by Ald. B. A. Cronson [4th], will be published and deferred at the regular meeting of the council tomorrow. It will be called up for final passage at the next meeting, probably the week following. An overwhelming council vote for the ordinance is expected.

Public for Time Change.

The members of the judiciary committee agreed that two public hearings, together with private polls and their own contacts with constituents, showed substantial majorities for the time change, which will conserve 210 hours of daylight annually during the seven months not now covered by daylight saving time.

In a statement before the committee Ald. Cronson declared that the time change has been given wide support over the city because it will provide health benefits and economic advantages, reduce trafic accidents and crime, and increase the ability of the people to enjoy leisure in the open air.

Cronson cited testimony of various experts and representative groups in support of each point.

Votes of the Committeemen.

In answering the roll call vote several aldermen responded as follows:

JOHN A. MASSEN [48th]—"I have consistently sought the reduction of trafic hazards in Chicago and have fought for trafic safety measures. It would be inconsistent in me to oppose this ordinance which trafic experts declare will reduce accidents. In the evening hour, with drivers fatigued, all the daylight we can get is needed. Daylight time means safer trafic environment."

FRANK KEENAN [49th]—"I have had hundreds of letters urging the ordinance. I believe 90 per cent of the people want permanent daylight time."

JAMES J. CUSACK JR. [5th]—"I have had experience working with children in play clubs. I know the ordinance will benefit them."

JAMES J. McDERMOTT [14th], committee chairman—"The evidence before this committee has been in favor of daylight time."

For Opportunity to Try It.

EDWARD J. UPTON [30th], vice chairman of committee—"I believe that the people favor the ordinance and that they should be given an opportunity to try it."

Z. H. KADOW [35th]—"In light of the recommendation of trafic experts and child health specialists, I feel I must vote for this ordinance. I believe the people should vote on it after they have tried it."

WILLIAM T. MURPHY [17th]—"The people want this change and it has been demonstrated that it will be beneficial from health and economic and safety points of view."

FRANK E. KONKOWSKI [26th]—"I want the people to have a chance to vote after they have tried it. They can have that chance by petition. I'm in favor of giving the change a trial."

Effective Date Is Changed.

As the committee meeting opened Ald. Cronson presented an ordinance fixing next March 1 as the effective date of the time change in substitution for his original ordinance, which was to be effective immediately after passage. Ald. Keenan moved acceptance of the substitution when Cronson explained that the later date would give ample time to prepare for the change.

Discussion then centered on Ald. Nelson's amendment proposing a referendum. This was submitted in writing, since Nelson is in Battle Creek, Mich., for medical attention.

Ald. Cronson declared that the people must petition to obtain a referen-

Garner Sees Mikado; Keeps His Shoes On

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Oct. 29.—[Tuesday.]—A greater moment than filling a royal flush came into the life of Vice President John N. "Cactus Jack" Garner today when he was received in an audience with the son of heaven, Emperor Hirohito of Japan.

His only disappointment was the fact that he could not remove his shoes. A good pair of Texas cotton socks—mates and with no holes—went undisplayed in the royal presence as the Vice President learned—contradicting the advice of friends—that shoes are not removed at palace audiences.

Garner had fortified himself with presentable hosiery—two pairs he brought from Texas and two pairs (one striped) he had received from the congressional party en route to the Philippine Islands commonwealth inauguration Nov. 15. Mrs. Garner had seen to it, all in vain, that her husband would not expose a toe.

Emperor Cordial.

With Garner at the audience was Joseph W. Byrns, speaker of the United States house of representatives. Both were attired in cutaways and both were well turned out, for courteous young room boys at the Imperial hotel are handy with ties.

The audience was described as a courteous formality with the mikado standing and exchanging greetings through an interpreter with the Vice President and speaker. Formerly such a ceremony was held behind a screen, but this custom no longer is followed.

Carefully drilled in the protocol amenities by embassy attachés, Garner declined to give details of the audience, but his pleasure was evidenced by his beaming countenance.

"The audience was private between the emperor, the speaker, and me and it would be improper to discuss it," he said. "Naturally, I was gratified, and all those who respect the office of Vice President and speaker are grateful for the consideration shown us."

Police Hold Back Crowds.

Garner and Byrns and Chargé d'Affaires Edwin L. Neville were escorted from the American embassy to the imperial palace by the imperial court chamberlain and rows of uniformed policemen stood outside the gates to keep the crowds back. Newspapermen were not permitted to enter the palace, which is sacrosanct to the Japanese.

The visit of the Vice President, Speaker Byrns, 17 senators, and 24 representatives to Japan is causing a sensation. It was the first audience with an emperor ever accorded a Vice President of the United States. Great crowds assemble when the party appears and the Japanese press is treating the visit as a momentous event.

Guests at Peers' Club.

Last night the party was given a soiree at the Peers' club by the Japan-America society, of which Prince Tokugawa, descendant of the shoguns, is president. They were entertained by a Japenese butterfly dance and strange, plaintive music which left Garner with an expression like the great Diabutsu buddha at Kamakura which the party saw yesterday.

Following the audience today, the Vice President, Mrs. Garner, Speaker and Mrs. Byrns were entertained at a luncheon by Premier Keisuke Okada. Later the whole party was given a reception by the American embassy.

The delegation will sail from Yokohama tonight, stopping later at Kobe, Shanghai, and Hongkong en route to Manila.

BABY ORANG A WEEK OLD; ZOO REPORTS IT 'FAIRLY STRONG'

The Lincoln park zoo's baby orangutan was a week old early this morning, and Zoo Director Floyd S. Young announced last night that the valuable 1½ pound orang was "fairly strong." The mother, Nancy, continued to feed her baby at approximate two hour intervals by taking a gulp of cow's milk in her own mouth and transferring part of it to the baby's.

Mr. Young said they had no way of knowing how much nourishment the baby was getting, but that he should get 1½ ounces at each feeding. Nancy, whose first venture in maternity last year ended tragically when her baby died of malnutrition at the age of 10 days, has no milk of her own for the young orang, her nervousness, due to her concern over her child, having dried up her natural supply. Meanwhile she will not let the baby out of her arms, and it is impossible to remove the little orang and feed him by bottle.

Director Young has been kept busy opening letters and telegrams and answering phone calls offering advice.

Mae Marsh of Silent Movies Critically Ill

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Two stricken film players, Mae Marsh and Gordon Westcott, were gravely ill tonight and a third, Adolphe Menjou, was in a serious condition, hospital physicians reported.

Miss Marsh, the blonde actress who won fame years ago in the silent motion picture epic, "Birth of a Nation," had an infection following a rupture of the appendix. Physicians would not predict her recovery.

Westcott, recruited from the Broadway and London stage in 1932 for film rôles, was "in immediate danger" from a hemorrhage at the base of the skull, suffered in a polo game fall yesterday. He was still unconscious at Cedars of Lebanon hospital.

Menjou Is Given Blood.

Debonair Adolphe Menjou, suffering from a chronic stomach ailment, was given a blood transfusion yesterday at Good Samaritan hospital and has been unable to take nourishment since Saturday, his physician, Dr. Louis Martin, said. The actor's condition was described as "serious."

Menjou's actress wife, Verree Teasdale, convalescing from an attack of colitis, was moved from her home to the hospital to be near her husband.

Other filmland notables on the sick list included Buster Keaton, patient at the National Military Home hospital, who was registering improvement after a nervous breakdown, and John Barrymore, in seclusion at his home, where he is recovering from a severe cold and an attack of "nerves."

In Hospital a Week.

Miss Marsh was taken to the hospital last Tuesday. Two days later an emergency operation was performed.

She has appeared in several films in recent years, after retiring 12 years ago to devote her time to her family. Her husband is Louis Lee Arms, wealthy magazine writer. They have three children and reside in the exclusive Flintridge district in the Pasadena mountains.

Miss Marsh has been spending much time in recent years in writing poetry and in landscape and portrait painting.

She began her screen career under the D. W. Griffith banner. She was one of the several stars in Griffith's "Birth of a Nation," portraying the rôle of the little sister.

Henry J. [Midget] Fernekes, the wily little killer who precipitated a major scandal in the state administration by his escape on Aug. 3 from Joliet penitentiary, was recaptured yesterday. Police from the state's attorney's office arrested him at Devon and Newgard avenues on the edge of Rogers Park.

Fernekes, who once was under sentence of death on one charge of murder and who has been accused of at least four other slayings, was unarmed when captured. He surrendered without a struggle, but persisted in denying his identity, even after it had been confirmed through his finger prints.

The midget desperado, who is only 5 feet 4 inches tall, had apparently been hiding in Chicago since his escape. It has been well known to the police that he was afraid to leave Illinois because of the probable consequences of his capture in another state. For fourteen years the state of New York has been seeking to extradite him for trial on the charge of murdering two bank messengers in Pearl River, N. Y.

Concealment Among Millions.

While the hunt for him was doubly spurred by his own desperate character and by the scandal and charges of bribery which grew out of his escape, Fernekes adopted the simplest method of losing himself in a great city. He went into a poor district, rented a room, and posed as a working man.

A list of telephone numbers and addresses found on his person led police to believe that he was maintaining several of these humble hideouts. Detective squads were busy last night conducting raids at various addresses.

Fernekes adopted the same practice before his arrest in 1924, after which he was sentenced to hang for murder, only to have the conviction reversed by the Supreme court. When he escaped last August he was serving a sentence of ten years to life for bank robbery with a gun. At the time of his 1924 arrest it was found that he had rented several rooms, in which firearms and explosives lay concealed beneath the floorboards, unbeknownst to his landlords.

How an Outlaw Operates.

A picture of his recent activities was given yesterday by Stanley Kuklinski, from whose home at 2233 West Erie street Fernekes was trailed yesterday to the point of his arrest. When the midget was taken he posed as Louis Kuklinski, son of his landlord, and asserted that he was employed at the Western Electric company. Fernekes actually was employed in that plant fourteen years ago. He worked in a welding department, where he familiarized himself with steel cutting torches which later he used in robbing safe deposit vaults.

Two Attorneys Shot in Loop Tragedy.

William R. Fetzer, 62 years old, a former judge of the Municipal court, was shot to death and two other attorneys were seriously wounded yesterday by a vengeance crazed gunman who invaded Fetzer's law office on the twelfth floor of the Ashland block, 155 North Clark street.

At the close of the wild shooting scene the slayer, Raymond Lamming, 36 years old, discharged his pistol into his own head. He died four hours later in the Bridewell hospital.

A note was found in his pocket disclosing that he had carried a grudge against the former judge since 1929 when Fetzer, then sitting on the Municipal bench, sentenced him to serve a year in the Bridewell on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Slayer Dramatizes His Life.

The premeditation of the shooting and the slayer's realization that he might sacrifice several other lives in his revenge for a fancied wrong was indicated in the note and in an 85 page manuscript in which Lamming had dramatized his life and forecast its violent ending.

The attorneys seriously wounded are William L. Hawthorne, 42 years old, 848 East 40th street, who was shot in an office adjoining Fetzer's, and Nathan Waintroob, 29 years old, 37 Harrison street, Oak Park, who was employed as Fetzer's law clerk.

Hawthorne was taken to St. Luke's hospital and Waintroob to the Lutheran Deaconess hospital. Physicians operated last night to remove a bullet from Hawthorne's body. His chance for recovery was believed slight. Waintroob was given a better than even chance of surviving.

Revenge Plan Told to Family.

It was learned that Lamming had told members of his family of his plans to kill Former Judge Fetzer. At Springfield, Ill., Lamming's sister, Mrs. Charles Beaver, said that he told her last July of the revenge he proposed.

Mrs. Beaver said that she and their father, John M. Lamming, who lives with her, attempted to dissuade the killer from carrying out his threats, and he replied: "Well, I'll get him some day."

According to Mrs. Elsie Land, 1840 North Wells street, Fetzer's secretary, Lamming first appeared at the former judge's office a week ago. At that time he said he wanted to see Fetzer and was shown into the latter's private office. He told Fetzer he wanted to use his name in connection with a manuscript. The former judge never saw the manuscript. A day later Lamming returned to the office but Fetzer was not there.

Lamming Returns Again.

Lamming came back shortly after noon yesterday. Mrs. Land was out at lunch. Fetzer shared suite 1201-05 in the Ashland block with seven other attorneys. Private offices open from a large reception room. Attorney Fetzer's office is to the north of the reception room.

Miss Florence Levy, 29 years old, 744 Cornelia avenue, a stenographer, was at her desk in the reception room when Lamming entered carrying his manuscript. He went directly to Fetzer's room.

Fetzer was seated at his desk talking to Tom Barrett, a Republican political worker in the 6th ward—Fetzer's ward. Barrett said Fetzer was intending to run for Republican ward committeeman against Patrick Sheridan Smith, the incumbent, and wanted Barrett's aid.

Slayer Walks Into Office.

"This man [Lamming] knocked and came in," Barrett said. "He told Fetzer he had the manuscript with him. Fetzer said: 'I'll see you in a moment.' But this man said the manuscript had to go to New York this afternoon. Fetzer said it would take him two or three hours to read it. Then I left."

Immediately after Barrett had departed Lamming drew a pistol from a lether holster at his shoulder and fired two shots. One of them struck Fetzer in the heart and the other hit the left side of his chin. He slumped to the floor dead.

The bullet that entered his heart had passed only an inch below an old police sergeant's star which Fetzer was wearing. Had the star been directly in the bullet's path it might have saved the former judge's life, as the chin wound would not have been fatal.

Fleeing from Fetzer's office and brandishing the revolver, the slayer encountered Waintroob who was running toward him.

"You don't like me and I don't like you," Lamming shouted and pointed the gun at Waintroob. Waintroob turned in flight and Lamming fired, striking the attorney in the back. The bullet came out under Waintroob's right arm.

Fires Into Another Office.

Lamming pointed his weapon at Miss Levy but it clicked harmlessly as she fled screaming. Across the hall, in suite 1207, occupied by court reporters, John J. Brownlee, 910 Lawrence avenue, one of the reporters, saw Waintroob shot.

The killer's gun was working again and he fired one shot across the hall. The bullet smashed the glass in the door of suite 1207. Jean Robinson, 35 years old, 1228 East 70th street, a stenographer in that office, had left her desk for a moment. That action saved her life for Lamming's fire was in line with her desk.

Toward the adjoining law offices in suite 1200, the killer raced. Attorney Charles Horgan, Bert Lannon, a court reporter, and Attorney Hawthorne were conversing in this suite, which they occupied. They had just heard the shots.

Hawthorne Wounded Twice.

Lamming opened fire again. Two shots hit Hawthorne and he and Horgan dropped to the floor in the inner office. Lannon slammed the connecting door in Lamming's face and also fell to the floor. Through the door they heard Lamming fire again. He had shot himself in the head. He dropped in the vestibule of the office.

Horgan turned to Hawthorne and saw the attorney had a head wound.

"You're hit in the scalp?" Horgan asked.

"He got me in the back, too," Hawthorne replied.

The three men remained stretched on the floor until the police arrived. Then Hawthorne was taken to the hospital.

Meanwhile the wounded Waintroob ran to the office of Dr. Tom Brown, a dentist, in suite 410 in the building. He was given first aid and removed to the hospital.

Note in Slayer's Pocket.

Lamming died in the Bridewell hospital without regaining consciousness. In his pocket, penciled on white paper, was this note:

"This is the end of the story. A too severe judge sticking to the letter of the law and ignoring human principles has taken my life, his own through me and the lives of several others, perhaps, through me.

"I, too, am severe, cruel now because I find the majority of people that way.

"I am sorry it had to happen, but I valued my life [by its trials and tribulations] as worth any five. So I write, Finis."

Lamming had fired six shots from his gun, a .32 caliber automatic pistol. One bullet remained in the chamber and there was another in the clip. An extra clip of cartridges was found in one of his pockets.

Assassin's Conviction Record.

The Bridewell records showed that on Aug. 1, 1929, Lamming was sentenced to a year by Judge Fetzer and was fined $25 and costs for assault with a deadly weapon. On Nov. 7, 1930, he was sentenced to 30 days in the Bridewell by Municipal Judge Edgar Jonas on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. At that time, according to police, Lamming admitted he had been living with a 15 year old boy.

On April 4, 1931, Lamming was sentenced to 90 days in the Bridewell by Municipal Judge Leon Edelman on a charge of larceny.

Last July he was sentenced to 25 days in the Bridewell on each of two charges of assault with a deadly weapon.

These sentences were imposed by Municipal Judge J. M. Braude after police testified that Lamming had been pursuing two youths with a knife in Jackson park. He was examined by Dr. David Rotman, a Municipal court psychiatrist, and was found to be an epileptic.

The Story of "Rusty."

The manuscript which police found in Fetzer's office after the shooting was typewritten on 85 pages of yellow paper. It was entitled "Rust," and was the story of "Rusty," apparently Lamming's fictionalizing of his own career. In it he mentioned Fetzer by name as being "a tough judge to go before on a stabbing charge." Rusty, according to the story, entered a reformer's office, killed the reformer and wounded five policemen. He was wounded himself.

Then, the manuscript concludes:

"The verdict of the physician who treated Rusty in the emergency ward proved correct. He did live, but did not fully recover from his wounds. He was sent to a prison asylum for the criminal insane, there to suffer the recurring tortures of a confined prison, to brood over his troubles and scheme for the chance to make a break for freedom.

Hints at Other Crimes.

"A careless politician, or one might say ruthless, in the rôle of judge, had sentenced a good young man to prison, thereby unwittingly sealing his own fate and causing the death of five other people. All Rusty's crimes are not enumerated here.

"The world may never know just how many people were slain by the demon Rusty. But does our social system take cognizance of the underlying cause and seek to prevent such horrible deeds? Punishing a criminal cannot restore the dead to life. Perhaps society can work out a humanist way, a nonpolitical way of eradicating sources of evil."

A substitute ending for the story "in the event a publisher feels the original ending too dramatic or tragic" has Rusty dying after his tragic revenge. This proved to be the real ending.

Man of Three Aliases.

Lamming's last known address was 15 West Superior street, a rooming house where he had lived since Sept. 1 under the name of George Whitmarsch. He had also used at various times the names of Lanning and Lessing.

Lamming was born at Jacksonville, Ill., in 1899. In 1918 he went to Springfield where he was employed for a time in the state auditor's office. He organized a social group known as the "Royal Society of Orientals." He joined the army at Jefferson Barracks, Mo. in 1919 and was honorably discharged three years later.

In 1928 Lamming came to Chicago. He was first employed at a loop hotel and later by a printing company on the south side. He left this concern two years ago.

A sister, Gloria Lamming, 29 years old, who lives at the Stevens hotel and is now employed by the printing company, said that she had not seen her brother since they lived in an apartment at 4510 Woodlawn avenue. She left there five months ago but Lamming continued to live there until Aug. 1.

Miss Lamming said that her brother had threatened suicide many times and said he wanted "to get even" with Fetzer. He associated with near north side artists, she said, and was burnt on the face by chloroform thrown at him during an artists' party some months ago.

Lamming's mother, Susan, lives at Decatur, Ill., where she is a nurse in the Macon County infirmary. In addition to his sisters, Gloria and Mrs. Beaver, Lamming had four other sisters and a brother.

Two Notes at Rooming House.

Two notes were found in Lamming's room at 15 West Superior street. The first was addressed to a John Hiller. It instructed him to take possession of all of Lamming's property "in any untoward event or unexpected happening."

The second note instructed Hiller to send the manuscript of "Rust" to Lamming's sister, Gloria, and authorized her to accept any cash offer for it. This note also bequeathed Lamming's $80 in postal savings to his mother.

WILLIAM R. FETZER A POLITICAL FIGURE HERE FOR 26 YEARS

William R. Fetzer, who was slain by a crazed gunman yesterday in his law office, had a long political career in Chicago, always with the support of the city hall machine element of the Republican party.

Born near Ottawa, Ill., in 1873, Fetzer attended the Ottawa High school and later was a student at the University of Illinois for two years. In 1899 he obtained a degree in law from Northwestern university and immediately entered practice in Chicago.

In 1909 he was appointed an assistant state's attorney and continued in that office until 1913, when he became a member of the legal firm of Biggs, Carr & Fetzer. Elected alderman of the old 7th ward in 1917, he was again a candidate in 1919 and was successful.

Fetzer was elected to the Municipal court in 1920. In 1921 he was called before the police committee of the city council to explain why he had released two men accused of having explosives in their possession. Although he declared there was insufficient evidence against the pair Fetzer agreed, at the demand of the committee, to hold a new hearing.

In 1926 the Chicago Bar association opposed his reëlection, declaring that his service had not given satisfaction. Fetzer won, however. Thereafter there were frequent complaints about the ease with which criminals obtained bonds in his court. In 1928 the chief justice of the Municipal court ordered a retrial of a forgery case in which Fetzer had acquitted the defendant after a long series of continuances.

In 1932, still facing the opposition of the Bar association and of the Chicago Crime commission, Fetzer was defeated for another term on the bench. He had since been practicing law.

J. W. Fetzer, father of the former judge, lives in the Mapletier rest home, 3932 Lake Park avenue. He is 92 years old. His son visited him on Sunday.

MATE A FORGER, BRIDE STRIVING TO REPAY MONEY

Waukesha, Wis., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—Mrs. Clyde Niemeyer, 36, of Milwaukee, a bride of two months, set out today to pay hundreds of dollars her husband, 38, got from merchants in Waukesha and Milwaukee counties through check forgeries.

"I don't want that kind of money," she said after her husband was sentenced to six years in Waupun prison by City Judge T. W. Parkinson.

She told the judge that her husband left the house every morning presumably to go to work and came back at night with a pocket full of money. She believed it had been earned honestly. Mrs. Niemeyer wept when sentence was pronounced. She argued that if her husband were placed on probation he would be a good citizen. District Attorney Scott Lowry asked a maximum sentence of seven years. He asserted Niemeyer was convicted 9 years ago and sent to Joliet penitentiary for 1 to 9 years for forgery, but was paroled after 4 years. The prosecutor has 12 checks which Niemeyer admits forging to keep his wife clothed and to pay household expenses.

A marriage license was issued yesterday at Waukegan to William Dale Bost, 45 years old, and Marguerite Parsons, 33 years old, both of Chicago. On April 30 William Dale Bost, president of the Orange Crush company and the Bost Toothpaste company, was divorced by Mrs. Bernice Challenger Bost, publisher of Inland Topics. Mr. Bost could not be reached last night.

FERNEKES SEIZED HERE POSING AS POOR WORKMAN

klinski home in August. About Sept. 1, the Kuklinskis recalled, he had a visitor, a fat woman. This woman, police believe, was one of his sweethearts of a decade ago. Ten days after his escape Fernekes wrote a letter to a bank in San Francisco, where he had deposited part of the money realized in stock market speculations which he was permitted to conduct while a prisoner at Joliet. His letter asked the bank to forward his balance to this woman.

Try to Trail Money.

The bank notified police and got their authorization to forward the money. The woman was watched, but was too wary to lead the police to Fernekes. After he received his visitor, the Kuklinskis said, Fernekes told them that he was going to Racine, returning after Labor day. He stayed there four more days, but did not return until yesterday, when he called to get the clothing he had left in his room.

Fernekes said when he rented the room, the elder Kuklinski related, that he was employed in a an electrical factory a block away. He said that his tenant always got up at 6 o'clock to go to early mass at a church several miles away, and returned home before departing, ostensibly to work. He returned every evening at 6 o'clock and remained in his room through the evening.

"He was very devout,' Kuklinski recalled, "and often talked to my son about religion."

Fugitive's Suspicions Aroused.

Kuklinski apparently aroused Fernekes' suspicions when, learning that employés at the electrical plant in the neighborhood went to work an hour before his tenant left the house, he questioned him about it. This, police believe, was Fernekes' motive for moving to another of his nideouts.

When he went to the Kuklinski home for his clothing yesterday, word of his presence there went to the state's attorney's office in a short time, from an undisclosed source. Capt. Daniel Gilbert and Sergt. Harry O'Connell set out, and trailed Fernekes, who was driving a cheap second hand car, to the point of the arrest.

They followed him for more than ten miles, leaving the city once for Niles Center, before they reached a location where they thought it safe to run his car to the curb.

Prepare for Desperate Battle.

Capt. Gilbert wished to make the arrest at a point where the gunfire which he expected to follow would not harm passersby.

Unexpectedly, Fernekes made no trouble. He was unarmed and had with him an announcement of courses in the Northwestern university school of commerce and journalism. This was in keeping with his character. When he was arrested for murder in 1924 police found him in the Crerar library studying scientific treatises on poison gas and high explosives.

As soon as his fingerprints had been identified yesterday at the police bureau of identifications the escaped convict, still denying his identity, was hurried to State's Attorney Courtney's office in the Criminal courts building.

"How about a bondsman?" he asked the prosecutor.

"Don't you want a lawyer first?" asked Mr. Courtney.

Insists on His Innocence.

State's Attorney Courtney immediately called Gov. Horner at Springfield to apprise him of the arrest. When he announced that Fernekes had been arrested the prisoner interrupted the conversation several times, in a calm voice.

"But I'm not Fernekes," he reiterated.

He maintained his pose, although not consistently, throughout the day and last night. When J. R. Carpenter, assistant warden at Joliet, arrived at the state's attorney's office, Fernekes greeted him with a grin.

"Look who's here," he exclaimed.

He persisted in talking about himself in the third person, relating the "bad breaks society gave Fernekes," but on one occasion lapsed into the first person in answering a question.

Later, at the detective bureau, he reiterated his denials, even when he received a visit at his cell from Sergt. Andrew Aitken, who arrested him ten years ago in the Crerar library.

Long Stretch Looms Ahead.

At the detective bureau he will appear in a showup before recent robbery victims before going back to prison. Under his current sentence of ten years to life for robbery, the parole board ruled shortly before his escape that his application for parole cannot be considered until 1940.

The manner of his escape from Joliet has never been fully explained. The official version is that he managed to get a suit of civilian clothes and some smoked glasses inside the wall, and that by the subterfuge of scratching his lip, got a piece of courtplaster at the prison hospital beneath which he managed to grow a mustache without detection.

Then, according to the story given out in the official investigation, Fernekes donned civilian clothes one day and, further disguised by the smoked glasses and his "contraband" mustache, appeared at one of the entrance gates. There he posed as a visitor who had wandered into a forbidden section of the prison, the story goes, and the guards turned him out.

Whitewash Is Alleged.

Will R. McCabe, state's attorney of Will county, charged that the official investigation and resultant story were an attempt to whitewash some of the persons connected with the escape.

Four guards who were on duty in the shop where Fernekes was working and at the gate through which he was alleged to have made his escape were dismissed as a result of the incident.

One of the addresses found in Fernekes' possession was that of a rooming house at 1625 West Jackson boulevard. The owner, who gave the name of James Costello, was held for questioning.

MILWAUKEE POLICE PROTECT BUILDINGS; HUNT FOR BOMBERS

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—With all the available police and deputies of this county guarding buildings and patroling the streets in police and other autos, this city was on the alert tonight to prevent any renewal of bomb throwing. The police also feared possible violence at the reopened A. J. Lurdemann Haverson stove plant, where there was a strike. There were no more bombs; no violence tonight.

Federal help was given today to city and county authorities in their hunt for persons who discharged bombs last night against two branches of the First Wisconsin National bank, and the night before bombed Shorewood Village hall. Both of the bank branches, the Citizens' and the East Side, were open for business as usual today. United States agents were active because of the recent thefts of dynamite from a shed at Estabrook Park, headquarters for various projects of the Works Progress administration. It became generally known today that the National Guard armory at Whitefish Bay had been robbed of 11 pistols last week, but the thieves had been unable to find the hidden riot guns.

Shorewood officials continued today to examine relief project records for clews to malcontents. Police were considering theories that the bombings were the work of radicals, cranks, racketeers, or ordinary criminals who wanted to concentrate the police at certain points to make other parts of the city easier to rob.

GOVERNOR CALLS GUARDS IN ROW OVER CAR TAGS

Seizes South Carolina Road Department.

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—Backed by a machine gun company of National Guardsmen who set up their weapons ready for action, Gov. Olin D. Johnston today seized control of the state highway department as a climax to long smoldering friction between the executive and the fourteen commissioners.

The governor declared the highway commission in a state of "rebellion and insurrection," appointed a board of managers to handle road matters, and ordered the militia to keep the commissioners out of their offices. He also suspended the right of habeas corpus.

At Odds Since Taking Post.

The action was taken after the commissioners refused to declare a holiday on sale of automobile and light truck licenses until a new law could be passed legalizing a flat rate of $3 and after four commissioners refused to turn over seats on the board to new men named by the governor.

Reduction of the license cost was part of the governor's platform prior to election last year and he has been at odds with the highway department since taking office in January. Last week Johnston demanded that the board stop sales of 1936 licenses at old rates, which range upward from $5.95, but was refused on the ground the law provided for 1936 tags on and after Nov. 1.

Gov. Johnston often had denounced the commission chairman, Ben M. Sawyer, vetoing an appropriation for Sawyer's salary and threatening to throw him out of office for assertedly using the department for political purposes. Sawyer was said to be out of the city today.

Ordered to Turn In Guns.

Joe Calus, Spartanburg accountant, who was made chairman of the new board of managers, immediately ordered the entire state highway patrol to turn in their side arms because "there will be no patrol on the highway today, tomorrow, or the day after that."

He then summoned the several hundred department employés, fired them in a group, and rehired them with instructions to submit resignations effective Nov. 15. He explained to employés the resignation requirement was a protection measure and that it would not necessarily be carried out. He said many of the employés likely would be retained.

5 Die as Mexican Army Crushes Rebel Gang

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Crushing of one rebel band and a battle with another, both in the state of Jalisco, were reported in military dispatches received here from the commandants of federal troops. Five rebels were killed. Gen. Guerrero, military chief in Jalisco, telegraphed his troops killed three rebels of a group which disbanded themselves in Caja de las Cucharas. Two rebels were killed by a column in command of Col. Jose Marquez in Barranca de Carrizales.

TWO MORE SHOT IN N. Y. RACKETS; SCHULTZ BURIED

Secret Funeral Held for Ex-Beer Baron.

New York, Oct. 28.—[Special.]—While the body of Dutch Schultz, slain in the battle for control of the rackets he once dominated, was being spirited away from a 10th avenue undertaking establishment for hasty and almost secret burial in Hawthorne, N. Y., two more racketeers were shot today.

Whether or not the latest shooting in the series of underworld frays which was climaxed last week with the virtual wiping out of the Schultz mob had any connection with the warfare over the racket profits could not be determined immediately.

At 6:30 a. m. today Joseph Pegno, 24, and Hugo Garaldo, alias Chiarello, also 24, walked down the stairs from their furnished room on the third floor of a building in West 84th street. In the vestibule they were met by a fusillade of bullets.

One May Recover.

Pegno was struck three times in the arm, the leg and the back. He is in the Harlem hospital, and the doctors think he will recover. Garaldo, shot in the jaw and the left side, probably will die. He is in Roosevelt hospital. Both men are chauffeurs and both have criminal records.

While the police were concentrating on the newest shootings, the last act in the melodrama of their one time first rank enemy was being played outside an undertaking establishment in 10th avenue and in the Gates of Heaven cemetery at Hawthorne. The funeral of Dutch Schultz was held there.

Attack on Usury Racket.

One of the leading rackets of the gangsters was attacked today. The usury racket, grown to an enterprise reaching millions of dollars a year in profits and emboldened to strong arm tactics, was smashed when a series of raids dragged twenty-seven prisoners into custody.

The raids, in which forty investigators participated, were directed by Thomas E. Dewey, special prosecutor inquiring into rackets of New York county. The prisoners were charged with exacting usurious rates and with being in the lending business without license.

More than 1,000 victims of the "Shylock" racket, many of them women, have been examined. Some 300 of these were at Dewey's offices today to identify usurers, who in many instances beat and kidnaped victims to extort interest running as high as 1,040 per cent a year.

NEIGHBORS STUDY STARHEMBERG AS KING OF AUSTRIA

VIENNA, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The chancellories of the little entente nations tonight faced an important question: "Would Prince Ernst von Starhemberg, vice chancellor of Austria, do as king of that country?" The tentative conclusion of little entente diplomats in Vienna seemed to be that the aristocratic fascist would be preferable to Archduke Otto of Hapsburg—if Austria must have a king.

Friends of Starhemberg, whose position in Austria now is almost that of dictator, although Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg continues as nominal head of the government, said the fascist leader might assume the position of regent about Christmas time and might thereafter become king.

For months since restoration of the monarchy became a live issue, statesmen of the little entente—Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia, and Rumania—have been saying, "the return of the Hapsburgs means war." But no such dire predictions followed the revelation that a movement had been started to elevate Starhemberg to the regency and ultimately give him the crown. The prince has vigorously opposed immediate restoration of the Hapsburg. He is an opponent of Reischsfuehrer Hitler of Germany and a friend of Premier Mussolini of Italy.

RECAPTURE PRISONER WHO ESCAPED FROM U. S. MARSHAL HERE

Joseph Ward, 34 years old, the prisoner who escaped from a lock-up cage of the United States marshal's office on the eighth floor of the federal courthouse on Oct. 11, was captured yesterday at Harrison street and Springfield avenue. Marshal William H. McDonnell and Deputy Robert Bessette, who made the arrest after learning that Ward would be found there, said he surrendered meekly.

Ward, an ex-convict, was sentenced by Judge William H. Holly on Oct. 11, to serve 18 months in prison for impersonating a federal officer in a liquor shake-down case. Placed in a lockup cage to make a telephone call, Ward pried the door open, crawled out on a narrow ledge and into the office of United States Attorney Igoe.

Ward explained yesterday that he then ran down the stairs. Finding the stairs shut off on the first floor by an iron grill Ward said he dropped from the second floor balustrade and then went out into the street. His seventeen days' freedom will cost him six months' liberty, for yesterday evening Judge Holly sentenced him, increasing the penalty to two years in Leavenworth penitentiary, and at 6 p. m., handcuffed to two deputy marshals, Ward was on his way thither.

Two Women Get 6 Months for Dance Program Fraud

Charges of obtaining money under false pretenses by soliciting advertisments to dance programs which never appeared brought sentences of six months in the Bridewell yesterday to Mrs. Helen Hewitt, 36 years old, and Mrs. Marge Summers, 39 years old, both of 4641 Sheridan road. The sentences were imposed by Municipal Judge Hartigan.

MEAT ADDED TO DIET OF GROWING DIONNE QUINTS

CALLANDER, Ont., Oct. 28.—(AP)—The Dionne quintuplets, 17 months old today, added meat to their diet for the first time. It's only a small quantity of carefully selected and prepared veal liver served once a week, but it marked the youngsters' first move toward a grownup diet.

The liver and Marie's development were highlights of the famous babies' 17th month. Marie has progressed remarkably mentally and physically in the last four weeks, Dr. Allen Roy Dafoe, their physician, said. Within a few months Marie, who was the smallest of the five when they were born May 28, 1934, and has lagged since, will equal her sisters in every way, the physician believes.

The bit of liver they are fed is only a morsel for the Dionne children. They eat all they are given and often they cry for more. Sometimes they get it. Three of the youngsters—Yvonne, Annette, and Cecile, front runners in the weight Derby—are attempting to walk and occasionally manage a few steps.

SWEITZER TRIAL OPENS; LAWYERS WAR OVER JURY

Only One Juror Accepted on First Day.

The first day of the trial of Robert M. Sweitzer, ousted county treasurer and twice candidate of the Democratic party for mayor, ended with only one juror tentatively accepted by both state and defense. Sweitzer is on trial in Judge John C. Lewe's Criminal court on a charge of withholding $414,129 from Michael J. Flynn, his successor as county clerk.

After a day of bickering among the attorneys the court adjourned, taking under advisement a question of whether the defense could ask prospective jurors if they would be prejudiced in favor of either side by the fact that the penalty on conviction of Sweitzer would be one to ten years in prison.

Prosecutor Makes Protest.

"The defense wants to get before this jury the fact that it would be a terrible thing to send this defendant to the penitentiary for 1 to 10 years," said Assistant State's Attorney Marshall Kearney in objecting to the jurors being informed of the penalty.

"I could argue that question to the jury in my closing argument," retorted Defense Attorney Benedict J. Short. "If I can argue it I certainly have the right to inform the jury as to the punishment. Anyhow, it is part of the statute and the judge would have to read it to the jury as part of his instructions."

"The jury in this case has nothing to do with the penalty," replied Assistant State's Attorney Leslie Salter.

Judge Calls for Authorities.

Judge Lewe said the practice was not to inform jurors of the penalty in a case of this kind and that he would not allow it to be done unless the defense produced legal authorities to support its position.

Sweitzer, who seemed in jovial mood, did not hear the question argued because the attorneys adjourned to chambers after the formal objection was made in court. In the meantime Sweitzer strolled about the corridors telling stories to some of his faithful adherents.

"I feel wonderful. I am not worried a bit," Sweitzer told newspaper men. He refused to comment on the case, however, referring interviewers to his attorneys. They, too, refused to disclose the line of defense to be made by the veteran politician, who has just passed his 67th birthday.

Jury Challenges Limited.

Selection of the jury will not take more than two or three days, court attachés said, because of the limited number of peremptory challenges. The state yesterday used up four of its ten challenges and the defense used three of its ten.

Fred W. Brehmer, 29 years old, 713 West 16th street, a painter, was the only venireman to pass the acid test of questioning by the attorneys for both sides. The first four men called into the jury box were tendered by the state to the defense, but when the defense broke the panel with a peremptory challenge the prosecution countered by using two challenges on men it had previously tendered.

The questioning was confined mostly to whether the veniremen were interested in politics or if they had met Sweitzer during his quarter of a century as a political leader and after dinner speaker.

WOMAN KILLED, FIVE INJURED AS AUTOS COLLIDE

Hit-Run Motorist's Victim Dies.

Mrs. Pearl Poledna, 35 years old, 2333 West North avenue, died in Holy Cross hospital yesterday of injuries incurred shortly after midnight when the automobile in which she was riding collided with another at 4925 South Western boulevard. Five other persons in the two machines were injured.

James McGinnis, 55 years old, 5112 West Monroe street, died in Frances E. Willard hospital, the victim of a motorist who failed to stop after striking him at 4855 Madison street Sunday.

Victim of Bus Dies.

Miss Mabel D. Kemp, 47 years old, 5500 Haddon avenue, died last night in the Edgewater hospital from injuries incurred Sunday night when she and her sister, Mrs. Maude B. Engles, 45 years old, a school teacher, with whom she lived, were struck by a Chicago Motor Coach company bus in front of the bus transfer station at 5401 Sheridan road. Mrs. Engles was also seriously injured. Frank Anderson, 1809 Lawrence avenue, the bus driver, was released on bond after being charged with reckless driving.

James Bradford, 57 years old, 440 South Clark street, died last night in the county hospital of injuries suffered in an automobile accident. Found in a dazed condition at Clinton and Kinzie streets, he told police that he had been struck by a truck, the driver of which failed to stop.

Collision Fatal to Girl.

Miss Grace Ergang, 19 years old, 5213 Quincy street, died in the Oak Park hospital last night of injuries incurred Sunday in an automobile collision at Belmont and Thatcher avenues, River Grove. Her escort, Vernon Knoll, 19 years old, 1909 South Halsted street, was also seriously injured in the accident.

Three passengers in the automobile of William Koroceric, 2244 South Kostner avenue, were seriously injured in a collision with the machine of Mrs. W. S. Anderson, 523 Maple street, Hinsdale, at York and Roosevelt roads in Du Page county. Highway police said Koroceric was westbound and Mrs. Anderson southbound. State trafic signs require York road trafic to halt before crossing Roosevelt road.

Policeman Anthony Jonkel, 50 years old, 2413 South Pulaski road, was seriously injured late last night when he was struck by an automobile while directing trafic at Dearborn and Lake streets. The driver, Henry Mount, 2029 North Damen avenue, told investigators he had not seen Jonkel. At Henrotin hospital it was said Jonkel's left hip appeared to have been fractured.

Policeman Joseph Smith, 40 years old, 2651 East 78th street, suffered severe injuries early today when the motorcycle on which he was riding was struck by an automobile at 13th street in Columbus drive. The driver of the car, Harold Jacobs, 29 years old, 6340 Sheridan road, was arrested and charged with reckless driving. Smith was on trafic control duty when hit.

BETSY ROSS KIN REFUSES TO VOW FLAG ALLEGIANCE

Weymouth, Mass., Oct. 28.—(AP)—A boy who claimed to be a direct descendent of Betsy Ross, who made the first American flag, was suspended from Weymouth High school today for refusing on religious grounds to pledge allegiance to the flag.

Fred Hilton, superintendent of the school, said Charles Newcomb, son of Mrs. Betsy Ross Newcomb of Weymouth, a member of the religious sect known as Jehovah's Witnesses, was the latest of the state's school children to refuse to obey a state law requiring weekly salutes to the flag.

Mrs. Newcomb said she was a past president of an American Legion auxiliary unit.

Refusal of the boy to salute the flag is the eleventh case to be reported in the state in recent months. Seven children were expelled from Saugus schools last week.

Mrs. Newcomb's husband died five years ago from wounds suffered during the world war.

Jehovah's Witnesses refuse to salute the flag because they believe that "God's commandment is against saluting of flags."

300 Get Tickets in Drive to Stop Double Parking

More than 300 motorists received tickets yesterday during the first day of a campaign against double parking ordered by Police Commissioner Allman. The slips instruct violators to pay $2 fines at the cafeteria court in city hall. Capt. David Flynn of the trafic division and Capt. John Prendergast of the uniformed police said the drive will be intensified today.

MORON BINDS AND LASHES 2 WOMEN IN HOTEL ROOM

Holds Up Victims with Gun; Rapes One.

An armed moron invaded a room of the Belmont Plaza hotel at 505 Belmont avenue last night and raped a young woman after binding her and a girl guest and beating them both with a lether belt.

The rape victim is Miss Anna Wilhelm, 23 years old, occupant of the room, No. 209. Her guest was Miss Mary Smith, 22 years old, 515 Briar place.

Miss Smith, who had made an appointment to meet Miss Wilhelm, entered the hotel shortly after 8:30 p. m. and ascended to the second floor in an elevator. As she was walking toward her friend's room a man followed. When she knocked on the door Miss Wilhelm, who was holding a conversation on the telephone, laid down the receiver and admitted Miss Smith.

At this point the man drew a pistol, showed it to the two girls, and threatened to shoot. He then hung the telephone on the hook, forced both to disrobe, tied them together with a wire, and, drawing the belt from his pocket, beat them. He then tied Miss Smith to a chair, gagged her, and raped Miss Wilhelm.

Altogether the man was in the room more than an hour. When he left he took with him $6 from the purse of Miss Wilhelm. Both girls were left tied, but they freed themselves after several minutes and called the police.

Police Lieut. Henry Hanson said that description of the degenerate fitted that of the Austin "whipper rapist" who attacked a number of women on the west side in recent weeks. The man is about 5 feet 10 inches tall and dark. He wore no mask.

3 Robbers Smash Window, Carry Away $3,000 Furs

STATE TO FIGHT FOR REHEARING IN DAICHES CASE

Hopes to Retry Weitzman on Murder Charge.

The state's attorney's office announced yesterday that it would fight for a rehearing before the State Supreme court on its reversal of the murder conviction of Irving Weitzman, wealthy south side baker. The announcement was made after the prosecutors read the full opinion of the Supreme court, which, unless amended, would give the state little chance for a conviction in a retrial.

Weitzman was sentenced to life imprisonment last March 15 after he had been convicted by a jury of the murder on March 3, 1934, of Eli Daiches, an executive of the Thomas M. Bowers advertising agency. Daiches was shot by gunmen while riding in his automobile at 55th street and the outer drive. James Murphy, one of an alleged group of hired killers, testified for the prosecution that he had been hired by Weitzman to have Daiches killed.

$286,595 Insurance on Daiches.

During the trial the prosecution showed that Daiches' life was insured for $286,595. The Bowers Advertising agency was the beneficiary of the insurance policies.

Louis Weitzman of New York, a brother of the defendant, owned 424 of the 430 shares of advertising agency stock. It was charged that after the insurance policies were paid Irving Weitzman received $25,000 from his brother Louis to pay some debts of his bakery shop chain.

In its opinion the Supreme court practically ruled out Murphy's testimony and the prosecution evidence which was introduced in an effort to corroborate Murphy's story.

The court also ruled that the insurance testimony had no place in the trial and should have been kept from the jury. It had previously been reported that the Supreme court reversed the conviction on the grounds of an improper instruction to the jury by the presiding judge and "inflammatory arguments by the prosecutors."

Court's Ruling on Murphy.

"The testimony of Murphy must be believed to be true in order to sustain defendant's conviction," said the Supreme court opinion. "His testimony as to the defendant's part in the conspiracy to murder Daiches was totally denied and contradicted by the defendant himself.

"Murphy by his own testimony is an admitted perjurer, robber, murderer, conspirator, and accomplice, and his story linking the defendant with the murder plot is difficult to believe and was not corroborated in any of its essential details. These circumstances alone would be sufficient to cause a reversal of the judgment in this case."

The Supreme court was just as emphatic in ruling out the insurance evidence on the ground that the testimony showed the defendant had no interest whatever in the Bowers agency or in the insurance policies.

BARBERS OF U. S. CONVENE; SEEK UNIFORM LAWS

Sponsoring a campaign to enact uniform barber license laws in the 48 states, 100 delegates of the Associated Master Barbers of America opened their 9th annual convention yesterday at the Stevens hotel. California, Iowa, Wisconsin and Nebraska now have state laws authorizing city ordinance control of minimum hours and prices, according to C. A. Belmont, vice president of the organization. He said the ordinances are based on local barbers' agreements. The master barbers are seeking to establish this plan in other states.

COURT TO ISSUE 'TOBACCO ROAD' RULING TODAY

U. S. Injunction to Be Asked by Producers.

Federal Judge William H. Holly will rule at 2 p. m. today on the motion of the city of Chicago to dissolve the temporary order restraining Mayor Kelly and the police department from interfering with the presentation of the play, "Tobacco Road." The order was issued last week by Judge Holly after Mayor Kelly ordered the show closed as "indecent and obscene."

The producers of the play sought to file a petition for an injunction in the case yesterday, but they were balked by the court after Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes argued that the motion to dissolve the restraining order should be disposed of before the injunction should be considered.

Both Sides Rely on Affidavits.

Both sides yesterday presented affidavits from persons who had seen the play or read the script. Those presented by the city termed the production lewd and obscene. Those presented by the counsel for the plaintiff considered the play "not vile but depicting vile conditions" and a meritorious social study comparable to "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Corporation Counsel Hodes read affidavits from Superior Judge Benjamin P. Epstein, Municipal Judge Jay A. Schiller, Ald. William T. Murphy [17th], and Police Lieutenant Harry M. Costello. All had seen the play and considered it very detrimental to the public morale.

"The list of affidavits reads like a roll call of the Democratic party," observed Don M. Peebles, one of the attorneys for the plaintiff.

Several Uphold Play.

Attorney David Watts, of counsel for the play producers, read affidavits favorable to the show. Among the signers were Rabbi Louis L. Mann, Prof. James Weber Linn, Margaret Ayer Barnes, novelist; Berton Rascoe, literary critic; Edna Kellogg, opera singer, and several others prominent in literature and the theater. All considered the play, for normal minded adults, an excellent sociological study.

Mr. Hodes read the ten commandments and said the play violated seven of them. He then read at length the debated scenes in the play, describing the gestures used and the intonation of the actors.

Purpose of Censorship.

These in whole or in part are obscene, he said. Censorship laws, Mr. Hodes asserted, are not for the protection of the intelligent and mature but for the protection of the weak and those prone to corruption. He denied that a federal court had jurisdiction over the acts of a municipal executive.

WIFE BEATEN IN HOTEL MYSTERY IS RECOVERING

Jack London, manager of the delicatessen department of a San Diego, Cal., store, arrived here yesterday by airplane and hurried to the County hospital, where his young red haired wife, Rose, was a patient. She was just pronounced out of danger following a skull fracture and other injuries incurred when she was beaten about the head and body with an iron pipe as she slept in the Lorraine hotel, 411 South Wabash avenue, Sunday morning.

Mr. London cleared away the mystery about his wife's trip to the east, but he was unable to give any information that might solve the brutal attack upon her. She told police he was going to visit her brother, Abe J. Ross, a druggist, in New York City. Police learned Ross had been shot to death a month ago by a business partner.

The husband said that, owing to his wife's poor health, relatives dared not tell her of the slaying of her brother. She was told last week that Ross was injured in an automobile accident and she decided to go and visit him.

U. S. Will Provide Housekeepers in 1,000 City Homes

Plans will be formulated today for the entry of the federal government into a housekeeping service in Chicago through funds granted by the Works Progress administration. President Roosevelt has approved the expenditure of $828,748 for the employment of 1,000 housekeepers here and Controler General J. R. McCarl has released $103,000 to start the project.

Mary S. Bissell, director of WPA women's work in Chicago, and Frances Swain, supervisor of household arts for the public schools, will talk over details this afternoon. The housekeepers will be sent to the homes of sick mothers whose children are in public and parochial schools.

"The housekeeping service will be supplied in cases of illness where women cannot provide for it themselves," explained Miss Bissell. "The whole idea is to keep the children in school. Individual cases will be scrutinized carefully by social agencies or visiting nurses."

South Side Police Hunt Young Slugger of Woman

A police search was in progress last night for a young man who beat Mrs. Florence O'Brien, 53 years old, 8005 Merrill avenue, in 82d street near Jeffery avenue, inflicting serious injuries to her head. Mrs. O'Brien, who was treated at the South Shore hospital, said the man made no demand for money. He slipped up behind her, she said, and without warning began striking her with a short club. At the approach of Kenneth Jerome, 15 years old, 2051 East 83d street, the attacker fled.

CHILD BURNS TO DEATH.

Milo, Ill., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Joan, 5 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Robinson, was burned to death today when her clothing was ignited by a pile of burning leaves.

When stewed fruit tastes a little flat a dash of this will soon fix that . . .

WPA WILL PROVE REDSKINS DON'T SCALP ANY MORE

It'll Help Tourist Trade and Also U. S. Pay Roll.

Foreigners who won't visit the United States because they are scared the Indians will lift their scalps are soon to have their fears allayed.

That part of the Works Progress administration known as the federal writers' projects is going to get out a 3,000 page work entitled "The American Guide." It is to prove, among other things, that the old scalping system is out of date.

A prospectus of this gigantic contribution to Americana—with the natural accompaniment of a huge pay roll—has been sent out by Henry G. Alsberg, editor in chief. The prospectus comprises about 4,000 words.

Latest on the Redskins.

Its discussion of the international-Indian question of today is as follows:

"Unfortunately, the belief is current in some places abroad that the redskins still haunt the primeval forests supposed to begin just north of Yonkers, and that the traveler in America is constantly exposed to the danger of being scalped. Every community in America desires to assure foreigners that it is competent to protect visitors as well as to show them sights to interest and edify them.

"The Guide will undoubtedly give smaller communities the best opportunity they have ever had to gain the attention of foreigners as well as of native Americans."

Exhaustive Research Program.

In a letter accompanying the prospectus, signed by Mr. Alsberg, the whole project is outlined. He said that a staf of field and research workers "will be engaged for the coming months" in every American city of more than 10,000 population, to gather data of scenic, historic and industrial interest.

This information, he added, is to be digested for the Guide, but the original maps, articles and pictures will be supplied by the local communities and states.

"These guides will supply a need that has not been adequately met by existing compilations," Mr. Alsberg asserted. "Their contents will bear the stamp of federal authenticity."

A Lure for Strangers.

Also the editor in chief called upon his prophetic vision to explain what the Guide will mean to local communities.

"The quickening of interest in local sights will cause an improvement in trafic through the development of tours in an about each city," he averred. "To make access to each community easy and pleasurable for strangers—doubtless your city's restaurants, hotels, boarding houses and commercial establishments would welcome transient customers from out of town—the Guide will outline sightseeing tours especially designed to accommodate them."

In conclusion Mr. Alsberg requested the addressee [in this instance THE TRIBUNE] to "coöperate with our workers in giving your city a first class writeup."

Inside Facts on America.

Among the little known facts about American life which, it is promised, the Guide will discuss, are:

1. The skill with wihch the natives of Cape May, N. J., use chop sticks in putting gold leaf on family albums.
2. How a Swiss colony in the West Virginia mountains makes cheese according to the old world formula.
3. The seventeenth century English still spoken by the inhabitants of a certain New Hampshire fishing village.
4. Miami, Fla., has an impressive interdenominational service on the beach every Easter.
5. The influence on "temporary" American culture by writers living or working in Woodstock, N. Y.; Provincetown, Mass., and Carmel, Cal.

A Guide to Prairie Dogs.

Further, it is promised by the prospectus, there will be maps in the Guide, accompanied by natural history photographs, to show tourists where to find beaver and prairie dogs. And the Guide will discuss that important matter—where to go on a trolley.

Speaking more generally of their philosophy of history, the sponsors of the Guide say:

"The American Guide will be an epochal publication. The nations of old made the first essays in government sponsored history writing. The inscriptions which they had cut on columns, pyramids, arches, and walls and sides of buildings survive to give us many facts of antiquity which would have been buried in the rubbish of fallen cities, if their permanent recording had been left to private initiative."

TALMADGE LAUDS CHAIN GANGS AND URGES WHIPPING

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Gov. Eugene Talmadge defended the Georgia "chain gangs" before the congress of the American Prison association here tonight and advocated a return to the whipping post for "small offenses like gaming and wife beating."

"No penitentiary and no chain gang is pleasant," the Georgia governor told the country's leading penologists. "The change in environment and work of the prison camp or chain gang is the most humane way to keep prisoners."

In reference to whipping, Gov. Talmadge said "A good whipping in a man's own county and town would work better than detention in the case of smaller crimes."

FAIR AUTHORITY VOTES TO LEASE LAND 25 YEARS

Park Board's Approval to Be Asked Today.

Members of the Chicago Exposition authority, meeting in the Palmer house yesterday, formally approved a 25 year lease of 180 acres of Burnham park from the Chicago park district for exposition purposes. Walter L. Gregory, president of the authority said work would be started within a few days on the groundwork of the permanent lake front fair for which the Federal Works Progress administration approved an outright grant of $6,455,777 last week.

Gregory and Bernard L. Majewski, secretary of the exposition authority, will take the lease to the park board meeting today. Attorneys for the park district approved the document several days ago.

During the next week, Gregory said, the exposition officials will submit their basic plans for the WPA project to the park board. Under the federal grant Northerly Island from a point 200 feet south of the Planetarium to the southern tip and the mainland between 16th and 23d streets and between the Illinois Central railroad and the lagoon will be beautified.

Plan Trade Exposition Later.

"This is the first phase of the work," said Gregory. "Later on we envision the building of a great trade exposition. Chicago is the market place for the great midwestern empire between the Alleghenies and the Rockies, Canada and the Gulf. We want people to come here to see what's made at Oshkosh, Des Moines or Indianapolis."

C. B. Thornton, a member of the exposition authority, asked whether the lease would permit the serving of wines at exposition restaurants. Martin H. Foss, assistant city corporation counsel who is acting as attorney for the authority, expressed the opinion that if alcoholic beverages were to be served further powers would have to be granted to the authority by the Illinois legislature.

Special Fair Police Urged.

"We ought to have our own police force," said Charles S. Peterson. "The World's Fair had 400 policemen."

"You could call them guides," suggested Thomas F. Myers Jr.

Gregory said the park board could delegate its police powers to the authority if it were found necessary.

Under the provisions of the lease legal actions against the authority would be defended by the park district. No building or structure may be erected unless approved by the park board. Plans for utilities and underground work must be submitted to the park board by next April 15, and a statement of financial ability should be in the hands of the park commissioners by April 15, 1937.

Ready to Start New Park.

Robert J. Dunham, WPA administrator for Illinois, announced yesterday that plans were practically completed for the development of 250 acres of park area on the lake front between Montrose and Lawrence avenues for which the federal government has granted $3,632,974. Dunham said he hoped that 1,000 men would be put to work on the project this Friday or next week. Peak employment on the proposal will be 3,745 men, most of them drawn from the relief rolls.

The land included in the development has been filled in but because of shortened park funds it has been left barren. The project includes further filling, grading, topsoil dressing, planting and landscaping, and the installation of lighting, water and sewer systems and comfort stations. Among the materials that will go into the project are 126,833 shrubs, 2,005 trees, 25,622 pounds of grass seed and 374,541 cubic yards of black earth.

Begin Surveying Job Today.

Men will be put on the WPA pay roll today to survey section lines in the city and on Friday another force will begin the readjustment of 410,000 house numbers. The projects were proposed by Howard C. Brodman, chief of the city map department.

The Illinois office of WPA received word from Washington during the day that the government has released $337,588 to this state for five more projects. The largest allocation was $209,418 to Cook county for the repairing and reconditioning of secondary highways outside the Chicago limits. The county board will contribute an additional $384,976 toward the project.

Operation of a $90,000 WPA project to recondition and bind approximately 250,000 damaged public school textbooks was started yesterday in the Foster school building at 720 O'Brien street.

CHRISTIANSON HITS 'PLANNED SCARCITY' BEFORE YOUNG G. O. P.

Reading, Pa., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Speaking while the AAA still was counting ballots in its corn-hog referendum, Representative Christianson [Rep., Minn.] tonight called for an end of "the terrible philosophy that it is desirable to create scarcity."

"If," said the former Minnesota governor in an address to a young Republican rally, "the Republican party has one responsibility more important, more urgent than any other, it is to destroy once and for all this."

Christianson said "two years ago the administration killed 6 million pigs in order to raise the price of pork; last week Secretary Wallace, stampeded by protests from consumers, asked a 30 per cent increase in hog production in order to reduce the price of pork."

He contended that President Roosevelt "mistakes the temper and underestimates the intelligence of the farmers of American."

HOMES PERILED BY FOREST FIRES NEAR TAHOE, CAL.

Tahoe City, Cal., Oct. 29 [Tuesday]. —(AP)—Summer resorts and residences at the south end of Lake Tahoe were menaced early today by a forest fire which destroyed a $30,000 lumber mill.

Whipped by strong northwest winds the flames were reported bearing down on the following resorts:

Globins' Al Tahoe, Kruger's, the State Line club, Young's, Lawson's resort, Bijou, Camp Richardson, The Grove, and the Lake Valley school.

Fire and wind apparently severed all telephone lines in the area south of the lake, cutting off communications from Tallac and Gardnerville.

Three truckloads of CCC men from the Snowline camp were sent out, and additional fire fighters were being recruited here and from Placerville.

Chicago Joins Nation in Annual Celebration.

The importance of United States naval defense received attention unprecedented in recent years yesterday as Chicago joined the nation in celebration of Navy day. Speakers before school assemblies and civic groups urged development of the navy as a security of peace and as a standing threat against war-ambitious nations.

Ten thousand persons went to Great Lakes naval training station in the afternoon to witness a review of 700 sailors and recruits and a program of seamanship activities. The observance at Great Lakes marked also the 24th anniversary of its opening as the first naval station in the central west. The day's program was the most extensive since it was reopened July 29 after having been closed for two years.

Among those in the reviewing stand were mayors of north shore suburbs, Rear Admiral John Downes, Brig. Gen. Charles D. Herron, Col. C. B. Meyer, Congressman Ralph E. Church, French Consul General Rene Weiller, and George E. Foss, former congressman.

Naval reserve airplanes flew over the Chicago downtown area at noon as numerous luncheon clubs began their Navy day programs. Capt. E. A. Wolleson, chief of staff of the 9th naval district and former commander of destroyers in the Asiatic fleet, addressed the Junior Association of Commerce at the Hotel Morrison, urging navy strength.

SHAM BATTLE STAGED

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—More than 100,000 persons crowded into the Washington navy yard today to watch units of the nation's first line of defense in commemoration of Navy day. The new destroyer U. S. S. Dole attracted particular attention.

The marine corps put on an air demonstration by its crack pilots and a sham battle with sailors from a ship.

John Paul Jones was honored in ceremonies at the Washington monument.

25,000 Visit Navy Yard.

New York, Oct. 28.—[Special.]—Naval establishments in New York City held open house today in observance of Navy day. The chief point of interest was the navy yard in Brooklyn, where more than 25,000 visitors passed the gates, normally closed to civilians.

Visitors likewise were received at the submarine R-13 at 48th street and the Hudson river. At the navy yard the destroyer Jacob Jones, the training ship Empire State, the tug Sagamore, and the cruiser Seattle, now used as a receiving ship, were open for inspection.

25 MISSIONARIES SAFE AFTER JOURNEY DOWN CHINESE RIVER FLOOD

PEIPING, China, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The hazards that confronted 25 Americans and British missionaries in a 600 mile flight down the swollen Yellow river to escape Chinese communists were described today by the Rev. Dr. Thomas Moseley, Oakland, Cal., one of the refugees.

Traveling on rafts of inflated goat skins, the party was for 16 days without shelter, exposed both to the burning sun and perilous rapids and shoals of the river.

"Running the gorges in the upper river was thrilling, and almost fatal," said Dr. Moseley. "One of our two rafts, carrying 11 men and women, broke loose from its moorings and was caught in a whirlpool. It spun madly for several minutes before it was extricated with difficulty by Chinese boatmen."

The missionaries evacuated Lanchow, Kansu province, at word of the approaching invasion of the Reds. They reached Paotow by raft, whence they proceeded here by train. Americans in the party included Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Snyder of Goshen, Ind., and Anna Haupberg of Mitchell, S. D.

ROOSEVELT MAY OPEN CAMPAIGN AT HOMECC ''NG

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Georgia's "homecoming" celebration for Franklin D. Roosevelt—which may see the President fire an opening salvo for his reëlection campaign—was set today for Nov. 29 in Atlanta.

The celebration was arranged by the Georgia congressional delegation and will mark Mr. Roosevelt's first visit to his adopted state since Gov. Eugene Talmadge broke with him politically.

Talmadge, who has made stumping swings into the north, lambasting the New Deal, was not officially connected with the presidential invitation, but Erle Cocke of Atlanta, arrangements committee chairman, said Talmadge had been invited to sit on the platform as Mr. Roosevelt speaks.

Mr. Roosevelt's Georgia farm manager announced today in Warm Springs that the farm's most valuable crop in years had just been harvested. It consisted entirely of grapes. Incidentally, Mr. Roosevelt's farm is not affiliated with the AAA program.

FISH SEES BORAH AS G. O. P.'S BEST BET IN 1936 RACE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Witholding definite commitment on his own candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination, Representative Fish of New York named Senator Borah of Idaho today as the "one possibility of national prominence and with proper support."

Fish said others mentioned by newsmen "are unknown and depending on manufactured sentiment that might disappear overnight."

The New York Republican, now in the midst of a nationwide speaking tour, said he is not a candidate but would not say whether he would enter the lists at some future time "if someone does not enter who represents the type of candidate who could be elected."

A recent statement of a Republican leader in Maryland that Fish would file in that state's primaries was declared to have been made without Fish's authorization.

Alan Dineharts Await Arrival of Child Soon

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 28.—(AP)—The Alan Dineharts of the films are expecting the arrival of a child in the near future, friends said today. Dinehart is an actor and director. Mrs. Dinehart is the former Mozelle Brittone, actress.

Wife Seeks Divorce from Ricketts, Restaurant Owner

Mrs. Bernice Ricketts, 35 years old, filed suit for divorce in the Superior court yesterday against John Ricketts, owner of Ricketts' restaurant, 2727 North Clark street. Mrs. Ricketts charged desertion and asked the custody of her daughter, Barbara, 8 years old.

COUNCIL GROUP VOTES 16-0 FOR DAYLIGHT TIME

Ald. Nelson's Referendum Plan Is Tabled.

dum despite what the council might do, and that the April primary would not give a full expression of public will since a primary is largely a party organization matter. Cronson suggested that any referendum should come in the November election, when a greater percentage of the people will vote.

Table Nelson's Amendment.

The aldermen agreed that a council referendum action would be an empty gesture, and therefore supported by unanimous vote the motion of Ald. John J. Grealis [44th] to table the Nelson amendment.

Then came the vote for Ald. Cronson's substitute ordinance. The members of the committee present and voting for the time change were: Chairman McDermott, Vice Chairman Upton, Cusack, Murphy, Konkowski, Kadow, Massen, Keenan, Grealis, William L. CRACK NEW DEAL WHIP OVER 59TH STATE ASSEMBLY

Brain Trust Bills Fall in Legislative Hopper.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—The long arm of New Deal dictatorship cast its shadow over the Illinois legislature again tonight. Hardly had the first special session of the 59th general assembly convened when measures originating at Washington, and in which state concurrence is being asked, were plumped into the hopper. The matter of unemployment compensation was of first importance among them.

More than half the eighteen subjects listed by Gov. Horner in his call for the session were represented in bills presented tonight. The so-called social security legislation appeared early. In the senate, bills for unemployment compensation and old age pension were sent to second reading, where they will be held for special hearings. Identical bills were presented in the house, but Speaker John P. Devine of Dixon ruled that all measures introduced, save those for session expenses, should lie upon his table until morning so he could determine if they came within the purview of the call.

Bill Follows Federal Lines.

Representatives Joseph L. Rategan and George Garry Noonan, Chicago Democrats, presented the unemployment insurance bill in the house, and Senator John M. Lee, Chicago Democrat, presented it in the senate. It was prepared for Gov. Horner by the legislative reference bureau to conform with the federal measure. However, following the thought expressed by the governor in his message tonight, the measure provides for participation by both employer and employé.

The federal act imposes a 1 per cent pay roll tax upon employers for 1936, 2 per cent for 1937, and 3 per cent thereafter. The Illinois bill provides that in 1936 and 1937 employés should pay one-fourth of 1 per cent of their salaries toward the jobless compensation and one-half of 1 per cent in 1938 and thereafter.

Horner Wants Costs Shared.

This seemed to satisfy the governor's feeling that "the employé should share in the cost, to a reasonable extent, thus assuring his continued interest in the administration of the funds. It is but fair that part of the cost should be met directly by those who receive the particular benefit of the pooling of the unemployment hazard."

The old age pension bill, which makes minor amendments to the Illinois one dollar per day act which is to become effective on Jan. 1, 1936, had a coterie of sponsors in the house—Representatives A. J. Prignano, Benjamin S. Adamowski, and Charles Coia, Chicago; Joseph Heckenkamp and F. J. Lenane, Quincy, and Howard P. Gorman, Peoria, all Democrats. In the senate its sponsor was R. V. Graham of Cicero, president pro tempore.

Insurance Code Gets Rezuff.

The insurance code, which the governor included for a second try for passage, was introduced in the senate by Louis O. Williams [Dem., Clinton]. He attempted to have it advanced to second reading, but failed, 13 members voting for and 15 against the motion. This huge measure rewrites all the insurance laws of the state.

School legislation backed by James P. McCahey, president of the Chicago board of education, was introduced in both houses by Senator Harold G. Ward and Representative Benjamin S. Adamowski, Chicago Democrats. One provides for monthly rather than quarterly distribution of the state distributive fund; another would make tax anticipation warrants payable in order of their serial numbers.

Prepare Auto Drivers' Bill.

Bills for statewide licensing of automobile drivers are being prepared and probably will be submitted tomorrow.

Speaker Devine proposes that the house consider all bills in regular committees, as is done in regular sessions. The senate, however, appears to want to proceed with all bills in committee of the whole for joint discussions. The insurance code is the exception, the vote tonight sending it to the insurance committee.

Field days on the more important legislation are scheduled to be held in the house next week, with extended discussions. The length of the session could not be predicted tonight, but the thought of the members was expressed by the slogan they adopted immediately—"Out of the Trenches by Christmas."

Both houses adjourned shortly before 11 o'clock until this morning.

Woman Arrested as Hotel 'Knockout Drop' Robber

Mrs. Leslie McCann, 37 years old, who has a police record dating back to 1913, was arrested in the lobby of a loop hotel yesterday on a charge of helping to rob Chicago visitors by giving them "knockout drops." Harry Barns of Los Angeles identified her as the woman who robbed him of $43 in his hotel room Saturday after doping his drinks.

First Constitution for Indian Self-Government Is Signed

Horner Message Pushes Security

[BY A STAF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—In his message to the special session of the Illinois general assembly tonight Gov. Horner gave prominent position to and stressed by his language his wish that social security measures dictated by the New Deal be given primary consideration.

After informing the legislators that the subjects in the call for this first special session of the 59th general assembly cannot wait for enactment until the next regular session of the legislature in 1937, which would be after his present term, the governor explained his position on the various subjects.

Stand on Age Pensions.

In brief they are as follows:

"Federal financial assistance will equal one-half of the total amount paid out in Illinois for old age pensions and blind relief, and one-third of the amount expended on account of dependent children.

"Inasmuch as it is probable that federal money for such state welfare functions will be available early in 1936, it is obvious that the prompt acceptance of this assistance will materially increase the ability of the state and its political subdivisions to care for needy and deserving citizens without great, if any, additional burden to the taxpayers of our state."

Asks for Better Supervision.

The governor asked also for more supervision by the state over state moneys expended by local bodies for public welfare. He recommended legislation to establish single welfare agencies in each county to work with the state, and to give to the state department of public welfare the power to require each county authority to report directly to the state department.

County supervisors, the governor said, have told him that the constitutional limitation on county taxes prevents them from raising sufficient funds. The governor said that this problem also should be given consideration, leaving the impression that these constitutional limitations on debt would be lifted.

On Unemployment Insurance.

"Unemployment compensation, or unemployment insurance as it is sometimes called, has enlisted the interest of economists and leaders in thought throughout the world for the last several decades," the message read. "Unemployment compensation is neither socialistic nor communistic, nor is it a form of charity—it is a measure of social security and justice which has a direct effect upon industry and on the entire economic field."

Any measure that is adopted, the governor said, should provide cash for a limited period of time when ready workers are without jobs. The compensation, he held, should be from a pool to which employers and employés would contribute. It is important, he said, that the legislators give earnest consideration to this subject.

In few words the governor then discussed amendments to the occupational diseases act, some portions of which had been declared unconstitutional by the State Supreme court, mentioned the proposed new insurance code and the necessity of providing local governments with power to obtain government grants and loans.

Asks Drivers' License.

On highway regulations, the governor expressed regret at the mounting toll of death and injuries. He urged the adoption of a law licensing drivers, an amendment again giving justices of the peace authority to hear trafic cases, and an inclusion of a provision in the state law making a speed in excess of 45 miles an hour prima facie evidence that the driver is operating unsafely.

Formerly, the law did not include this provision. It was eliminated when the legislature in special session recodified state trafic regulations. The governor signed the recodification law, he said, knowing that the speed repealer was in that law, but realizing that other provisions should be enacted regardless of his opinion on speed.

Asks Monthly School Split.

The governor asked that payments from the school distributive fund be made monthly instead of quarterly, which was asked by the Chicago board of education. He did not mention, however, that he had not included in the call provision for the $2,380,000 debt the state owes to Chicago for educating crippled children.

Other measures recommended by the governor were for interstate compacts for the supervision of prison paroles, and to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the birth of Mark Twain.

PARKS ARRANGE GAY FESTIVITIES FOR HALLOWEEN

The Chicago Park district will sponsor Halloween festivities in 80 parks on Halloween, next Thursday night, in which 50,000 children will participate, it was announced yesterday. The celebrations will feature parades of children in masks and costumes, bonfires in which the legendary witch will be burned in effigy, and games and dancing.

Elaborate parties will be held in Hamlin, Seward, Green Briar, La Follette and Fuller parks. In the Kenwood and south shore districts the local chambers of commerce will cooperate with the park district for the festival. Park district officials hope that the celebrations will reduce vandalism.

Capt. John Prendergast, chief of the uniformed police, arranged yesterday for 3,000 policemen to be on duty from 10 p. m. to midnight on Halloween. Men who are usually off duty at that time will have their hours shifted so they can help prevent destructive mischief.

SUPREME COURT CUTS RECORD OF HAUPTMANN CASE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—The first step to carry the case of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted slayer of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., to the Supreme court was taken today when his lawyers sent the record of his trial in the lower courts to the highest tribunal in anticipation of filing their formal application for review by Nov. 15.

The record was presented so that it may be printed and complete when reference to it is made in the petition for review, upon which the court will pass either by refusing to reopen the case or by hearing arguments. If jurisdiction is taken several months might elapse before the court announced a decision. A refusal to consider the petition might be announced within a few weeks.

In a fifteen minute session today the court issued some thirty formal orders, one of which, for the third time, carried refusal to interfere with the progress of Tom Mooney's case in the California courts, where Mooney is demanding a writ of habeas corpus.

For Two Tribes

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Secretary Harold Ickes, whom the Indians call "Little Chief," today received chiefs and dignitaries of the Flathead reservation in Montana and handed to them the first constitution ever to govern a North American tribe.

Holding the spiked war club which is the symbol of his office, Chief Martin Charlo accepted it in the name of the Salish and Kootenai tribes as a co-chief and members of the council watched.

"I have lived a long time," Chief Charlo said as his associates' brilliant costumes gleamed against the oak paneled walls of Ickes' office, "and I had looked forward to the time when the Indians would have their own voice in their affairs. We want to express our gratitude."

Coast Guards Pay Final Honors to Former Sailor

The ashes of Ralph E. Turnquist, 1137 Adams street, former enlisted man in the United States navy, were scattered on the waters of Lake Michigan yesterday by members of the coast guard cutter Rush. Turnquist had ordered, shortly before his death a week ago, that his body be cremated and the ashes "thrown out to sea." A firing squad from the Rush crew paid final military honors. Boatswain J. J. Judge was the officer in command of the cutter.

Greece Ends Martial Law, but Censorship Continues

ATHENS, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The government today lifted martial law, which has been in effect since the recent coup of Gen. George Kondylis establishing a regency in place of the republic. Censorship will continue, an official announcement said. A new law "in defense of the royal régime and social order" forbids any expression of contempt for the régime by "word, picture or symbol." The carrying of arms was made a felony.

'RIVER OF NO RETURN' SCIENTISTS FIND FACTS ON UNIDENTIFIED TRIBE

Lewiston, Idaho, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Bronzed and bearded, the seven men who shot down the "river of no return" for the sake of science ended their journey today.

Maynard O. Williams, leader of the expedition representing the National Geographic society, said new and valuable geological data and evidences of an ancient and unidentified tribe of Indians were gathered on the trip down treacherous Salmon river.

The Salmon is called the "river of no return" because its foaming rapids cannot be conquered by upstream trafic. The party started Oct. 5 from Shoup, Idaho.

OUSTER OF BECK, POLISH FOREIGN CHIEF, SOUGHT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, Oct. 28.—Foreign Minister Josef Beck's resignation, which was reported today by French and soviet news agencies, was officially denied tonight. The Polish foreign office, however, reported that after a long conference with President Ignace Moscicki, his warm supporter, Beck left Warsaw for a fortnight's vacation.

Beck's position has been shaky since the formation Oct. 13 of the cabinet of Premier Marjan Zyndram-Koscialkowski. It was only upon the insistence of Moscicki that Beck retained his post. Inspector General Edward Rydz-Smigly of the Polish army is leading the campaign to discredit and force into retirement Beck, the former adjutant of the late dictator, Marshal Josef Pilsudski. Beck is blamed for the present enmity of both Russia and France.

Gen. Rydz-Smigly, through the military censorship, has given permission to the Polish press to attack Beck. Three today took up the assault, one even reporting the resignation rumor. Beck's foes also hold him partly to blame, with the last cabinet, for the fact that Poland's budget has not been balanced since 1930.

WILD GEESE WIN NIAGARA FALLS FIGHT FOR LIFE

Flock of 5,000 Flies from Cataract's Edge.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—After a variety of schemes had failed to frighten them away from their danger, a flock of 5,000 wild geese took wing of their own accord this afternoon and left the dangerous waters above Niagara Falls where they had battled death over the cataract since Saturday night.

The birds began to fly away as soon as the haze which had held them to the water began to lift. Only a few hundred remained on the swift Niagara stream and rivermen predicted all soon would be gone.

About 200 had been carried over the falls during the week-end. Hundreds of Americans and Canadians lined the shores of Niagara river waiting for a chance to grab a dead bird, but game wardens were on hand to see that none was plucked from the water. All the dead geese were allowed to float down river to disappear in the whirlpool rapids.

Geese Continue South.

The birds unexpectedly rose into the air and continued their southward flight as conservation authorities were planning to send a plane roaring low above them to frighten them from the brink of the falls. Guns, searchlights, and rockets had been used to no avail.

The flock began settling on the waters above Horseshoe falls Saturday night. The broad expanse is a regular resting place for them during their migrations from Canada to the south. Some years the mortality rate is exceedingly high, but the geese always stop there.

Birds Swept to Crest.

Shortly after they alighted on the waters, squadron after squadron of the birds was swept to the crest of the falls. With frantic flappings and loud honking, they flew away from the danger and settled down again, only to be carried quickly to the brink again by the 38 mile an hour current.

All day Sunday the routine of riding the current and fighting their way back to safety was continued by the befuddled geese as observers watched their struggle from both sides of the river. After darkness last night their honking indicated their fatigue.

BRITAIN DECIDES PRESSURE MUST BE PUT ON ITALY

Secretary Hoare Plans Special Trip to Geneva.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The British government has decided that economic pressure on Italy must be made crushingly effective in order to stop Premier Mussolini's war machine in east Africa. For this reason Sir Samuel Hoare, British foreign secretary, decided today to go personally to Geneva Thursday to attend the meetings of the sanctions committee of the league. He will return to London Sunday.

Hoare's decision to accompany Capt. Anthony Eden, minister for league of nations affairs, was seen in diplomatic circles as a further hardening of Great Britain's attitude toward Mussolini.

But it was said in official circles the application of financial and economic sanctions and an embargo on arms was not expected to yield for perhaps weeks any definite results toward squeezing further proposals out of Premier Mussolini which would serve as a starting point for peace talks. In other words, they expect here to let the situation drag along until the Italians get deeper and deeper involved in the Ethiopian mountain passes.

All Coming Around.

London was advised tonight that practically the whole of Europe except Germany, Austria, Hungary, and Albania was coming around toward support of putting pressure on Il Duce in one form or another. Some countries, such as Switzerland, which at first were opposed to a trade embargo, are now agreeing to a modified form of trade ban on Italy.

Much work will be required to coordinate the pressure on Italy, and it is said here Britain is going to turn the screws at Geneva to the fullest effect with more serious backing promised from the French.

The financial sanctions against Italy become enforceable in England tomorrow. Bankers here have for some months withheld credit from Italian institutions so that what was formerly mere prudence, now becomes politics.

Demand and Get Cash.

It was reported that suppliers of the Italian embassy in London are demanding and getting a cash payment for everything delivered. Economic sanctions, it is also said, will hit in the large Italian colony in London, members of which will be unable to get the supplies of special Italian goods from Italy on which their trade is based.

Meanwhile, government ministers further exemplified the government's program in the election campaign speeches today. Prime Minister Baldwin, speaking at Wolverhampton, denied there was any plan to introduce conscription in England after the election. Baldwin also said he did not want to increase the size of the British navy, but only to replace the old ships with new ones capable of defense against aircraft.

In order to allow the ministers to concentrate their energies on the election campaign it was decided tonight to suspend cabinet meetings for three weeks. Latest information regarding the international situation will be forwarded to the ministers daily, and only in the event of an emergency will they be recalled to London.

Balkans Cause Worry.

The Balkan states' attitude toward sanctions is providing much food for thought in league of nations circles. The news reached London tonight that a conference of all states of the Balkan pact [Greece, Turkey, Rumania and Jugo-Slavia] and the little entente [Rumania, Jugo-Slavia, Czechoslovakia] will be held next week to discuss the question. Indications are that the states will present a united demand to the league asking compensation for Italian trade lost.

CLAIMS ITALIANS GIVE ETHIOPIANS CATHOLIC FAITH

MILAN, Italy, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Cardinal Schuster of Milan today wished "peace and protection" for Italy's armies, which "are opening the doors of Ethiopia to the Catholic faith and Roman civilization." The cardinal spoke to Fascists of Milan gathered at the cathedral for a mass for the dead in the Fascist march on Rome.

Cardinal Schuster lauded the "good will" of the nation under Fascism, which he described as promising the national morality wished by the Catholic church.

"We must coöperate with God in this national and Catholic mission, above all at this moment when on the fields of Ethiopia the standards of Italy carry to triumph the cross of Christ to break the chains of slavery and open the paths for the missionaries' gospel," the cardinal said.

He said the prizes of men of good faith will be "peace for the fallen who died in the accomplishment of their duty and peace and protection of the valorous armies which in intrepid obedience to the commands of their fatherland at the price of their blood open the doors of Ethiopia to the Catholic faith and the civilization of Rome."

ITALIANS ADVANCE IN SOUTH ETHIOPIA

to prevent the invasion of their country. The inhabitants are again in a state of alarm over reports that the Italians have renewed their march toward Harrar. They are sleeping outside the city walls during the night.

New Mobilization Order.

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

HARRAR, Oct. 28.—The second mobilization order calling on the remaining able bodied men to join the colors and their womenfolk not to weep but to work and pray for their warriors' success was proclaimed in churches today throughout the country. Those able to fight will join the war chiefs while those unable to bear arms will join the labor battalions.

The entire population was summoned to the churches by government criers. There priests prayed for victory against the invader and pleaded with every man to come to the aid of his country.

"It is the will of God," they said. "Every woman must be courageous, come in the morning and evening to church and pray."

Italians Resume Advance.

ROME, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Today's official Italian communique, issued on the 26th day of the East African hostilities, consisted of a single sentence:

"Gen. De Bono [commander of the northern Italian army] telegraphs Oct. 28 that the penetration of our advance guard beyond the region of Feres Mai, which is already occupied, continues without encountering noteworthy resistance."

Prepare to Roll Up Guns.

[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

ENTISCIO, Ethiopia, Oct. 28.—Italy's advancing regiments solidified a new and stronger line, well beyond the Adowa-Adigrat front, today and the high command believed it had blasted any Ethiopian intention of driving a wedge between the Fascist columns.

Gen. Emilio de Bono, high commander of colonial troops, moved promptly up to the front, took formal possession of the newly occupied territory and issued orders for consolidation of the new positions.

Over the rugged terrain behind the front line, the engineers' corps busied itself constructing a road from Entiscio to the foremost part of the central column. When this is finished, the big guns of the Italian artillery will be rolled up.

Whole Line Strengthened.

Before Saturday's advance, conducted in the rarefied air of 7,500 and 10,000 foot altitudes and through hostile and rugged mountains, the Italian position between Adowa and Adigrat was believed vulnerable to a major enemy attack.

But now the whole line has been strengthened and the whole territory solidified against assault, officers said.

Moving slowly and carefully, Gen. Alessandro Pirzio-Biroli's central column pushed 12½ miles through the mountains shielding Makale to occupy the Feres Mai valley.

(Exchange telegraph dispatches from Addis Ababa said the civilian population yesterday was ordered to evacuate Makale because of the Italian offensive.)

Addis Ababa Fears Air Raid.

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Ethiopia, while Italy was celebrating the anniversary of the Fascist march on Rome, prepared today to observe on Sunday the 39th anniversary of the historic rout of Italians at Adowa.

Anti-aircraft guns were mounted in St. George's square, apparently for fear Italian pilots might attempt to break up the celebrations.

A government communique asserted there was quiet on all fronts.

"The Ethiopian government notices Italian communiques claiming submission of Ethiopian chiefs in states entirely unknown," the statement said. "Fantastic names also are provided for these chiefs and the Ethiopian government has reason to believe they are nonexistent."

POPE IS IRRITATED BY DUCE'S ORDER OPENING BANKS ON THE SABBATH

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Pope Pius and Premier Mussolini are in conflict over the question of holidays, it was disclosed today. Il Duce ordered banks and commercial establishments to remain open yesterday under a Fascist regulation which requires that there must not be two commercial holidays in succession.

Consequently, banks and business houses were open throughout the day yesterday—Sunday—and were closed today while the nation took a complete holiday to celebrate the march on Rome.

Although he did not mention the 28th of October celebrations specifically, Pope Pius yesterday sternly called attention of Catholics to their obligations in observing the Sabbath. His address to the council of Men's Union of Catholic Action was published today in the official Vatican newspaper, Osservatore Romano.

"The king of centuries," the Pope said, "wishes at least a little part of this day [Sunday] consecrated to him."

Speaking of nonobservance of the Sabbath, he said: "It is one of the sins which most greatly brings upon us the irritation of the king of heaven."

FIRST ITALIAN SPY IS BROUGHT TO ADDIS ABABA

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 28.—An airplane from the Makale general headquarters on the north front today brought to Addis Ababa the first Italian spy. He was arrested in Eritrea by Ethiopian raiders. The spy is an Ethiopian native of Tigre province and is supposed to be one of a number of native couriers used to carry Ethiopian information to Asmara from the headquarters of Ethiopian forces south of Adigrat. It is reported that many papers were found on his person.

In accordance with the traditional right of capital offenders to stand trial personally before the emperor, he will be held at Haile Selassie's pleasure, who will hold court if possible before the departure of the royal caravan for the front, since it is desired to learn other links in the spy system.

Meanwhile the existence of Italian prisoners in Ethiopia became known through a telegram from the Italian government to the International Red Cross at Geneva demanding more humane treatment for prisoners of war. The Ethiopian government answered with a request that the Red Cross send neutral observers to report conditions in internment camps. It is claimed Italians are being courteously and humanely kept under the special protection of high chiefs personally charged by the emperor to prevent cruelties under pain of severest punishment.

ITALY ON BUYING SPREE TO RESIST 'WAR BLOCKADE'

Nation Prepares to Meet League Sanctions.

[Special to The London Daily Telegraph and The Chicago Tribune.]
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Oct. 28.—In the midst of today's celebrations of the 13th anniversary of Premier Mussolini's march on Rome, the Italian nation's mind was turned to something it never has had to face before: economic sanctions. These sanctions loom large in Italy's thoughts.

Housewives are planning to purchase supplies with a view of meeting the inevitable rise in prices and shortage of commodities.

Coal Pours in from Germany.

The freight stations in the north are black with consignments of coal from Germany and Poland. One train arrived today carrying forty truckloads of poultry, and trains of fifty truckloads each are common.

The port of Genoa is crowded with cargoes of gasoline from America.

Exporters from the Balkans and the near east are sending consignments as quickly as possible before the league of nations sanctions become effective next month. Importers, government departments, and manufacturers are buying all they can. Flaming posters tell passersby: "Buy Italian goods and be proud of them."

Side by side with the descriptions of celebrations commemorating the Fascist march on Rome, the newspapers displayed exhortations to the nation to "resist the iniquitous sanctions."

Virginia Gayda, editor of the Giorunale d'Italia, reminded his readers that the sanctions will be hard and trying, but that Italy will hold out and meditate upon her true friends and the perfidious ones.

Urge Alliance with Nazis.

The last words are interpreted as an indication of Italo-German friendliness in the near future. It would not be unwelcome in the present mood of the Italian people. They feel bitterly disappointed in Great Britain and many already say France, too, let them down.

Among the young men, who look upon Nazism as a spiritual offspring of Fascism, there is a distinct move toward Germany. Germany needs colonies, they argue, and so does Italy.

Both are imperialistic and both are disappointed. Therefore, argue the pro-Germans, there is no reason why the Italians and the Germans should not work together for the revision of the peace treaties and in a joint demand for colonial expansion.

Celebration Less Costly.

The anniversary of the march on Rome was celebrated with a less elaborate and expensive display than in previous years.

Some weeks ago it was rumored that Mussolini would fly to east Africa for the celebration, but if the plan was ever entertained he abandoned it. Instead the day was devoted to a formal inauguration of all public works completed or begun at home during the last twelve months.

The chief ceremony was the solemn procession of the Fascist banner used on the march in 1922 from the party headquarters near the Tiber river to the Palazzo Venezia. There the flag was hoisted to Il Duce's balcony from which he so often has addressed roman crowds.

Today he made no speech, although in response to repeated cries of "Duce" he appeared thrice on the balcony and returned the salute of the Black Shirts below.

Meanwhile, Negradas Yesus, the Ethiopian chargé d'affaires here, was on his way back to Eithiopa. He left Rome this morning for Naples where he will board a ship for Aden, Arabia. He then will go to Djibouti, French Somaliland, and from there take a train to Addis Ababa.

Italian Army Gets Plenty of Eggs; Ethiopians Shun Them

ASMARA, Eritrea, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The Italian invaders of Ethiopia are getting plenty of eggs to eat—because Ethiopians won't eat them. According to Ethiopian tradition, it is sacrilegious to consume what might in the future have life. But the Ethiopians are perfectly willing to sell the eggs—potential chickens—to the Italian troops.

ITALIANS BEHIND FRONT LINES WIN HONOR OF HEROES

Bring Up Food, Guns for Soldiers.

ASMARA, Eritrea, Oct. 19.—[By Air Mail to Paris.]—(AP)—The enormous activity behind the Italian lines was described today by military leaders as a real victory for Benito Mussolini's soldiers.

This activity centers in the job of bringing up food for the men and animals, and guns for the army. It means, officers pointed out, that Italy it determined upon a thorough but slow process of occupation and intends that the troops in the front line shall be as well served as those in the rear.

Along the north Ethiopian line Italy has 110,000 men and 60,000 animals, mostly mules, some horses and even camels. To feed them the commissary department daily sends up 484,000 pounds of food and 528,000 pounds of fodder. The task of transporting this immense supply is performed by 3,000 trucks.

Mules Carry Provisions.

In the front line sectors, before roads were pushed through, thousands of American mules assisted their Ethiopian and Sicilian cousins in carrying the provisions.

Gen. Fidenzio Dall 'Ora, quartermaster general, said that when he came to Eritrea last January to prepare for the vast influx of troops he had in mind three points necessary to the possible provisions base.

He decided it must be within 50 miles of the scene of operations, have at its disposal many lines of trafic, and be served by many roads over which trucks could travel.

In Eritrea, however, the base of supplies is the port city of Massaua into which pour hundreds of thousands of tons of supplies. This is 190 miles from the front line. Moreover it has only one railroad, a single track, narrow gauge line, communicating with the highlands and obliged to go slowly to rise to the 7,500 feet altitude of Asmara.

Build Wire-Rope Railway.

Only five freight trains can travel over this line each day, carrying 150 tons of material. There is already under construction, however, "telepheric" or elevated wire-rope railway between Asmara and Massaua which will be capable of carrying 600 tons daily. Half of it is already in operation.

From Asmara and other big distributing points in the highlands the new line will radiate to other smaller centers. In these places there are food stations, munitions stations, gasoline dumps, and general supplies stores.

If the Italian armies succeed in taking over all of Ethiopia it is likely to be, officers conceded, more through the efficiency of their supply and communications services than through their valor of arms.

REPORTS ITALIAN SOLDIERS AT WAR IN GOOD HEALTH

ASMARA, Eritrea, Oct. 26.—[Delayed.]—(AP)—The Italian troops in Ethiopia are in excellent health, Prof. Aldo Castellani, high commissioner for sanitation who has just completed an inspection tour with Marshal Pietro Badoglio, chief of the army general staf, said today.

"At the present moment fortunately there are no epidemics," he said. "A few weeks ago, just before the troops arrived at their present lines, there were epidemics of spinal meningitis and smallpox in Tigre province."

Prof. Castellani said he found only six cases of malaria in Adowa although the soldiers had crossed malaria-infested plains. Only 16 soldiers caught typhoid, he asserted, and there were no deaths.

He said he found physical conditions among the native population of Tigre province poor and the people emaciated. Therefore, he asserted, "we are continuing to take the greatest precautions against potential dangers."

BRAZIL PACKERS TO FURNISH MEAT FOR ITALY'S ARMY

SANTOS, Brazil, Oct. 28.—(AP)—An Italian steamship is to leave here during the first week of November with a cargo of 2,205 tons of frozen beef for the Italian troops in Ethiopia.

Officials of one of the four Brazilian meat packing firms which yesterday signed a contract at Rome said it would be the first shipment of 11 monthly deliveries.

The four firms agreed to sell nearly 25,000 tons of beef to the Italian government. The Italian government agreed to pay at any of several Brazilian ports for each shipment and also to assume the costs and the risk of transporting the meat to Italy.

BRITISH FIGHTING FORCES INCREASE VIGIL IN EGYPT

More Troops Arrive; Port Dotted with Warships.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The easing of tension between Great Britain and Italy has not caused the British land and sea forces to relax their vigilance in Egypt.

Alexandria's harbor bristles today with British fighting craft and hospital ships. Ashore there is unceasing military activity.

Within the last few days, British forces have closed the Mersa Matruh airport, 80 miles up the coast toward Libya, to civilian planes. This previously was one of the Royal Dutch airline's stops on the route between Athens and Africa.

Troops Take Over Hotel.

Here in Alexandria, the military has taken over the Casino Stefano, the big resort hotel a few miles up the shore from the heart of the city. Officially, the hotel will be occupied by the headquarters staf, but an unofficial source stated that the hotel was, in realty, being equipped with hospital facilities.

From dusk until dawn 10 powerful searchlights from the shore and ships throw their beams restlessly through the sky.

The flying boat in which an Associated Press correspondent approached Alexandria from Athens was picked up by a beam at least five miles out and was held steadily in that beam until it was close enough to be identified.

Sightseers still are permitted to take excursions through the harbor and see the warships close by, but cameras have been barred for the last two weeks, ever since the Italian S. S. Ausonia burned in the harbor.

Blockade Rumor Denied.

A rumor, which officials say is not true, persists in Alexandria that the Ausonia was meant to block the narrow channel and to bottle up the British ships.

The British land forces are being continually supplemented. Local newspapers no longer carry information concerning troop movements, yet it is almost impossible to visit the harbor without seeing a fresh detachment of some helmeted British soldiers unloading from somewhere.

Old timers say that the military encampment a few miles from the city is fully as large as it was in the days of the world war.

British Revive War Order: Beer for Troops in Desert

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Oct. 28.—Field Marshal Allenby's order during the world war that supplies of beer should be available to all British troops serving in the Egyptian desert for the purpose of keeping them fit has been revived. Cases of beer now rival cases of ammunition in transport for the western desert.

EYE AUSTRIA FOR BREAK IN LEAGUE ECONOMIC FRONT

Japan and Germany May Aid Sanctions.

GENEVA, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Austria was regarded in league of nations circles tonight as the only possible serious leak in an economic dam being thrown around Italy.

Despite Austria's opposition to sanctions, an Austrian spokesman declared his country was not likely to sell much to Italy because of Italy's probable inability to pay.

Japan and Germany have indicated they would do nothing to embarrass the league's boycott. An authoritative Japanese spokesman told the Associated Press Japan has refrained from granting any licenses for the shipment of armaments or war materials either to Ethiopia or Italy. This policy, he added, will doubtless be continued without the formality of Japan proclaiming an arms embargo.

Switzerland will apply the arms embargo and restrict her purchases of Italian goods to an amount equaling the value of her exports to Italy. The Swiss federal council made the arms embargo apply also to Ethiopia.

Demands Far Apart.

Little hope of an early peace is held by diplomats here. The general impression is that the demands of Premier Mussolini and what the league and Ethiopia could grant are so wide apart that peace negotiations have little chance now of succeeding.

China, the Dominican Republic, Ecuador, and Luxemburg announced tonight an arms embargo against Italy and the complementary lifting of the embargo from Ethiopia. This makes forty countries backing the arms embargo.

Twenty-three countries have subscribed to financial sanctions. A weak feature of the sanction barrier, however, is that only thirteen nations have adhered to the economic boycott. The recent acceptors of the economic tool were Belgium, Norway, Estonia, Luxemburg, Uruguay, and Russia.

Restrict Key Products.

In a telegram Moscow announced the soviet would impose an embargo on the exportation of key products which can be used for making munitions and also an embargo on all importations into Russia from Italy.

Estonia announced she is prepared to enforce the boycott Nov. 15. Russia, like France, wants several days' notice in advance before applying economic sanctions.

The league, however, expects additional adhesions to the economic boycott between now and Oct. 31, when a committee of fifty-two nations meets to fix a date for enforcement of the economic interdiction.

Japan Guards Trade.

Nobumi Ito, Japanese diplomat, today warned the league that his country will not tolerate trade discrimination. He spoke before the league's mandate commission. He expressly warned against discriminating against Japan in world regions formerly belonging to Germany and Turkey and now held under mandates by various powers. Japan, he related, exports more heavily to Palestine and Syria than do Britain and France, which hold mandates over those districts.

Ito said Japan will insist on equal opportunity in the mandated territories. At an earlier meeting of the commission the Belgian member said Japan had forfeited its right to economic equality in mandated territories by resigning from the league.

Alluding to the fact that Japan holds a mandate over former German islands in the Pacific, Ito announced that Japan would continue to collaborate with the league.

"Therefore, Japan hopes the league will not increase her difficulties as a mandatory power, whether this relates to economic equality or any other question particularly touching her Pacific islands mandate," he said.

Poland Reserves Rights.

WARSAW, Poland, Oct. 28.—(AP)—A Polish note to the league of nations stated tonight the league's recommendation for barring credit to Italy is inapplicable to Poland, since this country is Italy's debtor. Poland, however, agreed to sanctions on exports with the exception of certain running contracts. This was regarded as meaning Poland desires to continue coal shipments to Italy in exchange for the steamer Batory, now under construction in Italian shipyards. The Batory is a sister ship of the new Polish liner Pilsudski.

France Applies Credit Sanctions.

PARIS, Oct. 29.—[Tuesday.]—(AP)—France began the application of sanctions against Italy today, the official journal promulgating a decree putting into effect league of nations financial limitations against Il Duce's government. The decree announced financial sanctions would be in force in French colonies and mandated territories as well as in France.

CO-ED SEIZED

[Acme Photo.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—Nancy Bedford-Jones, 19 year old college student and daughter of Henry Bedford-Jones, writer, today was among nine young people held for jury trial on charges of holding an unlawful assemblage and blocking traffic at a radical speechifying session on a street corner near the Rev. Aimee McPherson's Angelus temple last Saturday.

Miss Bedford-Jones was arrested on a similar charge a fortnight ago, but the charge was dropped. Last April she participated in radical campus demonstrations at the University of California which resulted in the expulsion of Celeste Strack, a co-ed, and penalties against other students.

Miss Bedford-Jones first made the headlines in Los Angeles when she issued a denunciation of articles written by her father, who had charged that subversive movements were taking root on American college campuses. Miss Bedford-Jones termed her parent's writing "a vicious lie." She is out on $25 bail.

NEW DEAL ASKS UNIONS FOR PAY AND HOUR DATA

Berry Sends Letters to Secretaries.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—(AP)—A high administration official was disclosed today to have asked some 30,000 labor union secretaries to furnish him with data on recent working hour increases and wage slashes.

The request was made in letters sent out by George L. Berry, recently commissioned by President Roosevelt as "coördinator for industrial coöperation" in the old NRA organization.

While the letter was not made public, its contents were obtained from business sources which privately criticized the move because similar queries were not sent to them.

Berry Explains Questionnaire.

After saying he was trying to obtain from labor, business and consumers "indications of their attitudes" toward efforts to "accelerate industrial recovery, to eliminate unemployment and to maintain business and labor stability," Berry said:

"It is going to be necessary for me to demonstrate two things:

"First, evidence of the desire of industry for a permanent order resting on fair competition; and, second, evidence of the need for such an order as indicated by what happened in industry after the NRA codes were abolished by the Supreme court decision of last May. It is in connection with the second requirement that I particularly need your help and cooperation.

"Information as to the lengthening of the hours of work and reduction in standards of wages since the abolition of the codes can best be furnished by employés who are the unwilling victims of the changes."

Wants Facts Only.

Berry stressed that "facts alone are wanted"; that the evidence "must be clear and convincing"; and that no report should be made which is "unsupported by facts."

Another NRA committee, using several hundred NRA employés in the field, has been at work for weeks at the specific direction of the President, making a statistical survey on the questions asked by Berry. This committee, recently sent a letter making similar queries of both labor and business organizations.

Officials on Berry's staf said there was no duplication of activities, stressing that portion of the letter which said that data on hour raises and wage cuts "can best be furnished by employés who are the unwilling victims of these changes."

PREACH RELIGION AND NOT POLITICS, PASTORS WARNED

Presbyterian Chief Decries Pulpit Socialism.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Presbyterian pastors of Chicago were advised yesterday not to espouse economic or political "isms" while exercising their leadership in implanting Christian principles in the social order. The speaker, Dr. John McDowell of New York, head of the northern denomination's committee on social and industrial relations and former moderator of the church, led an all day conference of pastors at Central Y. M. C. A., 19 South La Salle street.

Dr. McDowell is also meeting with 25 members of the general council of the Presbyterian church in session this week at the Blackstone hotel. He said the council is devoting much attention to plans drafted by a general assembly "committee of five" for unifying church agencies which deal with its social, industrial and welfare interests.

President's Letter "Belated."

Dr. McDowell defended President Roosevelt's recent letter to American clergymen, stating that, although belated, it indicates the White House's discovery that "all the problems of our day are problems in human relations and therefore are religious problems," and are dependent for solution more on religious motives than on legislation and education.

"It is now evident," Dr. McDowell asserted, "that our Christianity must pass through individual experience to social vision, social justice, social security and social service, and be made real in politics, industry, education, national and international life, if we are to have a Christian nation and world."

Dr. McDowell asserted that it is no function of a Christian minister to preach socialism, declaring that all these political "isms" are errors because, first of all, they are fanciful assertions of fractional truths which fanatics try to use for more than they are worth.

A Creed, Not a Constitution.

Christ's Sermon on the Mount, the Presbyterian leader said, contains fundamental laws of the kingdom of God on earth. But he added quickly that neither that sermon nor the New Testament contains by-laws of the kingdom.

"There are no blue prints in the New Testament," Dr. McDowell declared, "and it is not the church's business to pose as an expert in the complexities of economic, industrial, or international relations, but it is the business of the church to make clear the bearing of religion upon every human concern.

SEEK TO AROUSE PUBLIC AGAINST MOUNTING TAXES

An aroused public opinion is required to halt mounting taxes due to excessive public expenditures, according to the trustees of the Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency in their report read yesterday at the annual meeting in the Union League club.

The federation, organized to promote economy in public business and guard against wasteful expenditures, frowns on "efforts to tap 'new sources' of revenue to meet new or increased public costs," the report says. Present governmental spending tendencies "are likely to prove destructive to the general welfare if permitted to go unchecked," the statement continues.

The federation elected George B. McKibben president; Graham Aldis, Bertram J. Cahn, and Victor Elting, vice presidents; James B. Forgan, treasurer; Douglas Sutherland, executive secretary, and Harland C. Stockwell, assistant executive secretary.

6 GERMAN SHIPS WITH 51 SAILORS LOST IN STORM

BERLIN, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Six German vessels with 51 crew members were lost in week long storms along the North sea and Baltic coasts, it was said in reports arriving here today.

Considerable property damage was caused in the Baltic region by hail, rain, and wind storms still raging.

Smoking Before Breakfast Blamed for Stomach Ulcers

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Smoking before breakfast is one of the quickest ways to risk ulcer of the stomach, the American College of Surgeons was informed tonight in the findings of one of the most extensive investigations ever made of this common affliction.

You get ulcers primarily because you have a weakness for them. There is no generally effective medicine to prevent or cure them, the report said. You have to make a lifelong change in your habits, particularly in your ways of eating, drinking, and smoking.

The ulcer study was made at Tulane university by Alton Ochsner, M. D., professor and director of surgery, assisted by Mims Gage, M. D., and Kiyoshi Hosoi, M. D. Dr. Ochsner reported the results of five years' investigation.

Where Ulcers Form.

The ulcers occur on the "lesser curvature" of the stomach, the name for the roof of that portion of the stomach which is curved somewhat like a fishhook.

The weakness for them consists in "tissue susceptibility," which seems to be vulnerability of this upper fishhook area, and "constitutional predisposition." The latter appears due to certain arrangements of the networks of nerves and of small veins of the stomach.

Too much acidity, the Tulane physicians reported, is almost certainly one of the general causes of ulcers when it occurs in stomachs with these peculiarities.

Care about eating and drinking habits, they held, is the only safe way to avoid this danger line of acidity. Taking alkaline drinks, the report said, has little effect.

Frequent Meals Advised.

Acidity can be reduced effectively by more frequent meals. The report recommended small meals every two hours, except during sleep, in place of the standard "three squares."

Most important of all are the eating, drinking, and smoking habits.

"Excessive use of tobacco," the report stated, "especially between meals on an empty stomach, is dangerous. Very bad is smoking in the morning before breakfast."

Alcohol, condiments, and excessive use of meat were listed as dietary temptations needing special caution, but the report declared the stomach ulcer diet should not be too rigid.

Other causes of ulcer among those with the predisposition are too much secretion of the digestive fluids, injury, and infections.

MINER KILLED, SIX WOUNDED IN STRIKE BATTLE

Gunmen Pour Barrage Into Caravan.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Six union miners were wounded today by a fusillade of shots poured into a caravan of strike sympathizers moving on two coal mines operated by non-union labor and a seventh was found dead near the scene.

St. Clair county officers and state highway patrolmen threw a guard about the mines—the Margaret and the Acmar—tonight to preserve order.

Gov. Bibb Graves from Washington ordered the St. Clair county grand jury to convene Monday to investigate the clash.

Body Found in Ditch.

An inquest was held late today over the body of a man said by fellow workers to be Virg Thomas of Nyota, who was found in a ditch near the scene of the daybreak clash.

Mack Padgett, 34, who was wounded in the left lung and left arm, told deputies the caravan of striking union members had been told the men at the Margaret wanted to organize and that the caravan went there for that purpose.

As the line of cars drew near the mine a man with a shotgun halted them, Padgett said. Then, he added, the cars started turning around.

"All of a sudden," Padgett said, "a barrage was turned loose from the mountainside. It sounded to me as if some one 100 yards away was shooting at us with a machine gun."

Two Blasts Set Off.

R. A. Sansing, superintendent of the Margaret mine, operated by the Alabama Fuel and Iron company, said 100 automobiles and trucks advanced on the mine and that "two charges of dynamite were set off."

He said he did not know whether company men or marchers exploded the dynamite, but wounded miners said the roadway had been mined with dynamite, which was set off from a distant point.

PASTORS DEBATE CHIEF FACTOR IN MARRIAGE UNION

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Clergymen speaking before a conference on marriage, home and family problems, disagreed today over the "spiritual" and "passion" values in the modern marital union.

"Marriage primarily is a matter of passion and always must remain so," the Rev. Dr. P. McElliott, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Brooklyn, said.

"Successful marriage is primarily a spiritual enterprise," said the Rev. Dr. Floyd Van Keuren, executive secretary of the social service commission of the diocese of New York.

Both speakers addressed the conference called by the Institute of Family Relations.

WILL CONTEST PLAN DROPPED BY ROGERS; CUT OFF BY FATHER

New York, Oct. 28.—[Special.]—Henry Huddleston Rogers III. will not contest the $20,000,000 will of his father which cuts him off with the income on $500,000 for life, his counsel announced today.

Mr. Rogers' will, dated in January, 1934, left one-third of the estate to his widow, Mrs. Pauline Van Der Voort Dresser Rogers, one-third to Peter Salm, son of Count Ludwig Salm Von Hoogstraeten, and Mrs. Millicent Rogers Salm Ramos, and one-third to Mrs. Ramos in trust.

DISCOVER TOWNS WIPED OUT BY FLOODS IN HAITI

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Belated stories of how whole towns vanished under flood waters tended tonight to confirm estimates that as many as 2,000 persons perished or were missing in the hurricane which ravaged Haiti's southern peninsula last week. Mountain streams, emptying near Jeremie and Jacmel, wrought hideous damage, these reports indicated.

Flood waters of the River Anse, near Jeremie, were reported to have wiped out the town of Marfranc, with many of its 500 inhabitants drowned. On the same stream three-quarters of the town of Moron, of 1,500 persons, disappeared.

Hondurans Warned to Flee.

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The government today broadcast radio warnings to the inhabitants of the zone around the city of Progreso, ordering them to start for the mountains at once before the area is inundated by a river flood. No reliable estimate has been made of the number of casualties in the hurricane and floods.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Raymond Bousquet, Winnipeg boxer who fought under the name of Del Fontainte, will be executed tomorrow for the murder of his sweetheart last month. Sir John Simon, home secretary, has refused to grant a reprieve, it was announced today. The reprieve was sought by the National Union of Boxers on the ground that Bousquet was "punch drunk," which made his conduct abnormal.

FEE OFFICES ASK TO ADD 180 TO STAF NEXT YEAR

Would Cost $350,000; Only Gill Advises Cut.

Chiefs of seven of the county fee offices appeared yesterday before the Circuit court judges' committee on help and requested the addition of 180 new employés for the 1936 fiscal year. Salaries for the additional help, if granted, would aggregate more than $350,000. The committee, which conists of Chief Justice Walter J. La Buy and Judges Joseph Burke and William V. Brothers, took the requests under advisement.

Of the total of 180, Sherif Toman petitioned for the addition of 138 employés. Six other officials asked altogether for forty-two employés. Five wished no increases.

County Treasurer Joseph L. Gill was the only one of the thirteen to offer to make a reduction in the present staf. He informed the judges that he was ready to cut the number of employés in the treasurer's office by thirty-one with a salaries savings for the year of approximately $50,000.

Seek 25 Probation Officers.

Requests for new employés for the next twelve months are: Juvenile court probation office, twenty-five new assistant probation officers and six clerks and stenographers; County court clerk, one new worker; Probate court, three; Criminal court and coroner, each two. The Circuit court clerk seeks three additional employés for only six months.

In his request for additional help, Sherif Toman was supported by a group of representatives of farm organizations, trucking companies, and the Chicago Motor club, who appeared before the judges' committee to urge the expansion of the highway police force. Toman recommended that the present force of ninety-nine be increased by eighty-nine highway deputy sherifs.

The total additional salaries involved in the 138 new employés asked by the sherif is about $280,000. In addition to the highway policemen, he requested seventeen deputy bailifs, three clerks, and one clerk's secretary for his own office; fourteen new hands for the county jail, thirteen for the county building, and one assistant operating engineer for the Criminal court.

Holds Private Police Now Necessary.

Joseph H. Braune, counsel for the Chicago Motor club, asserted that a bigger highway police force would "lead to a greater observance of trafic laws and reduce injuries." The president of a trucking firm declared that forced the company to maintain its own police.

Although several members of the county board of commissioners were present at the hearing, they did not offer any comment on the requests made. Officials of the board already have warned that the 1936 financial condition of the county will require trimming the salary outlay next year below 1935.

The Circuit court judges have the statutory power and duty to fix the number of employés in the fee office.

Chief Justice La Buy said he hoped recommendations might be made to the county board within a few days.

TAXPAYERS JAM GILL'S OFFICE TO AVOID PENALTIES

Many Stand in Line Hour and a Half.

With the penalty deadline for the payment of 1934 personal property taxes and the first instalment of the realty bills falling Friday night, hundreds of taxpayers jammed the county treasurer's office yesterday to pay their bills. So great was the rush that the line of waiting taxpayers overflowed into the county building lobby and out into Clark street.

It was estimated that approximately 12,000 persons paid their bills during the day. Collections totaled $2,735,214, of which $2,101,850 was realty taxes.

The average taxpayer had to stand in line about an hour and a half because of the necessity of getting in person the 15 per cent credit refund due those who paid their 1931 taxes in full.

Plan to Avoid Rush.

County Treasurer Gill had his employés hand out envelopes addressed to the treasurer's office, explaining that taxpayers may pay their bills by mail and avoid the rush. Under this plan, the treasurer explained, the taxpayer could obtain his credit slip later and apply it to the payment of the second instalment of his realty bill.

The treasurer indicated yesterday that a few days' grace after the penalty date would be allowed to accommodate last minute payers.

Gill announced the distribution of $1,715,000 in tax collections to the larger governing bodies, $1,100,000 to the city and $300,000 to the county. Of the amount distributed, $1,415,000 was in current collections for 1934, while $300,000 was in delinquent collections for 1933.

Lake County Valuations.

The 1935 assessed valuation of real estate and personal property in Lake county totals $76,646,173, compared with $78,807,675 for 1934, a decrease of $2,161,502, or 2.7 per cent, according to a report of the county board of review made public last night by Harold E. Pillifant, chairman.

The entire decrease was in real estate, personalty valuations being slightly higher than in 1934. Realty valuations totaled $65,382,755, a decrease of $2,483,350, while personalty valuations were $321,848 higher, totaling $11,263,418.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S REAL FISHING.

Mr. Roosevelt is fishing for an issue. For some reason or other he does not think that the New Deal record as a whole or in detail will bring the people up cheering next year. There is an apparent desire on the part of the candidate to find something which will soften up the emotions of the electorate and start the voters running at the eyes.

In fishing around for this Mr. Roosevelt has cast various baits without getting a rise, at least not the kind of a rise he wanted. Mr. Farley among his advisers is the best judge of what's good political fishing, and it has become pretty well known that the postmaster general as national chairman has looked sourly upon his chief's bait throwing up to date.

Mr. Roosevelt's first impulse some time back led him to think that the people could be made to see red against the constitution and the Supreme court. The people instead of taking fire turned so chill at these advances that the New Deal had to put up its collar and look for mittens. That attempt to set the prairies afire was a frost.

The next undertaking looked a bit more like the real thing. It borrowed the La Follette letter to the Wisconsin clergymen, used its language with a change here and there, not enough to disguise the real plagiarism, and pictured Mr. Roosevelt in the White House as needing the political guidance of the country's ministers as well as their prayers. Most of the clergymen were not taken in by this, and again Mr. Farley thought that the sooner the affair was forgotten the better it would be. No other President had ever made quite such a bid for ecclesiastical assistance, and some of the clergymen doubted that he could quite know what he was doing himself if he thought that the letters from the pastors would save the country.

Then Mr. Roosevelt decided to show himself to the country, visit the navy in the Pacific as its commander-in-chief, take a couple of cruisers and go fishing in somewhat the royal manner. At least it was a bit of Mussolini on the more popular side. The country was not much stirred by this except to wonder why a cruiser or two should be needed to catch a few tarpon, sailfish, or whatever it was that was to be got. Fishing is all right, but why the navy?

Now Mr. Roosevelt takes up the bucolic lute to lead the farmers in merry dances on the greensward, hoping at the same time that the urban population will enjoy the pastoral scene and forget the cost of groceries.

The New Deal show promoters evidently know that the piece bogs and must get a smash hit number in somewhere.

1½ PER CENT ON SAVINGS.

The reduction in savings bank interest in Chicago to 1½ per cent can be credited to the economic planners of the New Deal. The professors said they would make money cheap and they have done so. Their object, as they frequently explained, was to stimulate investment.

Investment is a word which has several meanings. To the ordinary citizen it suggests the purchase from savings of a piece of engraved paper, which is then locked in a vault. To the professional economist it means the use of savings to increase the nation's stock of capital equipment. Sometimes these meanings are nearly identical and sometimes they are greatly divergent. They were notably divergent in 1928 and 1929, when investment in the popular sense proceeded at an unprecedented rate while investment in the economists' sense was no greater than average.

The statisticians of the Brookings institution have calculated that the savings of the American people in 1929 amounted to 15 billions, while the new capital that year amounted to only 5 billions. Much of the difference was absorbed by the rising price of securities in the bull market. The formation of holding companies and investment trusts with billions of capital to be spent on securities, rather than on new plant and equipment, worked to the same end.

The kind of investment which is socially desirable is the creation of new and needed productive capacity. If the reduction in interest rates drives money into the purchase of light weight cars for the railroads, the nation will be enriched by present employment for car builders and future savings in the costs of train operation. If, on t[illegible] contrary, the money is used merely to bull the market for stocks, as was done in '28 and '29, we shall be worse off because another crash will be made inevitable.

There is real danger that the money to be driven from the savings banks will go into a bull market rather than into industry. The danger is evident from the fact that relatively few new issues of stocks and bonds are coming on the market. Most of the new capital is being devoted to refinancing old loans at lower rates of interest and represents no addition to physical plant. Unless there is a marked turnabout in this particular, a speculative boom and collapse might very easily follow from the cheap money policy.

Possibly a considerable proportion of the money from savings accounts will be invested in new government loans. If so, it may encourage the government to undertake new extravagances by bolstering its credit and to that extent postpone the return of anything like a genuine recovery.

THE VICE PRESIDENT IN HIS SOCKS.

Cactus Jack Garner found himself facing the role of an international curiosity in Japan when he was presented to the emperor and led into the reception room. There was a rumor that Jack would have to make his entry in his stocking feet in pursuance of an old Japanese custom. Joe Byrns paired up with Garner for the occasion as speaker of the house of representatives. Both the gentlemen were taking the matter pleasantly and with some pleasantries. They sought Mr. Roosevelt's advice by wireless whether to wear cotton, wool, or silk socks, and Mr. Roosevelt gave the Japanese occasion to frown when, trifling with sensibilities, he replied gayly that the two should go barefoot. Jack and Joe must have relaxed with an abundant sigh when it was discovered that the old custom has been dropped and that shoes may be retained.

The vice presidency has always been something of an oddity in American official life. Potentially he is a most important person. He is the nation's second choice for the most responsible position in the world, but he is regarded as a sort of spare tire. When he has been fastened on the machine nobody pays any attention to him until he's needed. It's enough to know the spare tire is there. Usually the V. P. just rides along. It's only occasionally that the people discover that he is full of air.

The Hobarts did something with the job when they made Lord Pauncefote call on them first. The Briton was amazed to discover that this had been added to the protocol. Dolly Gann made a fight for her rights as sister and hostess of V. P. Curtis. Mr. Garner, although a real Texas steer as speaker of the house, has been no great shucks as a Vice President. Purposely he has been in his official position one of the least articulate of V. P.s. The assumption has been that he didn't know what to say and that if he did it wouldn't do to say it. Nevertheless, in the eyes of the world he is the American second in command. His willingness to be presented to the Japanese emperor might have required him [if the ground rules hadn't been changed] to commit what would be an extreme absurdity in his own country, indicating that he'd had too much to drink or had gone nutty. The late Huey Long liked to receive callers in his pajamas and bedroom slippers. He tried that on the officers of a German cruiser and was told that he had insulted the whole German nation.

The Japanese may not like Mr. Roosevelt's levity in suggesting bare feet, but Mr. Garner in his cotton socks could have made amends. Ceremonials in Japan are properly contrived as a part of the formula which separates the emperor from human clay. The symbol is one of unbridgeable inferiority. The Vice President of the United States, if he had given the slightest thought to the plain meaning of the thing, would avoid ceremonies.

Editorial of the Day

PECULIAR TO THE NEW DEAL.

[Detroit Free Press.]

"From New Jersey to California the charge is being made that the Roosevelt administration is responsible for increasing local taxes," writes the Washington correspondent of the Free Press, who immediately adds:

"This is probably the first time in this country's history that such a charge has been hurled against a party in control of the federal government."

We think it is. The New Deal is unique in that respect as in several others.

It is the only administration that has impudently tried to muscle in on state financial affairs and to dictate spending in state capitals.

It is the only administration which has imitated Mexican revolutionary methods and has tried to exact direct contributions from states and municipalities for the furtherance of its pet schemes and ambitions.

For flagrant examples of the manner in which Washington under President Roosevelt has undertaken to make practically forced levies on states, people in Michigan need not look beyond their own borders.

In trying to get money in addition to that voted by congress, the PWA has sent to Lansing and, almost with threats, demanded the adoption of constitutional or statutory changes that would have completely destroyed important and carefully erected public safeguards against indiscriminate and unlimited public borrowing.

The purpose has been to open the way for inveiglement of thoughtless or inexperienced subdivisions of the state, some of them already half ruined by heavy debts, into contracting new and still heavier obligations so that they might become participants with the federal government in its crazy squandering of the national substance.

It is only a matter of months since Washington impudently undertook to stampede Gov. Fitzgerald and the legislature into accepting measures of that sort which actually had been drawn in the national capital and transmitted to be signed on the dotted line.

Lansing wasn't to be stampeded, however. And while there has been considerable increase of public debt in Michigan within the limits of present law because local governments have listened to siren voices from the federal capital, the state has been preserved from a lot which has happened in other members of the sisterhood.

In places where the New Dealers have had pretty much their own way there is going to be sad suffering and wailing and gnashing of teeth among taxpayers later on when they begin to see just what is contained in the bags they have been left to hold.

The increase in the public debt of the American people is nowhere nearly measured by the simple growth of the national debt.

There are other billions of obligations, resulting from New Deal plunging, which do not show in the treasury department reports, but which must be paid nevertheless by the people, largely by the working people.

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

IT SEEMS THAT THE FARMERS are voting enthusiastically in favor of the government's continuing to pay them for pigs they do not raise and corn they do not plant. So the New Dealers down in Washington are just tickled pink and express their joy and surprise. I wish the New Dealers would give me a chance to vote on a proposition to have the government give me a dollar for every dollar I haven't got. Gentlemen of the New Deal, my vote is loud, clear, and distinct; it is AYE! And if you wish me to vote on whether or not I am willing to be paid a thousand dollars for every novel, cook book, history, biography, detective story, or Greek grammar that I do not write in the year 1936, then, gentlemen, do not worry; on this question I likewise vote AYE! Send the money as soon as possible.

UNDER THE TOWNSEND plan everybody over sixty years of age gets two hundred dollars a month for doing nothing. And we used to sing, "Let me be a boy again, back in babyland." What, be a boy again and lose out on that two hundred bucks per month! I should say not. Let me be a nice old gent with crutches and an ear trumpet and everything. Methuselah died before his time. If the Townsend plan ever goes over what a fine place this would be for Methuselah!

SONNET VI.

(For R., who asks me again for a poem.)

Seek not in me the honeyed mouth, forsooth!
Stones in the teeth and rubble on the tongue,
The heart's words grit along the flesh, in truth,
Like sand across the eyeballs rudely flung.

As hungry gulls, when winds run loud and high,
Cherishing life, will breast the inland rain,
To blunder over roofs with alien cry,
From alien food to veer, and rise again—
So harsh with need I cry my sorry will,
Nor eat of scattered kindness. Better thrown
Your sweet crumbs to the robin on the sill
Than to a bird indifferent and blown.

With strange insidious seeing he is blind
Who bears the poet's trouble in his mind.

THAT DARNED OLD LAW of compensation or equilibrium or whatever it is is always working. I bought a half dozen shirts down in New York because they were mighty cheap. And now that I've started to wear 'em I get along all right as long as I've got a coat on. But without a coat some killjoy pulls me to one side and says something about tucking in. So I've given the lot to the washlady's boys who are only half my size. Darn it, the pendulum always swings as far on one side as it does on the other.

THE MOVIES are threatening to move out of California on account of high state taxes. But let the movies move, says California. There's one thing that will be left, the climate. Ah, the climate of California! Suppose a person does pay so much in taxes he can't eat! Can't he step out into the sunshine and breathe a mouthful of climate? Certainly! Then what's the kicking all about? A person who wouldn't enjoy a good meal of climate in preference to ham and eggs—well, such a person doesn't belong in California. Let him go back to Russia where he came from.

THE BAN put on a play in Chicago because it had too much profanity in it is having its good effect on our citizens. You don't hear nearly as much profanity even among our very best people as formerly, and as for the big husky icemen who used to be noted for their fluent and gorgeous cussin'—well, you wouldn't believe how they've changed. I saw an iceman in front of me yesterday staggering under several tons of ice across the pavement when a small, smarty-smarty looking man barged into him. I got ready to hear the iceman pass the time of day to the small smarty-smarty looking man. I expected the air would turn blue and green and reek with sulphur and brimstone. But no! The iceman just looked at the small smarty-smarty looking man and said, "Oh Clarence, you're awfully rude!" And I wish to go on record that a million swear words wouldn't have made that small smarty-smarty looking man sneak away as he did. And my! wasn't his face red.

IN PRAISE OF OLD BOOKS.

In ancient books we search for wisdom's prize;
To musty scrolls we give our nights and days.
You mock our zeal, while turning eager eyes
To greet the morning with a heart of praise.
Who is the wiser, you who hail the dawn
As one dear comrade hails a fellow soul,
Or we who view the sunsets, strange and wan,
Of olden times, through yellowed book and scroll?
Yours be the joy of living day by day;
We too rejoice, athrill with centuries!
With Socrates and Shakespeare would we stray
By Grecian temples and on classic seas.
In precious books are streets and skies as fair
As any boon the fresh today can bear.

THE POPULAR SALICYLATES.

WHEN first introduced, sodium salicylate was hailed as a long sought specific for acute rheumatism. Later knowledge has shown that this is not the case, although its use is followed by some lessening of pain and lowering of temperature. In fact, in almost any acute infection salicylates will bring about active perspiration and reduction in temperature, and the patient will feel more comfortable. Unfortunately not even large doses of this drug, even if well withstood by the sufferer, will influence the course of rheumatic infections, prevent heart damage, or relieve chorea of rheumatic origin.

A very large proportion of our population uses salicylates in some form, and we may well ask ourselves if the widespread employment of drugs of this type [sodium salicylate, aspirin, oil of wintergreen, etc.] is safe. Through extensive advertising, derivatives of salicylic acid have become well known to the general public, and a bottle of one of these drugs will be found in the medicine chest of many households. The general public has passed the period when it feels that guidance is needed with respect to the salicylates, although the physician is often asked, "Is the drug safe?"

Individuals differ widely in their response to these preparations. Large doses produce a certain amount of delirium followed by stupor. Some persons are so sensitive to the drug that five grains [one ordinary sized tablet] will induce toxic symptoms. Sodium salicylate, when taken by mouth, will usually appear in the urine within ten to twenty minutes. Much of the drug, however, is destroyed in the body, and it is completely eliminated within 36 to 48 hours. If it is to become concentrated in the blood a very large dose must be taken. In order to get its full medicinal effect, therefore, it is necessary to give ten to twenty grains every hour or two until the patient exhibits nausea and ringing in the ears. This is quite a common reaction following the taking of 120 to 200 grains per day. As soon as these symptoms occur the drug should be stopped or the rate of administration greatly reduced.

Aspirin closely resembles sodium salicylate in its action. It is absorbed from the intestine, but it is more slowly excreted and the toxic dose is smaller. If there is much free hydrochloric acid in the stomach some of it may be converted into salicylic acid, hence the usual precaution of giving sodium bicarbonate in conjunction with the drug. Salicylic acid is irritating to the mucous lining of the stomach.

Certain persons show more severe allergic reactions to aspirin than to sodium salicylate, and some will develop hives, edema of the face, salivation, or asthmatic symptoms. In ordinary doses, however, aspirin is considered a safe drug, showing few if any harmful results even when taken over a long period of time.

What changes do the salicylates produce in the body? A normal temperature is rarely influenced, but one of 103 degrees F. may, under an average dose, drop approximately two degrees. The effect upon rheumatism and acute tonsilitis is, first, the reduction in pain with a lessening of local inflammation; and second, a decrease in swelling. As a rule the general condition of the patient is improved and the benefits continue so long as the administration of salicylates is maintained.

We must not regard these drugs as antiseptics because they are not, although salicylic acid, which of course no one would take by mouth, is an excellent germicide. It is too irritating even to be used in surgical conditions. Nevertheless it has been used as a food preservative, but its employment in this respect should rarely if ever be permitted.

Methyl salicylate [oil of wintergreen] occurs in nature. Either the natural oil or that which has been chemically prepared is often used as an ingredient of liniments or ointments for application to painful joints or muscles. Its odor is quite characteristic.

LIPS AND HIPS.

M. T.: I am in perfect health, as evidenced by a recent thorough physical examination, yet without rouge my lips are almost white. What is the cause of this? Do you think using rouge could be responsible? [2] What is the cause of tiny blue and red veins just under the skin of the thighs and the legs?

REPLY.

[1] The most frequent cause of lack of color in the lips is anemia. If this was ruled out in the examination, rest, good food, and outdoor exercise will probably help you more than anything. I doubt if the rouge is responsible, though occasionally it causes a thickening of the mucous membrane, thus hiding some of the natural color. [2] The condition is called "spider varicosities." The walls of the veins are weak. This is usually an inherited tendency. No treatment is necessary.

PROBABLY ANEMIA.

E. S. writes: My physician tells me I have no oxygen in the blood. He advises me to eat vegetables and drink water. Isn't there something else I can do?

REPLY.

The condition you describe is probably an anemia interfering with the oxygen-carrying power of the blood. You may need iron and hydrochloric acid. Ask your physician about this, and allow him to make the necessary examination so that he may determine the cause of your difficulty.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—The trafic in English babies is to be brought to an end, and the home office is to take immediate steps to have the adoption act of 1926 altered so that it will be impossible for any person, even of British nationality, not permanently domiciled in the British isles to adopt a child.

The trafic in this country has increased tremendously in the last few years, and would-be foster parents arrive in England almost every day from Holland, France, and Germany for the purpose of buying a baby. Many of them fly over and in a few hours fly back with a British baby in their arms.

A watch was kept on one woman and it was found that she was adopting English babies and selling them to childless couples for as much as $1,500. In certain Dutch newspapers notices are inserted advertising "bonny English babies for adoption."

In legal journals throughout the Netherlands citizens are advised to go to England if they wish to adopt a baby. The reason for this is that the Dutch are under the impression that Britain is the one country where legal adoption can be carried out. In Holland adoption does not exist. Neither does it in Germany. Parents of children there, even if they are illegitimate, are not permitted to renounce their responsibilities or obligations concerning them.

The English racket is worked in the following manner: An English girl, for financial or family reasons, wishes to have her child adopted into a good home. There are a number of so-called adoption societies willing to oblige—for a fee. Upon making a promise to pay an agreed sum she relinquishes her baby, either paying outright or contracting to pay so much per week. She signs a form in which she renounces all her rights in the child.

Comes the day when an adopter arrives from Holland or Germany or even as far away as America. No payment is allowed to be made by the foster parent for the child, but a thank offering is given to the society by the adopters, and payments have been known to reach as high as $2,000. Meanwhile the natural parent is often struggling, sometimes at tremendous sacrifice, to pay her weekly instalments and in many cases the child is not even in the country.

The most recent case is of a man of 26. He thought he was a true born German. Came the Hitler régime, which demanded that every German prove his pure Aryan descent. His "mother" could not furnish him with the necessary birth certificate. She had to tell him the truth, that he was British. The aid of an international organization was invoked, and frantic efforts to find his real parents were made in this country. They failed, and the young man was deported and is now in England without friends and a charge on the British taxpayer.

During the depression many "parents" lost their money and shipped back their adopted babies, declaring they could no longer afford to keep them. This hit the adoption societies badly and they sent the babies out to foster mothers in England, paying a few shillings a week for their keep until times got better.

Some of the foster mothers were obviously most unsuitable women to care for children. At the inquest on a child who died under mysterious circumstances at the home of a licensed foster mother some glaring disclosures of the baby selling racket were revealed.

The woman in whose house the baby had died had fourteen other children under care. She occupied a house of six rooms used by three other adults beside herself and her husband. She was paid $2 per week for each child.

THE DIVIDING LINE.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—In my opinion, eastern standard time and central standard time should be divided by a line following the Wisconsin-Minnesota state line from Lake Superior until that line reaches the Mississippi river, then follow the Mississippi river to its mouth. This is a natural dividing line and does not vary a great deal from the 90th meridian at any time. It leaves only one state that might have eastern time in part of the state and central time in the other part and that is Louisiana. That state would have only a small portion in the eastern zone and if it was desired they could put their whole state in the central zone without seriously interfering with the plans of any other state.

B. R. OLSON.

SANCTIONS.

Wichita, Kas., Oct. 23.—The economic sanctions imposed by the league of nations upon Italy will doubtless cause severe suffering in that country. And it now develops that similar sanctions have been imposed upon the people of the United States, not by the league of nations or any foreign enemy, but by our own lawmakers including the brain trusters at Washington.

Some of these unfortunate sanctions which have penalized prosperity have been as follows: Sanctions or penalties to cover $52,000,000 paid to the farmers of one state only, Kansas, for the inane purpose of curtailing their crops. Kansas has had to import wheat this year and this might naturally have come from the abundance in western Canada, but again, sanctions amounting to 42 cents per bushel have prevented importation of this wheat.

Other sanctions are penalties for importations from other countries of a vast amount of merchandise by customs tarif, thereby preventing the great wealth which commerce provides to all concerned; penalties on every activity of capital and labor, occupations, incomes, inheritances, gifts, and most serious of all, a tax system which promotes land speculation and land monopoly. Had these sanctions been imposed upon us by a foreign power the spirit of '76 would have asserted itself and the injustice would have been resisted with the force of arms. HENRY WARE ALLEN.

SAUCE FOR THE GOOSE.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—Congressman Sabath as the head of an investigating committee aiming to get the low down on the Paramount-Publix receivership is reported as saying that "millions have been ruined and sent to their graves" by "damnable" practices in many reorganizations.

FOR FEWER AUTO ACCIDENTS.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 19.—The figures quoted in your cartoon, "Death's New Favorite," are a call to arms to those who love their fellowmen.

A federal law forbidding any factory to put out any type of motor vehicle, not geared to rails, for commercial or private use with a possible speed of more than 60 miles an hour on a level road is the first step. The second is a universally adopted state law holding the factory particeps criminis in any accident in which their make of car is involved if there is proof that said car was exceeding this speed at the time.

Even this speed, which means traveling the distance of a city block while you count three, is too fast for the average eye-brain-muscle response when a dog, a cat, a child, or another car looms suddenly in your path; it is rather seldom, however, that a driver takes the trouble to push a car to its highest speed, so this would promise a general speed of 45 miles an hour, which is certainly sufficiently fast.

One way roads, lighted highways, graveled shoulders for pedestrians and for animal drawn vehicles, all of which would be legitimate projects for federal aid, would contribute to accident prevention.

Attention to deterioration by age and exposure to direct sunlight, and consequent prismatic reflection in the nonfracturable glass when confronted by heavy headlights of approaching vehicles, will also act as an accident preventive.

Careful consideration must be given all factors involved in the rapidly increasing bus and truck trafic. The drivers of these vehicles combine in one the functions of the engineer, the brakeman, the conductor and the wheel-locking rails; a superman surely! And how long will it be before, metaphorically speaking, he will be landed on the dump heap? A man in the prime of life, a man in his forties, a college trained man, as many of the bus companies advertise, too stale from the deadly tension of watching the road and holding the wheel to be a safe driver, too mentally sodden to develop a new line of work. The bus driver is, I understand, given alternating routes and a fair amount of regular time off for sleep; but the truck drivers apparently catch their sleep on the road whenever and wherever they can.

After many train wrecks about a generation ago, a federal law limiting the engineer's working hours was passed and the same thing must be done for the driver of the motor vehicle.

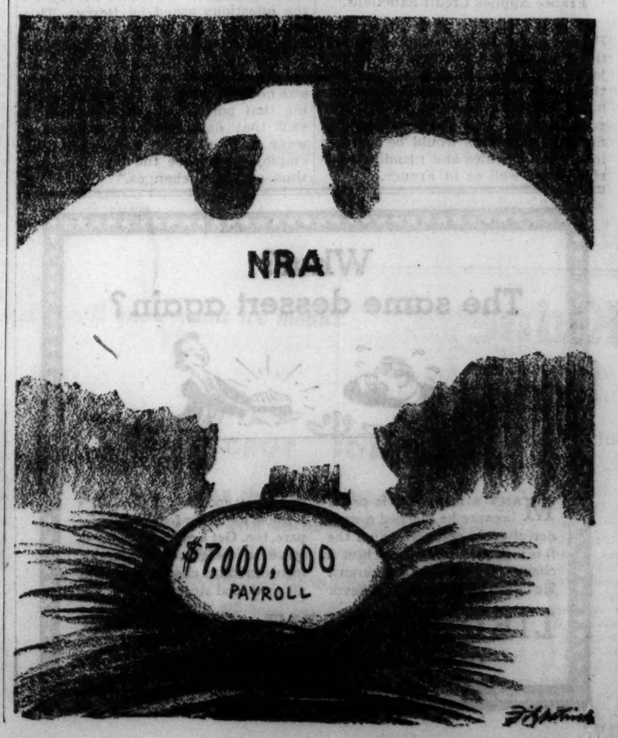
THE GHOST THAT LAYS THE GOLDEN EGGS

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]



NEW DEAL'S AAA LOSES SUPREME COURT SKIRMISH

Opponents Win on Date of Hearing.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—The New Deal today lost the first legal skirmish on the constitutionality test of the Agricultural Adjustment administration. The Supreme Court of the United States turned down the government's plea for a hearing on Nov. 20 and set the hearing date as Dec. 9.

At the same time the court decided to review the constitutionality of the Public Works administration's slum clearance and low cost housing program. The ruling will affect forty-seven projects, for which 133 million dollars of easy money have been allocated.

Solicitor General Stanley Reed asked that the AAA case involving the validity of processing taxes be set for argument Nov. 20. Counsel for the Hoosac mills of Massachusetts opposed the plea and asked that the case be heard not earlier than Dec. 9.

Sought Early Decision.

The administration sought the earlier date because it would have made probable the handing down of a decision before the opening of congress. Then, if the decision should be against the New Deal, the administration would have more time to propose a new tax program to pay farmers' benefits.

The AAA, under which the administration has sent benefit checks to hundreds of thousands of farmers, is a major New Deal experiment. The decision in the case is expected to play a vital part in the 1936 presidential campaign.

The processing taxes have been declared unconstitutional by the Massachusetts Circuit Court of Appeals. The government is marshaling its legal forces to secure a reversal of the lower court's decision.

The slum clearance case is another vital New Deal test. It involves the right of the government to condemn land for slum clearance and low cost housing projects. The case now before the Supreme court rose out of a suit at Louisville in which a Circuit Court of Appeals held the PWA was not taking property for public use within the meaning of the constitution.

Other Cases Before Court.

Other New Deal cases before the Supreme court include suits attacking the constitutionality of the Tennessee Valley administration and the Bankhead cotton control act.

A new assault was brought on the Bankhead act in a 103 page brief of three lawyers, Ralph W. Malone, George E. Seay, and Henry Moore Jr. of Texas and Arkansas. They gave no indication of their interest in the case.

The brief quoted Thomas Jefferson with "were we directed from Washington when to sow and when to reap we would soon be without bread." The lawyers concluded a long arraignment of the act by stating, "The question at issue is of even greater importance because of its political significance than because of the economic results thereunder."

JOHNSON SLAPS NEW DEAL BUT NOT ROOSEVELT

Cleveland, O., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Hugh S. Johnson denounced the New Deal tonight for "amazing blunders and failures" and called for the reëlection of President Roosevelt.

Reducing current controversies to a choice between those who would "do something about a maladjusted economic situation and those who would "do nothing," he espoused the former view and declared Mr. Roosevelt its outstanding exponent.

"It is my firm conviction," he said, "that while the salvation of this country will be found only under the leadership of Franklin D. Roosevelt . . . that we shall not attain that salvation unless the New Deal is purged of the influences and administrators responsible for them.

"Does anybody with a grain of intelligence suppose that there can be concealed from this country the obvious and fantastical flop of the combined WPA-PWA program of made work—accomplishing next to nothing, satisfying nobody, and at a cost of billions, making no improvement whatever in the underlying causes of unemployment?

"Does anybody suppose there is an intelligent farmer . . . who does not know that not one inch of progress has been made in a final solution of the farm problem by artificial propping up of farm prices?

"There is no informed student who doubts that if some improvement does not occur soon there will be no escape from floods of printing press money."

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS OUSTER OF THE DRAKES

Refuses to Review Eviction Case.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—The United States Supreme court today ruled against Tracy C. and John B. Drake, Chicago hotel men, and their families in their battle with the Metropolitan Life Insurance company of New York to enforce salary and upkeep contracts made with them before a 4 million dollar loan was foreclosed in 1933.

The Supreme court refused to review two decisions by the Seventh Federal Circuit Court of Appeals. Last April 17 the Appeals court denied the Drakes were entitled to free food, apartments, personal hotel service, and $15,000 a year salaries.

The Drake brothers asserted they were the chief owners of the Drake Hotel company, formed in 1908, which constructed and managed the Blackstone hotel in Chicago. In 1919 they formed the Whitestone company, an Illinois corporation, which erected the Drake hotel.

The Whitestone company them employed the Drakes as managers of the Drake hotel at a total salary of $30,000 a year, 10 per cent of profits above dividends on preferred stock, and hotel accommodations for their families for 25 years. That contract was extended in 1927 for 50 years to 1977.

ROOSEVELT FARM IN GEORGIA GETS NO AAA BENEFITS

Warm Springs, Ga., Oct. 28.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's farm on the slopes of Pine mountain, high above his Georgia "Little White House," has harvested its best crops in years—without affiliation with AAA programs.

Otis Moore, tall Georgian who manages the President's 3,000 acre estate, said today only grapes were raised for the market this year.

"I begged the President to let me plant a few acres in cotton, but he just smiled and shook his head," Moore said.

Moore was elated over the twenty acres terraced last year and planted in corn. He isn't participating, however, in the AAA corn-hog program.

Explaining that all feed goes to the farm's live stock, Moore said the corn production was too small to justify an AAA contract. It totaled 1,300 bushels.

WALLACE PLANS TO RAISE PORK OUTPUT IN '36

Decides Corn-Hog Vote Is an Indorsement.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—Expressing pleasure over what he termed an indorsement of the New Deal in a referendum over continuance of a corn-hog adjustment program, Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace today planned to increase production of pork in 1936.

Incomplete returns tonight showed 630,617 for a new program and 102,732 against a program. The vote was taken Saturday.

Votes in Chicagoland.

The vote of Illinois and near by states as compiled by the Associated Press late tonight was as follows:

State—	Yes.	No.
Illinois	74,507	9,523
Indiana	67,474	8,047
Iowa	155,815	25,314
Michigan	6,781	2,291
Minnesota	33,387	4,446
Missouri	65,175	9,015
Wisconsin	4,989	452

Hopes to Soothe Buyers.

The AAA will kill no piglets next year and relax its birth control among hogs to permit an increase of 25 to 30 per cent over the production of this year, it was said. While the aim will be to increase production in 1936, Wallace said the AAA will exert vigilance against "excessive overproduction in subsequent years."

In easing AAA restrictions, Wallace hopes to soothe housewives militant against mounting pork prices. The AAA has sought to disclaim responsibility for the present high prices by asserting the drouth caused the hog shortage ratner than its shoat killings.

Wallace commended farmers for their vote with "they realize their triple duty: to the consumer, to the cause of soil conservation, and to the maintenance of a fair income for themselves."

Early Majority Being Cut.

The vote showed the New Deal losing some of the majority piled up in early returns. First results showed the program winning by a 8 to 1 vote. Today the ratio was about 6 to 1 and dropped slightly with each batch of returns.

Every one of the states in which the poll was conducted was reported to have indorsed the program.

There are 4½ million corn-hog growers throughout the country. The AAA insists that about 2½ million farmers raise corn or hogs only for their own use and have no interest in the program. Contract signers numbers 1,155,294 farmers.

FORESEE 5-YEAR RECORD IN FARM INCOMES BROKEN

100 Millions Added to Previous Estimate.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—A prediction that the total 1935 farm income from sales and rental and benefit payments would be 6 billion 800 million dollars—the largest in five years—was advanced today by the bureau of agricultural economics. The predicted figure is 100 million dollars greater than the one predicted in earlier estimates by the bureau. The increase was explained as being the result of unfavorable conditions facing the Argentine wheat crop and the strengthening of the demand for farm products as the result of the Italo-Ethiopian war.

It also may be accounted for by the huge payments out of the United States treasury.

Normal Increase Surpassed.

Cash income from the sale of farm products in September was estimated at 636 millions by the bureau, compared with 547 millions in August and 623 millions in September a year ago.

There is a sharp normal seasonal increase as between these two months, but it was greater than usual this year, the bureau reported.

Rental and benefit payments for September were estimated at 56 million dollars, as compared with 45 millions for August and 51 millions for September, 1934. In the latter period, however, farmers received 25 million dollars for the emergency sale of live stock because of the drouth. Total farm cash income for September was estimated at 692 million dollars, as compared with 592 millions in August and 699 millions in September of last year.

Based on Nine Months' Survey.

For the first nine months of 1935 farm income from marketings totaled 4 billion 304 million dollars, and farm rental and benefit payments, $406,000,000, making the total cash income 4 billion 710 million dollars. In the same period last year income from marketings was 4 billion 127 million dollars, and from rental and benefit payments and the emergency sale of live stock, $326,000,000, making the total 4 billion 453 millions.

FARMER MAKES HAY AND CURES HIS TOOTHACHE

Paris, Mo., Oct. 28.—(AP)—This is the story—in his own words—of how Jimmie Johnston, a farmer north of here, cured his toothache:

"About 2 o'clock one morning, one of my back teeth was giving me fits. I couldn't sleep so I decided to haul a load of hay.

"Old Ben and old Bess didn't like it much and old Ben gave me a kick in the pants while I was harnessing up. The kick struck a knife and some matches in my pocket and started a fire. I put the fire out and hauled the hay. The toothache was gone."

NEW DEAL PLANS BUDGET WITH NO CUT IN EXPENSES

Expect Relief Costs to Approach '36 Outlay.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt is planning an "ordinary" budget of 3 billion 500 million dollars for the fiscal year which begins next July 1, Budget Director Daniel W. Bell disclosed today after a conference at the White House.

This total will be about equal to the amount being spent this year for "ordinary" federal running expenses, marking neither an increase nor a reduction. It will not include any funds for relief.

The New Dealers have not yet decided on how much they will ask for relief in the next fiscal year, according to Director Bell. Unofficial estimates are that the President will ask for about 1 billion 800 million dollars and will have a carryover from this year's huge relief fund of 1 billion 500 millions, making the total of 3 billion 300 million dollars almost as large as the funds being spent this year.

6 Billion 800 Million Total.

The federal government will have a total budget of about 6 billion 800 million dollars in the next fiscal year if these unofficial figures on proposed relief expenditures prove to be true. On the basis of present revenues this will mean a deficit of 2 billion 300 million dollars, a slight reduction compared with other New Deal deficits.

Of the 3 billion 500 million dollars for "ordinary" expenses next year, 2 billion 200 millions will be spent on the old line federal burocracy exclusive of the New Deal alphabetical jumble. The remaining 1 billion 300 millions will be necessary to pay interest and keep alive the sinking fund on the huge public debt being piled up by the New Dealers.

3½ Billions "Ordinary" Budget.

In the current fiscal year the government will spend 3 billion 498 million dollars on its "ordinary" budget, according to estimates made by the President on Sept. 30. In the preceding fiscal year "ordinary" expenses aggregated slightly less than 4 billion dollars.

Secretary Morgenthau said tonight that thus far the New Deal has failed to spend money in this fiscal year as fast as the President's budget requires. If expenditures do not pick up the government will spend 678 million dollars less this year than the President estimated, Morgenthau explained.

"Our estimates on the budget made Sept. 30 are as nearly accurate as we can figure," Secretary Morgenthau said.

The estimates were that expenditures this year would amount to 7 billion 752 million dollars; that revenues would total 4 billion 470 millions, and that the deficit would be 3 billion 282 millions. Collapse of the processing tax under legal attacks threatens to cut down the revenues and increase the deficit.

food for thought

THERE are times when bare statistics are confusing. For example: Philadelphia is third in size among the cities of the United States, yet The Philadelphia Bulletin (daily only) carries more national advertising on grocery and food products than any other single newspaper in the country, daily and Sunday combined. (1933 and 1934 figures)

The reason for this concentration of food advertising in Philadelphia becomes clear when you consider these facts from the U. S. Census: 79.5% of Philadelphia families live in single-family dwellings. (17.1% in New York, 24.9% in Chicago.) 50.7% of Philadelphia families own their homes. 86% of all housewives have no employment outside of the home.

Philadelphia is the greatest City of Homes in all America . . . with more single-family dwellings than the combined states of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

More homes mean more housewives planning three meals a day . . . studying food advertising . . . buying advertised brands.

More individual homes, and more home interest, mean a great market for modern kitchen appliances, or for any product used in the home.

The reason for this concentration of food advertising in The Bulletin becomes clear when you consider these facts: The Bulletin for forty years has been edited for Philadelphia homes. Home interests have shaped its policies. Home needs have molded its program. And the confidence of the home has been the structure upon which its circulation has been built.

That circulation has averaged more than half a million daily for the last twelve years. The average for the first nine months of 1935 was 518,306. It is all net paid. No inducement has ever been offered except its merit as a newspaper.

That circulation is two and one-half times the circulation of any other Philadelphia evening newspaper and more than the morning newspapers combined.

If you have a food product, or any home product, consult your Advertising Agency about this great City of Homes, and about this newspaper which carries more national advertising than any other six-day newspaper in America.

NEW DEAL'S HAND SEEN IN OLSON'S 3D PARTY FEELER

Gesture Is Believed Bid for Radical Vote.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—Will a third party movement be started next month with Gov. Floyd B. Olson of Minnesota its guiding genius?

That was the question arousing much interest in the capital today as cards were circulated announcing that a big political rally will be held in New York on Nov. 15 with Gov. Olson as "a special guest speaker" addressing the assemblage on "A New Party—If, When—and How?"

To at least one outstanding critic of the Roosevelt administration, Senator Thomas D. Schall [Rep., Minn.], the call undoubtedly was not only for the purpose of founding a third party, but to grab liberal and radical votes. The Minnesota senator expressed the belief that President Roosevelt and Postmaster General Farley were secret sponsors of the meeting.

Schall's Prediction Cited.

Senator Schall pointed out that he has held the view for some time that Gov. Olson would be put forward by administration strategists to steal the leadership of a third party. In a letter inserted in the Congressional Record at the close of the last congress, Senator Schall, discussing his fight against government censorship activities, declared:

"Just as they [President Roosevelt and his advisers] succeeded in stealing the nomination of the Democratic party in 1932, so they now are setting about to steal any third party that may arise to defend the interests of the people, and Olson is being carefully studied."

The senator recalled that Gov. Olson said at the convention which adopted the Farmer-Labor platform last election that he, Olson, was not a liberal, but that he was what he wanted to be—a radical—and that he predicted that within six months the national government would be taking over all industries of the nation.

Terms Both "Natural Tyrants."

"You will remember," Senator Schall wrote, "that when Roosevelt was in Minnesota, he lovingly put his arm around Floyd [Olson] and invited him to come to Washington and help him run the New Deal. Olson has the same yen for power that Roosevelt has. They are as alike as two peas in a pod. Their personal wills are always being substituted for the law of the land. They are both calculating and relentless.

"Inherently they both are natural, ruthless tyrants who use the English language not to express their thoughts but to conceal them. Neither one of them gives a rap for any promise made, any platform avowed, the right of petition, the right of free assembly, the right of freedom of the press, or the bill of rights. Such men are the rare tools being constantly sought by international schemers to steal party nominations."

Senator Schall opined that Olson might make a campaign designed to attract the radical and communistic elements and then urge his followers to switch to Roosevelt.

Seek to "Destroy Constitution."

"That Olson is in with the federal conspiracy to destroy our constitution, there is not the slightest doubt," he declared. "He openly boasts of it and apparently, like his leader, Roosevelt, without a qualm of conscience, advocates one thing and does the other."

The senator warned the public of Gov. Olson's record as it concerned the freedom of the press. As a county attorney in Minnesota, Olson put out of business two weekly newspapers unfriendly to him, Senator Schall recalled. One of these papers, run by Howard Guilford, protested, and with the aid of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, carried the case to the Supreme court of the United States, where the ruling obtained by Olson was set aside. Guilford later was slain, "immediately after he had stated over the radio that in his next speech he would expose the Olson administration."

PUBLIC LIBRARY DOORMAN FOR 42 YEARS RESIGNS

Christian Ullrich, 79 years old, 3252 Southport avenue, who for 42 years has been day doorman at the Washington street entrance of the Chicago Public library, resigned yesterday. The library board gave him a vote of appreciation for his "long and devoted service." Ullrich will receive a pension.

Harry G. Wilson, secretary of the board, pointed out that until Ullrich was taken ill five months ago he had never missed a day at work.

"He came to us when the present library building was being erected in 1893 and he has been here ever since," the board secretary said.

INDICTED EDITOR WINS FIRST TILT ON LIBEL CHARGE

Philadelphia Inquirer Asks Venue Change.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 28.—(AP)—A few hours after a grand jury in Jefferson county indicted the Philadelphia Inquirer the state Supreme court granted an order directing Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti to show cause why there should not be a change of venue in the trial of his criminal libel charges against the newspaper.

The true bill was returned at Brookville, in the attorney general's home county, and it named the Inquirer and two of its officers, John T. Custis, editor, and Charles A. Tyler, president and general manager. The charges were based on an article which Margiotti described as defamatory in the Inquirer last month.

Only Witness Before Jury.

Chief Justice Robert S. Frazer and Justice James B. Drew signed the show cause order upon motion of Ralph B. Evans, attorney for the defendants. It is returnable Nov. 25 in Philadelphia.

Margiotti was the only witness who appeared before the grand jury. The indictment contained two allegations of libel.

Raymond Brown, counsel for Margiotti, said one count charges the article was defamatory in charging the attorney general with "using his office for unscrupulous purposes." The other count, he said, alleges defamation through charging Margiotti "as an attorney at law with improper and unethical conduct."

Cites Reasons for Change.

In the petition for a change of venue, Attorney Evans said:

"The defendants are informed and believe that a fair and impartial trial cannot be had in Jefferson county. In support of this averment, defendants alleged upon information and belief:

"That the said Charles J. Margiotti is known personally to most of the residents of Jefferson county eligible for jury service and that it would be impossible to secure a jury which did not contain one or more jurors with whom he is personally acquainted and who are friendly to his interests."

MRS. A. H. BYFIELD WINS A DIVORCE IN 30 MINUTES

Husband Is Surprised by Quick Action.

Dr. Albert Henry Byfield, member of the family long connected with the Hotel Sherman, expressed surprise when informed by telephone at his Cuba township estate near Barrington that his wife had just been granted a divorce in Waukegan. The decree was granted on grounds of desertion by Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady less than thirty minutes after the suit was filed yesterday, following a hearing in the judge's chambers.

"I hadn't been notified that the divorce was granted today," said Dr. Byfield. "But I suppose it's all right. I knew that a suit was contemplated." He was represented by counsel at the hearing.

Wife Tells of Desertion.

Mrs. Byfield, the former Harriet R. Kron of Kansas City, testified at the hearing that she was married on April 2, 1927, and that Dr. Byfield had deserted her on March 15, 1933. She was 36 years old and he 46 at the time of their marriage.

Her testimony wastsubstantiated by Fred W. Memuth, who identified himself as the manager of the 170 acre estate where Dr. Byfield was reached by telephone. A third witness had proceeded only to identify herself as Miss Phyllis De Plomb, 1443 Hudson avenue, Mrs. Byfield's daughter by a previous marriage, when the court declared her testimony unneeded.

The immediate hearing was granted when Attorney Kurt Kiesow of Waukegan asserted Mrs. Byfield was about to leave the court's jurisdiction.

Formal Denial Entered.

Attorney Robert Cantwell Jr. appeared as Dr. Byfield's attorney and filed a formal answer denying the charges. He waived cross examination of witnesses who were questioned by Attorney Avern B. Scolnik, representing Mrs. Byfield.

In response to a question by Judge Dady, Mrs. Byfield said she understood she was permanently waiving alimony and dower rights and that a satisfactory settlement had been made.

Dr. Byfield is a son of the late Joseph Byfield and in 1926 shared with his two brothers in the estate left by their father and mother, who died but a few months apart in that year.

A Chicago wife also was granted a divorce a half hour after her suit was filed yesterday. She is Mrs. Lillian Johnson Barnhart, 242 East Walton place, who was awarded a decree on the ground of cruelty by Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan from Eugene Morse Barnhart, president of Capper & Capper, men's furnishing store at 100 South Michigan avenue. Mrs. Barnhart will receive $3,000 a year, under the terms of an agreement, and will have the custody of her three children and $1,200 a year for their support.

A CONCENTRATED OINTMENT

GERMAN PAGAN FAITHS DOOMED BY HITLER BANS

Cult Leaders Told to "Stop Nonsense."

BERLIN, Oct. 28.—(AP)—German churchmen were led tonight to believe that, on orders of Adolf Hitler, twilight has set in for the Wagnerian Guards, recognized neo-pagans of the Nazi reich.

Der fuehrer, religious circles heard, has told the Roman Catholic bishop of Berlin, Count Conrad von Preysing-Lichteneggmoos, that Dr. Alfred Rosenberg's philosophy of a German faith with heroes and gods for Germans only no longer will be tolerated.

Also attributed to Hitler were bans on cult festivals and the further construction of open air amphitheaters in the Germanic style and spirit where such gatherings might be conducted.

The admonition: "Stop your nonsense!" also was reported to have been given by der fuehrer to Rosenberg, Baldur von Schirach, reich's youth leader; Richard Walther Darre, agricultural commissioner, and Heinrich Himmler, chief of secret police, all recognized neo-pagan leaders.

Church circles in which these reports were accepted as true attached the greatest importance to them because Protestants and Catholics alike have regarded neo-paganism as neo-heathenism.

The German Faith movement or New Religion has been called the "greatest threat to Germany's older established religions."

Certain churchmen were asking themselves whether the reported recent developments indicate only a temporary expediency or an actual about face in Nazi policy.

Confers with Bishop.

Bishop Preysing conferred with der reichsfuehrer on Wednesday, but details of the conversation were not generally reported until tonight. Hitler was said to have done all the talking.

Meanwhile the reich church ministry of Hans Kerrl issued the following statement:

"Reichschancellor Hitler, acting at the wish of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht [president of the Reichsbank and economics minister], has had country and district leaders advised that 'Hitler will lead the party along the path of positive Christianity and not along the false path of anti-Christian doctrine'."

Kerrl himself, during a party meeting at Limburg, declared:

"By article 24 of our program we recognized positive Christianity. That has nothing to do with dogma, but means free faith. The essence of national socialism is faith, it is an act of love. Therefore national socialism is positive Christianity and love toward one's neighbor and neighbors. National socialism must demand that each party member be religious, but we don't bother about which confession he wants to belong to."

NEW JERSEY LEANS TO BERNARR MAC FADDEN FOR G. O. P. NOMINATION

New York, Oct. 28. — Hackensack [New Jersey] has come out, discreetly, for Bernaar Macfadden as G. O. P. candidate for President. Macfadden is a New York magazine publisher and an apostle of the health cult.

Nearly 100 New Jersey Republicans, including Gov. Hoffman and the national committeeman, Henry Jeffers, attended a luncheon in Hackensack at which Macfadden accepted an invitation to become adviser of the state's party leaders. It was said that his New Jersey supporters have as a goal his nomination for President.

Macfadden put ou a 15 point party program in his luncheon speech, stressing a balanced national budget and assailing the present administration's expenditures in the face of promises for a balanced budget.

OVER a period of 48 years the average annual number of marriages in Cook County has been 12 to every 1,000 of population.

During years of depression the marriage rate falls below average with the result that for the five years 1930-1934 the total number of marriages fell 33,259 below normal.

In 1934 the number of marriages was slightly above normal, the total being 41,754. However, only 189 dwelling units were built during 1934, accommodating less than 1,000 persons.

This accumulation of unmarried persons of marriageable age, together with the present increasing number of marriages, is an important factor in the potential demand for new homes.

This increasing demand indicates higher prices for existing residential properties.

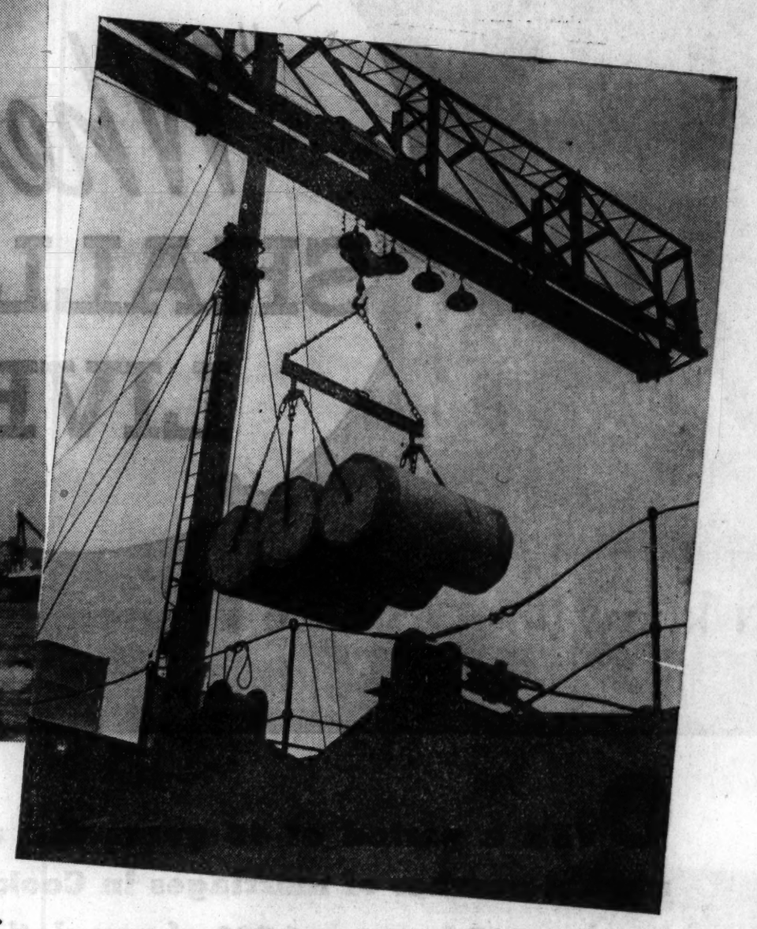
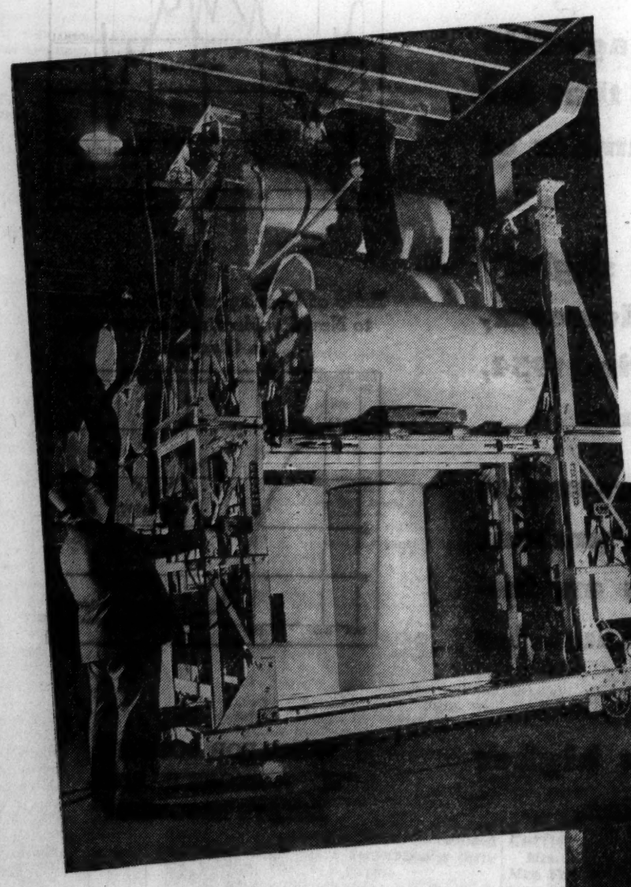
How THE TRIBUNE CAN PAY THE HIGHEST WAGES AND YET CHARGE THE LOWEST ADVERTISING RATES!

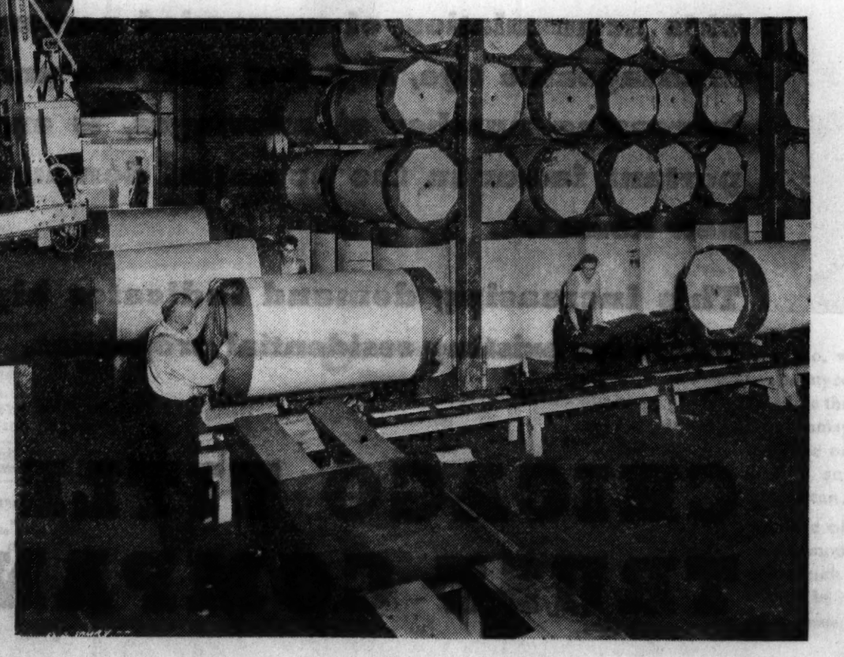
THIS IS THE M. S. CHICAGO TRIBUNE, designed and built by this newspaper to cut the costs of transporting newsprint paper. She is the flagship of the Tribune fleet, which contributes large savings in the transportation of pulpwood logs from timberlands to paper mill and finished paper from mill to the Tribune plant.



IN ORDER THAT THE BULKY ROLLS of newsprint paper could be unloaded from Tribune ships quickly and with minimum exertion on the part of men, special cranes were devised and installed at the Tribune dock on the Chicago river. Note how the tackle grips three rolls at a time and lifts them from the hold to the dock.



AT THE LEFT IS A TIERING MACHINE, or electric hoist, which stacks the rolls in storing position. The roll is pushed from the warehouse railway flat-car to the platform of the tiering machine. An electric motor elevates the platform to the height at which the roll is to be stored. Thanks to the Tribune's many ingenious paper handling aids, a boatload of paper can be unloaded and stored in a few hours' time.



STORING A SHIPLOAD OF PAPER in the Tribune warehouse requires no back-breaking work. The crane swings the paper onto a runway connecting with a narrow-gauge railway system which branches to all parts of the warehouse. Small flat-cars, each carrying one roll of paper, are sped by gravity to the location in the warehouse where the roll is to be stacked and stored.

THESE pictures show how the Tribune saves money and muscle in transporting and handling the more than 100,000 tons of newsprint paper it uses annually.

Until recent years newsprint paper was not considered suitable freight to take full advantage of the economies of water transportation.

The shape and weight of the rolls of paper allowed but relatively few of them to be stored in the hold of the conventional freighter, and because of their perishability they could not be carried on deck. Adequate equipment for loading and unloading the bulky rolls did not exist.

SINCE the Great Lakes connect the Tribune paper mill at Thorold and the Tribune plant at Chicago, the advantages of water transportation stimulated Tribune marine engineers to design a suitable ship.

The result was the Motorship Chicago Tribune, shown in the picture at the left. She was designed and built for the sole purpose of carrying newsprint paper. Her capacious hold and unique superstructure give her a capacity of 3,200 tons of paper—more than a week's supply for Tribune presses.

At the same time, special cranes were built to load and unload her cargo without damage. To facilitate the storing of the paper after it was unloaded, a special gravity railway system was laid down in the Tribune's Chicago warehouse. Mechanical tiering equipment for hoisting the rolls into storage position was also installed.

THIS economical system of transporting and handling paper is another of the reasons why the Tribune can pay the highest wages and yet deliver to advertisers as much as 56% more circulation per dollar than any other Chicago daily newspaper.

'Jewels' Well Done by San Carlo Group

BY HAZEL MOORE.

Just to show their versatility, the San Carlo Opera company presented a comparative novelty in Wolf-Ferrari's "Jewels of the Madonna" at the Auditorium theater last night. The American première of "The Jewels" was sung in 1912 in the Auditorium with Campanini conducting and Carolina White as Maliella. The composer had hurried from the opera's world première in Berlin in time to be here, but not to conduct his work in Chicago. The opera has always been more popular here than anywhere else in the world, possibly because it was so thoroughly rehersed in the beginning.

Last night's performanee kept up the tradition of being well done. Bianca Saroya reminded one more than once of her first predecessor, Carolina White, in the brightness and warmth of her tone, though she did not quite bite into the bitter phrases of the trink, trink, trink, ending with the surprising C-sharp, with the same zest.

The second of the three major parts was also in excellent hands with Onofrei cast as Gennaro, the pious adoring half brother to the wayward Maliella. There is plenty of singing to the rôle, and Onofrei was more than satisfactory. Mario Valle was the Black Hand Raffaele and handled the debonair gang leader with spirit and suave voice.

That Mr. Peroni is a conductor of great resource was well shown by the smoothness of the performance, done with but one short orchestra rehersal, and no geheral one.

At Orchestra hall Joseph Bentonelli made his first Chicago appearance in recital under the auspices of the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

Mr. Bentonelli has proved himself a versatile and fully equipped opera singer in his numerous appearances with the Chicago Civic Opera company. The recital field is always the greater test. He had chosen an eclectic program, starting and ending with an opera aria, the "L'Africaine," "O, Paradis!" and the "Cielo e Mar" from "La Gioconda." In between were two other arias, the "Ah, Lève-toi, Soleil!" from "Romeo and Juliette," and an air from Charpentier's "Louise," and songs in French, German, Russian, and English.

Mr. Bentonelli chose to sing two songs by Schumann in English, "Moonlight" and "Lotus Flower," and one by Grieg, "Eventide." The English was entirely understandable and the audience appreciated the English text.

Mr. Bentonelli's voice was fresh and beautiful. The quality is always lovely and the tone never forced. If there be any criticism it is a feeling that he sometimes uses a restraint in the top voice that could well be freed. His voice gave so much pleasure, however, that it was with regret that other duties called. He was beautifully accompanied by Isaac Van Grove.

Good Morning!

War; the love of two men for the same woman—each is a strong brew. Combine them and you have considerable TNT.

They are combined in "The Last Outpost."

The time is that of the world war. The locale the near east and Africa. Claude Rains is seen as a British intelligence officer. Cary Grant, as Capt. Michael Andrews of the British Tank corps campaigning in the near east, meets him in strange fashion at a time when the latter has been captured by Kurdish irregulars, during what the picture describes as one of "the backwaters of the war."

From then on the lives of Andrews and the man whom he knows only as "Smith" until well along in the action, oddly—and tragically—commingle.

Their experiences in the desert have made them fast friends—and Andrews has no idea that the lovely nurse with whom he falls in love is the wife of the man who has saved him from death—and whom he respects above all others. . . . So on to a finale that hands Andrews and his beloved everything—including, you may be sure—a large helping of regret.

From a story standpoint "The Last Outpost" isn't particularly hot. Scenically, it's arresting. There are some panoramas; some views of tribes and their animals crossing rushing rivers and surmounting apparently unclimbable mountains that are immense! Made me think of "Grass" and wonder, if, perhaps, some scenes of that great movie hadn't been "lifted."

The acting is all quite adequate and some of the mass action decidedly impressive.

The Stage

"Anything Goes," which was regarded as the most popular musical show in New York last season, will come to Chicago for an engagement at the Grand Opera house, opening Dec. 23. The company will be headed by its original stars, William Gaxton and Victor Moore, and will also feature Benay Venuta and Irene Delroy. This revue, which is still running in New York, will have rounded out a full year's performances there before the tour begins.

The music and lyrics are the work of Cole Porter, who recently scored another sweeping Broadway hit with his "Jubilee." The libretto was written by Guy Bolton and P. G. Wodehouse, with additions by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse.

The central rôle in "Her Master's Voice," the comedy by Clare Kummer which will be staged in the Studebaker theater for an engagement beginning Nov. 11, will be headed by James Spottswood, remembered for his appearances in "Excess Baggage," "June Moon" and "High Hat." Ann Dare will be the leading woman and Beverly Younger the ingenue. C. C.

Clever Skits for Revue of Service Club

Annual Show to Be Given Next Week-End

BY JUDITH CASS.

THESE last three days before the Service club's annual revue are very busy ones for the young women and men who will dance and sing on the stage of the Civic theater Friday and Saturday nights, for at the last moment there always is much polishing to be done, climaxing in a hectic dress rehersal, to be held on Thursday.

Those in charge of the revue, which is without a title because every Service club show is called "The Service Club Revue," claims that it is bigger and better than ever, of course, and those who have visited recent rehersals say the claim will be upheld by the performances.

Probably the funniest skit will be one about the Dionne quintuplets, for three young women who gained recognition last year as clever comediennes, Miss Emily Goehst, Mrs. Ralph Chatillon [Mary Elizabeth Reid], and Miss Beth Coleman, are in it. Miss Coleman and Edward Brown will be Mr. and Mrs. Dionne; Mrs. Chatillon will take the part of a nurse, and her husband will portray a theatrical producer. Miss Goehst will be Mrs. W. R. Hearst, and John Peter Theurer will have the part of Dr. Dafoe.

If there is a leading woman in the revue it is Miss Goehst, for she is in almost every skit and she will do one by herself, a lament entitled "The Floradora Baby." Mr. Theurer of the Princeton Triangle club plays will sing a solo, "Jim Dandy."

Mrs. Robert Hereford to Have Featured Part.

Mrs. Robert Hereford, who, as Thelma Jensen, was the leading lady in last year's show, will have a featured singing part in "Lucky the Bride," the opening scene of the second act. This scene should be one of the most effective, for the chorus will wear lovely yellow chiffon frocks with picture hats and chiffon muffs. Supporting Mrs. Hereford will be Milton Olin as a minister and George Neise as a bridegroom.

A rousing Mexican scene will be the finale of the first act with David Campbell as the featured dancer. John Goehst's powerful voice will dominate a lively skit, "A Night in Harlem," in which the dancers will black their faces. Mrs. George Shields, who came to Winnetka from Princeton N. J., as a bride not very long ago and is very pretty and charming, will dance to the tune of "I Like Your Style" with no less than 14 men. Mrs. A. Phelps Dunham, the former Dorothy Parsons, is another specialty dancer, but she is not new to Service club audiences.

Mrs. Paul Dodge will sing "Ghost Town Ballet" while the chorus dances in costumes that depend upon the lighting for their effectiveness. The stage will be entirely dark in one scene in which Mrs. Scott J. Dow Jr. will sing "Moonlight Madonna" and the chorus will dance in radium treated butterfly wings which will catch and reflect the house lights.

Mill Creek Hunt Trials on Nov. 10.

After deliberation with an eye to the convenience of duck and partridge shooters, William M. McIlvaine Jr. and Mahlon Ogden West have set the hunter trials of the Mill Creek hunt for Sunday, Nov. 10. The farmers who give the hunt the run of their lands always are guests of the hunt on this day, and there will be a barbecue luncheon for them and their families and the riders.

The trials begin at 10:30 o'clock, culminating in the award of the Mill Creek Hunt cup, and Mr. McIlvaine and Mr. West are hard at work on details of the competition.

St. Luke's Fashion Show Nets $25,000.

The net proceeds from the fashion shows given last Wednesday at the Stevens hotel by the woman's board of St. Luke's hospital will amount to more than $25,000, an increase of $2,500 over last year's receipts. The peak was reached in 1929 when $40,000 was cleared and in 1932 the proceeds were only $15,900, but there has been a steady rise since with $17,800 as the 1933 total. The first year the show was given, 1927, $32,305 was cleared for the hospital, and the next year the proceeds were $33,500.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

A FIGURE of tremendous interest to Notre Dame students is a new member of the faculty, Desmond Fitzgerald, member of the Irish dail and formerly a leader in the Sinn Fein revolt. Soldier, diplomat, dramatist, Desmond Fitzgerald was one of the protestors against the rule of Great Britain, and was in prison for three years as a result of his share in the revolt.

Mr. Fitzgerald—Fame—Movie Minded—Grandson—Mme. Nijinsky.

He is living in Dillon hall, occupying the same room Shane Leslie had last year. The walls in that room were splashed with vivid paint by Mr. Leslie according to an old Cambridge custom.

Almost any day Mr. Fitzgerald may be seen walking about the campus, talking to interested students and in the evening a group frequently gathers about him in the university restaurant to sip tea and exchange ideas.

The course he is giving is called "The Philosophy of Politics," which, according to our informant, gives instruction in the moral rights of governments and man.

IT happened in THE TRIBUNE classified advertising department. Some one mentioned Memphis, Tenn., and a young woman in that department commented that that was where she had seen the beautiful home of the founder of the Piggly-Wiggly chain.

"What was his name?" she asked.

"Walt Disney," answered a fellow worker.

THE gray haired man sitting back of Inez Geisbush at the opera the night "Tannhäuser" was presented whispered to his wife just before the third act curtain:

"What's the theme song of this act, Nellie?"

IT'S Charles Bloomfield's story. An old man who was a member of the G. A. R. died recently and his funeral was being held with military honors in a southern Illinois town. A salute was fired over his grave, and at the sound of the guns his widow, who was in a very nervous condition, fainted. The voice of her small grandson pierced the silence.

"O," he wailed, "they've shot grandma."

READERS who were fascinated with the biography of Nijinsky, the famous dancer, written by Romola Nijinsky, his wife, may be interested to know that she has just completed the editing of his diary, which is to be published shortly. But those who hope to find it entirely an emotional record will be disappointed, Mme. Nijinsky points out. It deals largely with his reflections on the ballet. However, her decision to publish it was influenced by the publishing of Arnold Haskell's new book on Diaghileff, which, in turn, is reputed to be a retort to her biography. She also is working on a book for children, a sort of a primer on dancing, to be elaborately illustrated.

MME. NIJINSKY is not the white faced, burning eyed, torn woman one might expect, but a charming looking creature with deep blue eyes and a beguiling smile. She is giving a series of lectures over the country. Most of them—she has seven subjects she submits—have to do with the art of the dance or the great ballet dancers.

"Usually when I finish talking some one comes up to ask me what I think of Ginger Rogers or Fred Astaire," she smiled.

Mme. Nijinsky lives in London. Gazing at the cloud of daffodil yellow tarletan through which the autumnal landscape was visible at Mrs. Edmond Raftery's in Geneva, at the luncheon table, she commented that she meant to have just such curtains herself "because they are so gay."

Her daughter, Kyra, who resembles her father, is in London, Mme. Nijinsky said. She is a dancer, too, and recently detailed to her mother her plans for five new ballets she wanted to produce. Because the mother's attention wavered, Kyra indignantly declined to tell her the plot of the fifth, the mother said. The daughter would only tell her this much—that it was a ballet in which no one moved at all!

Silver Brocade Undergarments Thrill Shoppers

They're Super-Creations for Evening Wear.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Luxury, and we don't mean maybe! What other year of spectacular fashions but this particular season could boast of such glorified foundation layers as some new arrivals just unpacked? We're still in sort of a coma after having the first look. Who wouldn't gasp after watching all-togethers and neat little girdles to wear under your evening clothes unwrapped from tissue paper and discover they were fashioned of glittering, shimmering silver brocaded material.

They are the most exciting things in the shop. No matter how strongly you feel either for or against lamés, metallics, or brocades, these new affairs are irresistible! What better foundation for all your evening creations than one of these super-creations?

You'll find breath-taking all-white numbers twinkling with back and front sections of white and silver brocaded fabric. The girdles have a tiny three leaf clover design; the all-in-ones a wavering, wandering, all-around thread design. The all-togethers are deeply gouged out in back. With them you can wear your most revealing evening gown, the white lace "bra" is of Alençon lace and the straps, thank goodness, are of gleaming white satin ribbon. That's a break for all of us who want the shoulder straps of the same color as the gown we're wearing. The white and silver girdles can be matched with separate all white lace "bras" and if you are wearing one of those tricky drop-shoulder gowns, you can have silver ribbons attached that will glimmer quite festively over the shoulders and still be practical.

These glamorous underlayers are also available in peach-pink with the same silvery brocade designs. The stuff is fully guaranteed not to tarnish and the decorative silver thread design is just on the outside and all scratching hazards are reduced to nothing. If you want decidedly different underlayers for your newest evening clothes, try these lovely new creations.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Since fashions and faces must harmonize there's sound sense in the background when a creator of fashions turns to helping women make the most of their faces. It's a good theory—and as one great couturiere has recently worked it out it's proved excellent in practice.

For one thing, a new line of fine cosmetics has been born. They're lovely products, designed by the couturiere to make faces beautiful as well as fashionable. We'll be telling you about particular products in these beige and brown containers from time to time, but right now we'd like to tell you about the "pre-view" box you can get at a Chicago shop which this week will serve as a grand, if amazingly inexpensive, introduction.

With the nice new products you can follow a simple, efficient routine of taking care of your skin and you can have your choice of some seven shades of filmy face powder and a whole flock of fine rouges and lipsticks. But as a starter do take a look at the "pre-view" box. In it you'll find a generous jar of the cleansing cream, white and fragrant, which is in the class of super-efficient cleansers. You'll find, too, our special pet called a night "feeding" cream, which has no other purpose than conquering dryness and softening lines. This is a cream the dry skinned woman should reach for eagerly. The fine oils in it will accomplish miracles in the way of skin softening.

Also in the box you'll find face powder, charming, feathery powder that clings in a gossamer veil. There are shades for just about every type from the fair blonde to the darkest brunette. The lipstick [that's in the pre-view box, too] is indelible as all get out, but what we care most about is the fact that it's creamy in texture and truly beautiful in its colors. The fifth find will be a choice of a skin tonic or a liquid foundation—this last a delightful skin freshener and a swell powder base as well.

If you want to get acquainted with new and particularly nice beauty aids, don't miss this box.

Annual Ball of Bailifs Will Be Held Thursday

Radio, screen, and stage stars will be among those present at the annual bailif's ball on Thursday in the Grand ballroom of the Hotel Sherman. The ball is held under the auspices of the Bailifs' Benevolent association, with receipts going to the general fund to care for disabled and sick bailifs. The organization was formed in 1912 by the late Anton J. Cermak.

"I know that Camay keeps my skin Smoother! Younger!"

SAYS THIS LOVELY LAKE FOREST BRIDE

LAKE FOREST, ILLINOIS
I am delighted with my complexion since I've been using Camay. I know that Camay keeps my skin smoother and younger.
Sincerely yours,
Ellen Sheffield
September 19, 1935 (Mrs. Thomas Sheffield)

ONE of last season's loveliest debutantes . . . one of this year's most beautiful brides . . . that's Ellen Wacker Sheffield for you.

She's a glamorous sort of person, you know . . . with her shining dark hair, rather inscrutable eyes and her perfect, glowing complexion. And when she tells us how much she likes Camay, her face lights up with charming vivacity and enthusiasm. There's no mistake about it—she is devoted to Camay!

Perhaps you, too, will be as pleased with this fine beauty soap as is Mrs. Sheffield—for it's true that almost from the very first use of Camay your complexion takes a new lease on life. It becomes finer, smoother, softer . . . fresh and lovely! And you can see it change.

That's because of Camay's gentle cleansing. You smooth on lots of that quick, creamy-rich lather . . . which smells heavenly, by the way—and it's ever so gentle to your skin. But this mild Camay lather is an active, thorough beauty treatment. For it leaves your skin clean as it's never been clean before. You'll see a new freshness . . . a new, finer texture. And how smooth and soft your skin will be!

Buy a half-dozen cakes of Camay today. Begin—now—to let Camay help you to greater beauty. The price? . . . Well, you'll get a pleasant surprise when you come to that! . . . It's so very low!

BORDER BREED

By William MacLeod Raine

SYNOPSIS.

Young Dan Clifford is driving a mule team carrying freight when he meets and befriends 17 year old Milly Sutherland. She and a young brother and sister are en route to Los Pinos, wild border town of the untamed west. Their father died on the way. In Los Pinos, Dan, through Polly Dobie, gets Milly work washing, and Ah Sin, a Chinaman, to help her. Jasper Ford, gambler and killer, forces his attentions on Milly. Dan publicly humiliates him. Ford swears revenge. Trouble brews between the gambling element and Mexicans. The salt lakes, long public property, are claimed by one Zack Black, representing the gamblers. Black, Lou Stone, and a group of gamblers are besieged at the salt lakes by Mexicans. Dan and his friend, Sam Jones of the rangers, act as peacemakers and accomplish their rescue. Lou Stone breaks with Ford. Milly and Dan become engaged, but when Dan is appointed sheriff Milly refuses to marry him, fearing he'll become a killer. Jonathan Edwards Hart, a famous killer, who was sent to prison 16 years before because of Ford's testimony, arrives in Los Pinos. He holds up the Last Chance. Dan, unarmed, arrests Hart. While Hart is out on bail, Ford shoots him, claiming self-defense.

INSTALMENT XXXVIII.

WITHIN THE LAW.

Except the two talking nobody else spoke. The outsiders did not move. They did not make a sound. This was a personal issue. Ford would not thank them if they interfered.

Clifford's voice was low and even. "You claim this killing was justified. It would be bad medicine to make a good case bad by resisting arrest."

"This is a frameup of my enemies. I won't stand for it. You are making a bluff, I suppose, that Hart didn't rob this place."

"No, I wouldn't say that. I think he did. Fact is, the money he took was found a little while ago."

"Where?" asked Wilkins.

"In the rain barrel below his window. He must have used that as a hiding place in case his room was searched."

Ford envisaged the situation. If it were true that Hart was practically proved guilty of the holdup, his own case was better than it had been. He had not only killed a desperado, but one who had already reverted to his evil ways. Practically he was in the clear. By killing Hart he had done the town a service and saved the officers danger and trouble. To have shot anybody else in the back would have been fatal. Even now there would be talk criticizing the way he had destroyed his enemy, but there could be no serious trouble about rubbing out a man with so terrible a record.

"I'm arresting him," Dan said.

"I'll surrender for trial if you will send one of your deputies here," the gambler announced.

"Why bother my deputies, Mr. Ford, since I am already here?" Dan asked, after a barely perceptible hesitation.

"Because I am not going to let you arrest me. That's why."

Dan felt himself hardening. He did not intend to leave the room without taking Ford with him. That all present were watching him he was aware. He felt their eyes stabbing at him. This was the hour of acid test for him. If he let Jasper Ford bluff him now it would be taken as a sign of weakness. His face betrayed nothing. When he answered his voice was cool, his manner imperturbable.

"Not much point to that. You can walk down the street beside me as well as you can beside Stone."

Ford said nothing. He did not lift his gaze from the marshal.

Nor did Dan shift his steady gaze.

"You don't want trouble, Jas," Wilkins broke in. "In this Hart business you are one hundred per cent to the good. Leave that lay as it stands. A difficulty with the marshal over that is bad medicine, like he has done mentioned. We know that." The owner of the place turned to Dan. "Now, Mr. Clifford, as I understand it you are not hurrahing Jas?"

"I'm arresting him," Dan said. "Call it anything you like."

The voice of the owner of The Last Chance was oily with unction.

"All you want, Mr. Clifford, is for Jas to surrender. If he gives you his word he will be at the sheriff's office inside of half an hour, will that be all right with you?"

Swiftly Dan came to decision. "Make it fifteen minutes," he modified.

"All right, fifteen minutes. That suit you, Jas?"

Ford nodded. "Get this right, Mr. Smart Aleck Marshal. I'm going because I'm in the clear and not afraid of all the officers in Texas. I was justified in getting Hart. The law can't touch me. I'm not surrendering because you have butted in with your say-so. I'd send you to hell on a shutter first."

"I don't care why you come, if you come," Dan said, meeting him eye to eye.

The young officer let his hard gaze travel slowly from one to another of the men in the room.

"Thanks for yore help in supporting the law, gentlemen," he told them derisively.

He turned and walked from the room. The eyes of the men followed his jaunty progress. His walk was as light and carefree as that of a buck in the rutting season.

"By God, he takes the cake," Black swore.

In their hearts the others agreed with him. In the end he might lose, but he would go down fighting.

"You going down to give yourself up, Jas?" asked Cooper with an insulting lift of the lip.

"I'm going to do just that, and you're going with me," answered Ford, fixing him with his black eyes. "We're going down the street together, all of us. We're going to show this town we stand as a unit."

Within a few minutes Ford and his associates marched down San Antonio street eight strong. Bond was accepted without demur. The sentiment of those in authority was that Hart was better dead if he had been about to resume his old wild ways. They might not approve of the manner in which he had been assassinated, but that was after all a detail. One could not be expected to be too punctilious in dealing with a man who had back of him such a record as that of Hart.

Dan met Obigod Jones in front of the courthouse.

"I've been ordered to take twelve rangers with me to the salt lakes country," the lank sergeant told his friend. "We're setting out today."

"To protect the rights of Ford and his company, I reckon," Dan said.

"Yes, sir. That's a fine use for Texas rangers, to help a bunch of crooks get away with their steal."

Dan nodded. No use to tell Jones what he already knew, that legally the locaters were within their rights.

"More trouble brewing?" he asked.

"Y'betcha! Have you seen Stone's notice in the paper, that he is no longer connected with the company in any way?"

"Yes. Too bad Black and Ford couldn't see it his way."

"Riding for a spill, those buzzards are," the ranger predicted. "Well, see you later, son."

Dan turned up Houston street. Presently his heart did a flip-flop. A young woman was walking toward him. He lifted his hat and stopped.

"Good evening, Miss Sutherland," he said, a little stiffly. He was not sure how familiar one ought to be with a girl to whom one has been engaged about three minutes in days past.

Milly said, "Good evening, Mr. Clifford." A tide of color had swept into her face. Otherwise she was quite composed.

"May I walk with you a little way?" he asked.

Her face registered a surprise that was wholly artificial. "If you like." He shortened his stride to match her steps.

Printed Advice Not Infallible, Parents Told

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

I laid the magazine down.

"Horrors!" I exclaimed to myself. "Will mothers believe that man, just because he has a name in this field? Will they take that stuff to heart?"

I had read only part of the article—I couldn't stand any more. Nor could I stand the thought that there were conscientious young mothers—young mothers who read everything they can find on child training—who might swallow all the uplifted, sentimental twaddle he wrote because of the name signed to the article and the magazine in which it appeared—mothers who would get all mixed up in their attempts to "do the right thing" by their chilren.

I felt as though I must sit down at once and write a warning to "reading" mothers—intelligent mothers who look for light between the covers of books and magazines—in fact, everywhere on the printed page. There is wisdom and help in abundance to be gained in that way, but—here is the warning:

Don't believe everything you read, no matter whose name is signed to it. Don't take anything on faith, unless you've had reason to trust that person's previous advice and unless it seems to you to be balanced and human.

When advice sounds a bit "precious" or strange to you, heed your intuition, your good old common sense—even your sense of humor or ridicule. Be open minded—be ready to learn always—but don't believe and follow everything you read that is written for parents and children.

of the Shenandoah valley and other scenic points south. Mr. Hackett left them to go to Texas, but will reach Chicago tomorrow. Mrs. Hibbard is making no plans for her guests until Mr. Hackett arrives, although Mrs. Charles H. Hamill, Mrs. Mitchell D. Follansbee, and other old friends who knew Mr. Hackett in his Chicago days are looking forward to entertaining for him and his wife. Mrs. Hackett, by the way, is herself an author, best known for her biography of Hans Christian Andersen, published under her own name, Signe Toksvig.

Mr. Hackett, widely known as the biographer of Henry VIII. and Francis I., formerly was a book reviewer and editorial writer in Chicago.

Mrs. Follansbee is back in town after a visit with her daughter and son-in-law, the Helmuth von Erffas, at Bryn Mawr, where Mr. Von Erffa is an instructor this year.

Robert Levys of N. Y. Guests of Ettlingers.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Levy of New York arrived yesterday morning to spend a week with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Ettlinger, at the Lake Shore Drive hotel. Mrs. Levy is the former Helen Hertz and she and her husband are just back from a ten months' wedding trip that took them around the world.

Mrs. Eleanor Hall Winterbotham of New York, who arrived on Saturday on her way to the west coast to sail for China, is leaving this morning. During the few days she was here she was the guest of the John Alden Carpenters, who entertained at dinner for her Sunday night.

Col. and Mrs. George T. Langhorne arrived at home yesterday from Europe, where he joined his wife in the summer after a hunting trip to Africa.

Mr. and Mrs. John High Noyes returned yesterday after a week-end trip of nearly 1,500 miles, with twenty-four pheasants for their reward. They went to Clark, S. D., Friday night for two days' shooting, and with the very best of luck they each shot the limit, six pheasants per person, on Saturday and Sunday.

Tea Today to Plan Doll House Showing.

Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank and D. F. Kelly have sent out invitations for this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Chicago Woman's club to discuss plans for the exhibit of the Colleen Moore doll house at the Fair store, starting Nov. 15. The exhibit will be for the benefit of crippled and destitute children of Chicago. Dr. Edwin W. Ryerson, the Rev. John W. Barrett, and Dr. Herman N. Bundesen will speak, after which tea will be served.

Clifton Utley will give the second of a series of lectures on "Current World Affairs" at the Woman's Athletic club this morning at 11 o'clock. This evening Mr. Utley will give the first of a series of four lectures at the Highland Park Woman's club under the auspices of the Rector's guild of Trinity Episcopal church.

There will be several dinner parties tonight in Lake Forest preceding the talk R. J. Cruikshank will give before the English Speaking union at Ferry hall. Mr. Hall, who is the house guest of Durand Smith, will speak on "Britain and the Present Crisis."

"Pageant of Beauty" Mural Is History of Woman's Loveliness

"A Pageant of Beauty," the unusual painting depicting a history of woman's loveliness through the ages by Mrs. Clara Fargo Thomas, the mural painter, was placed on exhibition yesterday in the Marshall Field galleries. It was done by Mrs. Thomas for Miss Elizabeth Arden and first exhibited in London at King George's jubilee.

The fourteen panels of the huge mural are painted in tempora on hollywood veneer. There are more than 125 human figures and seventy-five animals represented, every detail of the various historical periods having been authenticated by Mrs. Thomas by reference to the museums and picture galleries of this country and Europe.

Nefertiti, Akhenaten's queen, opens the series of beautiful women and is believed to represent the artist's conception of the most beautiful woman in history.

Justice of the Peace Henry Wallenwein performed the ceremony, and Mr. Graves and his bride left by plane Sunday for an eastern honeymoon. The bride is a graduate of Smith college. According to CULBERTSON

Proper technique at contract bridge, as in every other game or sport, is the first necessity for mastery of the game, but the mere technician can never rise to the rarefied atmosphere of the topmost heights. The true expert's bag of tricks includes a large quantity of mental "technique" which has little to do with the mere mechanics of the game and in which shrewd appraisal of one's opponents bulges importantly. The timely use of the "double cross" will pull more chestnuts out of the fire than an elementary grand coup. Of course, once the correct appraisal is made, results still depend upon the proper application to the case in point. Opportunities for such analyses occur dozens of times in the average bridge session. Whether, as declarer, it involves "reading a lead," or, as defender, inducing the wrong finesse, the principle is the same and the expert derives his supreme joy from his "personality" coups.

For instance, you are playing against a master player and he opens the ace of diamonds against your four spade contract. The dummy goes down with the ♦ Q 10 6 and your hand also contains three small diamonds. After the ace a small diamond is led. What should you play from dummy? The queen! Don't misunderstand me. I give you no guarantee that it will win the trick. But I can warant that the 10 will not. The opening lead was not from A J x. Such a blind opening would be unthinkable in a good player.

But suppose the leader, in your judgment, had gone just far enough in bridge to have learned that, holding A K x of a suit, the proper opening is the king. Then his lead of the ace pretty definitly denies the possibility of his holding the king as well, and your proper second play is, of course, the 10.

Similarly, on defense, you hold the queen of a suit in which dummy shows K J 10. Another suit is led to which you cannot follow and you have a choice of discards. Should you discard a small card from your queen? It depends entirely upon your estimate of the exact bridge psychology of the declarer, and, more difficult to determine, his estimate of yours. These gradations of judgment are infinitely subtle and, for that reason, one of the most fascinating phases of higher strategy. Pure "guesses" at bridge are much rarer than is popularly supposed.

The most hopeless hand may become a powerful weapon in the hands of a player who doesn't know what surrender means. In today's hand East used a deuce, a three, and a five spot to show his partner the winning defense against a slam.

	NORTH ♠ 9 8 5 3 ♥ A K 3 ♦ Q 6 5 ♣ J 9 7
WEST ♠ K 10 7 6 ♥ 10 7 ♦ K 7 4 ♣ Q 10 8 6		EAST ♠ 4 2 ♥ 9 5 ♦ J 10 9 8 3 2 ♣ 5 3 2
	SOUTH ♠ A Q J ♥ Q J 8 6 4 2 ♦ A ♣ A K 4

The bidding [neither side vulnerable]:

SOUTH	WEST	NORTH	EAST
1 ♥	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 N T	Pass
4 N T	Pass	5 ♥	Pass
6 ♥ [final bid]

West opened with the heart seven, which dummy won and led a spade. South's jack lost to the king and West returned a spade. After South had drawn trumps and cashed the spade ace, West still held the high spade, ending the hope of a club discard. So declarer ran all his hearts, hoping West would be torn between three clubs or two diamonds, and would guess wrong. West's choice would have been difficult, but East used his discouraging collection of junk to save his partner. For his first three discards East chose his clubs—deuce, three, then five. West, a player who kept his eyes open, noticed that the four spot was missing from the series of clubs tossed by his partner and knew that South must hold this card. Therefore he threw away his diamonds and saved the queen and two other clubs. That spelled finish for the declarer and he lost the last trick to the club queen.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: As dealer I hold ♠ A K 3, ♥ A K, ♦ 8 7 6 3, ♣ 9 5 4 2. What should I bid?

Answer: You should bide one club, although the suit is far from strong enough to bid ordinarily. With four honor tricks it is worse to pass than to bid a weak suit, and there is little danger that your partner will raise you to game in clubs. The one club bid is, therefore, a choice of the lesser of two evils.

Tomorrow.

Tomorrow Mr. Culbertson will discuss the technique of irregular or deceptive leads as a necessary part of every player's répertoire and how to use them in connection with conventional leads and plays.

Tuesday is Expert's day in Ely Culbertson's column. Write your bridge comments, suggestions, and interesting hands to him, care of this paper. For questions, remember to enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Notes on 1870 Beauty Provide Hearty Laugh

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

If you want to get a hearty laugh, and treat yourself to the right to a superior lift of the eyebrow, you should read a chapter from Herbert Asbury's "All Around the Town" [Alfred A. Knopf], on a woman of fashion in the '70's and thereabouts. If our current flock of men thinks we women are a bit nutty in our pursuit of the age old game of looking "what we ain't," they just ought to read what their forebears were up against.

The worst that can happen to our men today is to carry off a telltale print of rouge should the lady be too irresistible. The poor forebears had to work through an enamel mask before they could get any such response. More often they were held at arm's length for that enamel mask didn't bear any trifling. The poor girl behind the mask didn't dare smile for fear her complexion would come tearing down around her.

The women who really set the pace in New York during the 1870's, Asbury reports from reliable records, went in for plastic enamel in a great big and outrageously expensive way. Scores of studios were in operation at the time. Some advertised an enamel coating that would last a year, providing the lady kep away from a wash basin. Soap and water wouldn't remove the enamel, only discolor it. It took a special solvent to remove it.

The popular procedure, however, was enameling that would last anywhere from a week or two to three months. The cost of this performance, Asbury reports, was from $10 to $20 a treatment, according to the enamel thickness, we gather, also the swank of the particular studio. A year's contract for the enameling upkeep ran from a $1,000 to $1,500.

And those were the "good old days," yes?

Intelligence Usually Wins in the Long Run

BY HUGO WESTERBERG.

A physiognomical study of prominent persons makes one think that the importance of intelligence for successful careers has been somewhat overrated. The ambition and the emotional makeup of the individual are far more consequential, judging by the features of these eminences. Certain strong desires are always present, with a temperamental stability, while the question of high grade brains, judged by their performances, is a doubtful one.

MYRNA LOY.

Intelligence in my definition is the ability to decide what is right and what is wrong action for a purpose. The choice of purpose may also be a matter of intelligence, but only rarely so. Most of us find our big aims settled by opportunity and the little ones by custom. However, opportunity does not exactly sidestep the intelligent person.

Myrna Loy, the movie actress, has a sensitive, pointed nose tip and a short, sensitive upper lip. The first may cause her hurt feelings, painful to her pride and self-respect. The second may cause her to worry unnecessarily about it and about many other things that appear imminent, but never happen. Against these traits she has the faith of an idealist and the unbreakable will of a conscientious worker. These last will triumph.

Do you know the 8th WOMAN?

Her poise is explained by one word!

WHY be miserable, or even uncomfortable certain days of every month? Be that eighth woman who lets Midol carry her serenely through those difficult days. There used to be eight million sufferers every month. Today a million women escape this regular martyrdom to pain.

You can depend on Midol. Tiny tablets, white and tasteless. Not narcotic. A merciful medicine which specialists recommend for regular pain.

Must you favor yourself, and save yourself, certain days of every month? Nature doesn't keep the woman who uses Midol off the links—or from all the other strenuous activities. It means freedom!

This truly remarkable medicine may be taken any time, preferably just before the expected pain. This precaution often avoids the pain altogether. But Midol is effective even when the pain has caught you unaware and has reached its height. It is effective for hours, so two tablets should carry you through your worst day.

Remember, the smallest degree of relief you might get from Midol means a great deal to your comfort.

You get these tablets in a trim little aluminum case. All druggists have them—they're usually right out on the toilet goods counter. If you are now a periodic sufferer, why not become the eighth woman who escapes this recurring pain and discomfort? Address a card, now, to Midol, 170 Varick St., New York, and receive a trial box postpaid.

Seafood Sauce Fills Seasonal Cuisine Need

Recipes Achieve Tang of Professional Kinds.

BY MARY MEADE.

The tossing together of a zippy cocktail sauce for seafood isn't much of a trick. It doesn't even take a particularly impressive list of provisions. However, in this R-ster month we've been swamped with queries about how to make these sauces with truly professional tang.

With two such cocktail sauce recipes in her répertoire, one for shrimp and crabmeat and the like and the other for oysters or clams, the hostess is pretty well set for anything in the line of seafood that may turn up at her house. Even without bothering much with fancy variations she's sure of all sorts of well deserved compliments on these:

Cocktail Sauce—I.
[For shrimp or crabmeat.]

¾ cup catsup
2 tablespoons chili sauce
1 tablespoon horseradish
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce

Mix the ingredients thoroughly and chill.

That takes care of the firm pinkness of fat shrimps, or the delicate flavor of crabmeat or lobster, in fine fashion. Now, here's a sauce created especially to flatter the plump, juicy, flavorsome bivalves:

Cocktail Sauce—II.
[For oysters or clams.]

¼ cup chili sauce
¼ cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons minced celery
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 tablespoon vinegar
Few drops tabasco sauce
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Mix together well and chill.

While we're on the seafood subject today we're reminded of two small booklets you may want to look up. Like the rest of the series in which they come, they're written for restaurants and hotels, but they've a great deal to offer the homemaker.

The first is called "Oyster Profits." In compact fashion it discusses the source of oysters, points in their purchase, care, and preparation, their place on the menu, and how to serve them. In addition there are more than forty quantity recipes [a point if you're chairman of the next church supper], and fifty menu suggestions built around oysters. The booklet is copyrighted by J. O. Dahl, sells for just a quarter, and may be purchased for less in bulk when ordered by school teachers.

The second booklet, another of the "Little Gold Book" series, is a dictionary of seafood. In our opinion it's an even more valuable adjunct of the home kitchen library than the oyster book, because of its excellent marketing information. Every edible fish from abalone to whitefish is listed, described as to source, season, size, edible portion, its general method of preparation, together with canny tips as to its purchase. Better look it up if you're interested in increasing the variety of seafood in your menus or in thrifty marketing.

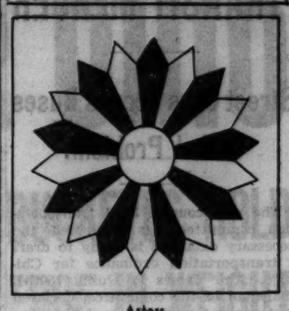
Asters Provide Pattern of New Block in Quiltdom



Asters.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Asters" is considered a comparatively new block because examples of the design never have been located among the "old timers" in the quilt world. The pattern is most attractive when made of printed material in shades of lavender and yellow. A more modern arrangement employs pink and blue with a yellow center. The block is not small. It measures 18 inches square when completed.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

Tour of American Ballet Ends After Two Weeks in East

The American ballet which was to have appeared at the Civic Opera house on Nov. 8, 9, and 10, and which was to have included one matinée performance in connection with the Chicago City Opera company on Saturday, Nov. 9, ended its tour in Scranton, Pa., when managerial difficulties appeared. The company had completed two weeks of the scheduled cross country tour.

Two nights of the Chicago engagement were to have taken the form of benefits, the first for the Bohemians of Chicago and the second for the Women's Trade Union league.

QUINN SAYS TIME IS RIPE TO ACT ON TRANSIT MERGER

Street Cars Versus Buses Called Problem.

The city council local transportation committee has assembled the necessary data and is ready to draft a transportation ordinance for Chicago, Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], chairman of the committee, declared yesterday at a luncheon of the City club in the Hotel Sherman.

He added a plea for approval of the utilities home rule act at the referendum in April, predicting that it would facilitate extensions and improvements of service for which Chicago now has to petition the Illinois commerce commission.

Tells Revaluation Need.

Ald. Quinn also reiterated Mayor Kelly's declaration that the various local transportation properties of the city must be revalued as a preliminary to setting up a new financial structure for the proposed unified system.

Under the present valuations, which would be a factor in fixing fares, the lines are carrying on their books obsolete equipment and abandoned trackage, he charged, while all the valuations are based on boom period prices of materials and construction.

It is a moot question, Ald. Quinn asserted, whether the electric street car should be supplanted by buses. Members of the local transportation committee, on their recent junket, were given widely varying answers on this issue, he said.

Cites Solution in New York.

"We have been told," he said, "that in a city like Chicago, with the special problems of concentration arising from the loop, the only way to empty the loop is by street cars. But we found that in other places the motor bus can be used. New York is tearing up its street car tracks rapidly. All the tracks of that city's major company will be removed by next April, and the advantages to business on those streets are unquestioned."

The committee headed by W. Rufus Abbott, appointed several months ago by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson to draw up proposals for the financial reorganization and unification of the four Chicago street car companies, which already have unified operation as the Chicago Surface Lines, will be ready for formal presentation to the judge today, it is expected. The provisions of the proposal were made public yesterday. The street car companies are in receivership before Judge Wilkerson.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Frank Ridgway

Quick Corn Picking

THIS column in the future will deal more generally with questions relating to agriculture instead of being limited to material concerning activities on The Tribune Experimental farms near Wheaton and Yorkville. During the last two seasons this space has been devoted to day by day reports of happenings on these two farms, emphasizing particularly the experiments being made with crops and tests in live stock breeding and feeding. These reports will continue to appear under the above heading, but along with them will be discussions of farming problems, and experiences and views of other farmers. The column will serve as a medium of exchange for those readers in the country and in the city who are interested in questions relating to agriculture.

October 28, 1935.

CORN is being picked and elevated into cribs at the rate of about 800 to 1,000 bushels a day at The Tribune Experimental farm near Yorkville. With favorable weather Clarence Thurow, farm manager, plans to have the 400 acres left for the pickers harvested and in the cribs by Thanksgiving.

With the machinery all "broken in" and the picker hands hardened to their task, the men are wishing for cool, snappy weather to dry out the corn and give them ideal conditions for harvesting the bumper crop of corn, the best one grown on the farm in many years.

A flock of fifty or more wild geese going south flew over the tall, white silo at the farm the other day, a sure sign of colder weather, according to Mr. Thurow.

"The honking of those old geese headed south is music to the corn pickers' ears," he said. "It means snappy weather which will help dry out the corn and make it easier to break the ears off the stalks.

"With cooler weather we can increase our hours in the fields. The faster we pick the corn the fewer bushels will be lost from rotting in the fields. We have the best crop of high grade corn grown here in more than thirty years. Practically none of it has been damaged so far, although some of the stalks were blown over so that a few of the ears touch the ground. If we are fortunate enough to get all of our corn in the cribs within the next five weeks we will be ahead of the heavy snows and save almost every ear."

Both mechanical and hand pickers are being used in gathering the corn. Three hand pickers go ahead of the mechanical outfits and open up "lands" eighty rows wide, picking five rows to make way for the picker and wagon. Ten rows also are picked across each end to make room for easy turning.

Four men are required to run the two one-row pickers—one man on each of the pickers and one with each machine to haul in the corn and unload it by means of an elevator. Horses are used to haul in the corn from the field to the cribs. Tractors are used to furnish power on the pickers and elevators. The tractor also draws a wagon along by the side of the picker, saving the use of one team. On the picker snapping rollers break off the ears, which are immediately elevated to a second set of husking rollers that remove the shuck before the corn is elevated into the wagon as the outfit moves across the field. Extra wagons are used so that the picker can be kept moving every hour the corn is dry enough to be picked.

URGE EXTENSION OF ELEVATED TO BROOKFIELD ZOO

A total of 2,675,072 persons visited the Brookfield zoo between the opening date of July 1, 1934, and the end of last month, Edward H. Bean, director, said yesterday in urging extension of the Douglas Park branch of the elevated to the zoo. He testified at a hearing before the Illinois Commerce commission that present transportation facilities are inadequate and too expensive. He predicted that if the line were extended and a single fare charged many more people would visit the center. Attorney Wenley Hildebrand, president of the Crawford-Lawndale Community council, composed of 25 organizations of western suburbs, asserted that 70 per cent of the visitors to the zoo arrive over a combination of traction lines.

COMMUNITY FUND NEARS 60 PCT. OF CAMPAIGN GOAL

Five Industries Go Over Their Quotas.

BY KAY HALL.

Reports of community fund workers yesterday brought the 1935 campaign pledges near 60 per cent of the $3,200,000 goal. At a luncheon of the trades and industries division in the Palmer house group, captains chalked up a total of $1,889,821 in pledges, an increase of $173,988 over the last report.

Five industries reported pledges that put them "over the top" on their quotas. The first of these to surpass its goal was the wholesale millinery business, which was solicited by workers in charge of R. J. Klemperer. Having raised $3,632, this group scored 101 per cent.

Reports of Other Sections.

The other sections, the amounts raised to date and their above quota percentages were as follows: Dry goods and department stores under George W. Young, $95,599, or 105 per cent; mail order houses under Walter Hoving, $137,839, or 103 per cent; packing houses under Philip L. Reed, $246,970, or 111 per cent, and women's ready to wear under Sam Eisenberg, $13,529, or 128 per cent.

The community fund movement was described by James T. Nicholson, manager of the Chicago chapter of the Red Cross and principal speaker at the luncheon as an investment for the common welfare. "It is an investment from which large returns are being reaped," Mr. Nicholson said.

Next Report Nov. 7.

The next report luncheon for the trades and industries division will be held Thursday, Nov. 7. Clarence B. Randall, chairman, urged that clean up reports in all sections be turned in at that time.

"The campaign is going to close when you finish it," he told the volunteers. Philip D. Armour, general chairman of the drive, announced the distribution of pledge material is now 97 per cent complete.

Snow Storm Blankets 3 Canadian Provinces

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 28.—(AP)—An old fashioned October snowstorm whipped out of the north country today, taking an icy clutch on Saskatchewan and Alberta. Manitoba, too, felt the fast approach of winter. A heavy blanket covered the foothill province of Alberta from the international boundary as far north as Lesser Slave lake. At Edmonton the temperature was 11 degrees above zero. Keg River reported 12 degrees below zero.

AIR TRANSPORT OFFICE WILL BE MOVED TO CITY

Chicago More Accessible than Washington.

The Air Transport section of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce will be transferred to Chicago from Washington within 10 days to make its services more accessible to members, airline officials announced last night following a meeting in the Palmer house. The section is a statistical clearing house for air lines.

W. A. Patterson, president of United Air lines, was appointed chairman of a committee to supervise removal of the organization and to select quarters. "We feel that the removal of headquarters to Chicago, through which most of the member lines operate, will enable more frequent meetings to be held where joint problems affecting the industry can be solved," Mr. Patterson said.

The organization is part of the aeronautical chamber formed in 1921 to encourage the use of aircraft. Fowler Barker, secretary of the air transport section, and his staf, will be moved here while the manufacturers' section will remain in Washington.

At yesterday's meeting the group also voted approval of a program designed to focus public attention on improved flying methods to stimulate winter trafic. The committee, headed by Mr. Patterson, also will study a more effective plan to coördinate the work of the various flying companies.

Members of the committee include Jack Frye, president of Transcontinental and Western Air; T. E. Braniff, president of Braniff airlines; C. R. Smith, president of American Airlines; Paul Collins, president of National Airways; Paul Brattain, vice president, Eastern Airlines, and Croil Hunter, vice president, Northwest Airlines.

Others attending the meeting were J. D. Condon, Central Airlines; T. Park Hay, Transcontinental and Western Air; Rogers Humphreys, Chicago and Southern Airlines; J. T. Baker, National Airlines; W. J. Austin, Pennsylvania Airlines, and Paul D. Selby, Hanford Tri-State Airlines.

NOTRE DAME BUILDS PASS DEFENSE FOR OHIO

HOW DID BEARS LOSE? IT STILL PUZZLES FANS

Choice of Plays Is Debated Topic.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

The second guessing was terrific yesterday in professional football circles, where fans and players alike were still attempting to figure out how Green Bay scored twice in less than three minutes Sunday to beat the Bears, 17 to 14, and knock them out of first place in the western division of the National league.

BERNIE MASTERSON.

Meanwhile the Cardinals rode back from New York jubilant over a 14 to 13 triumph, also scored in the closing minutes.

Local interest was divided between criticizing the Bears and sympathizing with them. Bernie Masterson, the quarter back, was berated for trying a flat pass on second down from the six yard line in the second quarter. This pass was intercepted by Hank Bruder of Green Bay and returned 14 yards to his own 18 yard line.

Score on Criticized Play.

Lavie Dilwig, for years one of the greatest ends in professional football when with the Packers, said between halves this was poor generalship. Most of the 29,386 present agreed with Dilwig. Two quarters later, however, Green Bay used the same play in almost the identical situation and scored with it, Herber passing to Hutson in the flat for three yards on third down to decide the game.

Masterson's pass might have been just as successful if the ball had not been tipped by a lunging Green Bay lineman just as it left his hand. The advisability of calling this play might be questionable, but football students hesitate to condemn the Bear quarter back, especially after Green Bay's success with the maneuver in the same spot.

Calls Three Passes in Row.

Masterson, however, was not so easily defended in several other instances. There appeared little excuse for his calling three forward passes in a row, then kicking midway in the third quarter after the Bears had marched from their own 36 yard line to the Packers' 45. The three passes failed and Feathers had to punt on fourth down.

Some criticism was directed at him for not resorting to the Bears strongest running plays after the kickoff following the 69 yard pass, Herber to Hutson, had cut the Bears' margin to 14 to 10, with two and one-half minutes to go. Masterson attempted to hit the center of the line and a fumble resulted as he tried to hand the ball to a back. Ernie Smith recovered for Green Bay on the Bears' 13 yard line and the Packers went on from there to their last score.

Herber to Hutson Passes Click.

The mistakes Masterson made, however, were not as responsible for the loss of the game as the superb passing of Herber and the matchless receiving of Hutson, the combination which has defeated the Bears almost single handed twice this year for the only setbacks the former champions have suffered.

This combination composes the most feared aerial attack in the National league today. It takes the place of the old Harry Newman to Ken Strong team which passed the Giants to many victories the last few years and matches the Green Bay Lewellen to Blood combination which ruled the National league five years ago.

Bears Miss Mander's Speed.

The success of the Herber-Hutson duo in Sunday's game may be attributed to the fact that Jack Manders, the Bears' big full back, was not in the game. He had been replaced by Gene Ronzani. Manders, much faster than Ronzani, had kept the fleet Hutson well covered most of the day. Ronzani, the hardest charging back on the Bear squad, was no match for the former Alabama all-American in a race into the open.

Sunday's defeat did not put the Bears out of the championship race, but it placed them under a handicap which later may prove insurmountable. Two games remain with the Cardinals, who went back to playing football at New York Sunday after a vacation and defeat at Pittsburgh the week before. The Cardinals have been beaten only once and have met three of the four teams expected to give them the most trouble. These teams, Detroit, New York, and Green Bay, were unable to conquer the Chicagoans. The Packers lost to them twice and Detroit, which comes to Wrigley field Sunday for the second game of the series, held them to a 10 to 10 tie.

The Bears will seek to remain in the race at New York Sunday where the Giants are threatened with the loss of their star back, Ken Strong. It was feared yesterday Strong had suffered a broken shoulder against the Cardinals.

CHARGE BETS ON COACHES' PICKS PERIL FOOTBALL

Survey Shows Gambling Is Widespread.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 28.—(AP)—John Da Grosa, president of the American Football institute, asserted today that some of the country's leading football coaches unwittingly are promoting a gambling mania which threatens to undermine the foundations of the game.

"Predictions of winners and possible score forecasts in weekly newspaper articles and radio broadcasts by prominent coaches have unintentionally developed a gambling mania throughout the country from which even the small high school children are not immune," said Da Grosa in announcing the results of a survey made by the research institute he founded.

Da Grosa, who played at Colgate and was line coach at Georgetown and Temple university, is a member of the faculty of the Temple university school of commerce.

Finds Racketeers Profit.

"For the last two years," he said, "the American Football institute has been investigating the tenacious growth of gambling in connection with football. We have visited schools and colleges throughout the nation and were truly amazed at our findings.

"Gambling on football results has developed to an alarming degree. Thousands of large and small racketeers are reaping a golden harvest at the expense of a gullible public which weekly stakes hundreds of thousands of dollars upon its ability to select winners in a given number of football games. The racketeers draw this illicit income from the school boy and girl who risk a few pennies as well as from the business man who bets his dollars.

Come Back for More.

"Following, in a majority of cases, the selections of famous coaches, Mr. Public makes his bets and loses his money. Yet week after week the gullible victim goes back for more, inspired by his favorite coach's confident selections of the morrow's winners.

"As a result of these newspaper articles and broadcasts, many coaches, and even players, have found themselves in the unpleasant position of receiving numerous telephone calls asking for special information concerning certain games. This is a most unhealthy and unwholesome condition that brings the coach and player entirely too close to organized gambling and is against the best traditions of the game."

O'MAHONEY WINS QUICK DECISION OVER GEORGE

New York, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Amid much groaning, Danno O'Mahoney, young Irish wrestling champion, hurled back the challenge of Ed Don George of North Java, N. Y., for the third time tonight to defend successfully his world's heavyweight title before 10,000 spectators in Madison Square Garden. O'Mahoney weighed 220 and George 218.

The end came with startling suddenness and the quick decision was roundly booed by the gallery. After slightly over five minutes of more or less enthusiastic grappling, O'Mahoney slugged George to the mat with his elbows, quickly applied a body straddle and it was all over but the booing.

The victory was in the nature of a celebration for O'Mahoney. Tonight he announced his engagement to Miss Esther Burke, a Cambridge, Mass., nurse. The wedding will take place in the near future.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BIG TEN TITLE.

FIVE teams remain undefeated in the race for the Big Ten title after Saturday's contests in which Iowa, by grace of a strong line, Ozzie Simmons and Dick Crayne, relegated Illinois to the defeated division. Those still with clean slates are Ohio State, Minnesota, Purdue, Michigan, and Iowa.

Readers should remember that, officially, there is no such animal as a Big Ten champion because it is impossible for all teams to play one another. Percentages and public opinion, however, place one or more elevens, if more than one be undefeated, in that category.

Survivors after next Saturday will be reduced to four or less because Purdue invades Minnesota terrain. Although the Boilermakers were taken for an unexpected ride by Carnegie Tech, three times loser previously, it does not count against Kizer's crew in the Big Ten ratings.

Other conference affairs are Indiana at Iowa and Illinois at Northwestern. Michigan takes on Pennsylvania at home while Ohio State engages unbeaten Notre Dame at Columbus. Chicago and Wisconsin rest after their strenuous tilt at Stagg field.

So that any one who wishes may figure title chances for himself, here are remaining games of the five now heading the parade:

Iowa—Indiana at Iowa City, Minnesota at Iowa City, Purdue at Lafayette, Northwestern at Evanston.

Michigan—Illinois at Champaign, Minnesota at Ann Arbor, Ohio State at Ann Arbor.

Ohio State—Chicago at Chicago, Illinois at Columbus, Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Looking over those dates, Iowa has yet to meet two of the five now at the top, Michigan also two, Minnesota three of five, Purdue two of five, and Ohio State only Michigan, which most forecasters will make a heavy underdog. Theoretically, at least, Ohio State has the easiest task and Minnesota the hardest.

Dixie Shadows.

Did you ever see the shadows
On a cotton field at night,
When a gold moon painted pictures
On this great expanse of white?
Did you ever see the shadows
Of a mocking bird at play
As he sang an evening aria
To this picture on display?

Did you ever see the shadows
Into an old home creep,
Where Mammy sang a little song
And Dixie fell asleep?
And don't you love these shadows
That memory keeps in hand?
To live again your childhood days
In dear old Dixie land!

IOWA HAS POWER BUT IT'S A LONG WAY FROM TITLE

Minnesota, Purdue, N. U. Bar Hawkeyes' Path.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Iowa possesses a splendid football team, admirably balanced with an aggressive line, a superb ball carrier in Oze Simmons, a dependable plunger, kicker, passer, and blocker in Capt. Dick Crayne. Iowa has won four games. The Hawkeyes are undefeated and it is entirely natural they now should vision possibility of sharing the western conference championship.

Iowa plays Indiana Saturday, and then follows with successive games against Minnesota, Purdue, and Northwestern. Iowa may confidently expect to whip Indiana, although last year these teams fought a scoreless deadlock. The Minnesota game may find Iowa's line overpowered with the result that Simmons will be no more effective than a year ago when Minnesota won 48 to 12. In other words, Iowa has a giant task ahead to win a portion of the Big Ten championship.

Iowa Encounters Trouble.

For particular warning, at this time, the Hawkeyes should check up on their showing against Illinois. Iowa won, 19 to 0, an impressive score, but almost any team except Illinois, which admittedly has no threat through the line, might have scored on several occasions. Iowa, by fumbles, and by interception of its passes, was in trouble several times. Moreover, Iowa's second touchdown was the direct result of a 15 yard penalty and the third touchdown was negotiated after interception of an Illinois pass and one successful end around play which put the ball on the Illini five yard line.

Simmons' 71 yard run for the first touchdown was an individual contribution after he had dashed between Illinois' right tackle and right guard. Against Indiana, Minnesota, and other opponents, it remains to be seen if the Iowa line can give the colored star similar chances.

Iowa Misses Opportunity.

Iowa failed to capitalize on its first scoring opportunity in the opening period when Lannon recovered Spurgeon's fumble on Illinois' 20 yard line. After five plays by Simmons, the ball passed over on downs at Illinois' 25 yard line.

Then twice in succession Illinois had excellent opportunities. The first was a result of Spurgeon's interception of Crayne's pass and run back to Iowa's 21 yard line. This chance was nullified by a 15 yard penalty for holding. After an exchange of punts, Spurgeon returned Crayne's kick 20 yards to Iowa's 21 yard line. Here, on third down with five yards needed, Henry's forward pass barely missed the receiver's hands, and bounced to Iowa's Akin.

Illini Gets Chance.

With Minnesota, for instance, given these chances, Iowa might not have fared so well.

In the second quarter Illinois reached Iowa's 24 yard line, an advance of 20 yards.

Illinois' fourth and best opportunity came in the third period. Again it was a result of an Iowa fumble, this time by Simmons as he was tackled after taking a high lateral from Bowlin. Theodore recovered on Iowa's 26 yard line.

Three plays and Illinois advanced to Iowa's 9 yard line. Here, once more, Illinois needed more line strength. Not having it Illinois sent Grieve on a sweep at Iowa's left end for no gain and then Crayne intercepted Spurgeon's forward pass to relieve the pressure.

Make 52 Yard Advance.

Iowa's second touchdown was made after a 52 yard advance, which included a 36 yard run by Simmons on the same play by which Oze had scored the first touchdown. But the Hawkeyes must remember that the Illini forced Simmons back from the six to the 17 yard line only to have a 15 yard penalty for unnecessary roughness place the ball on the two yard line from which point Crayne plunged for the touchdown.

Iowa's third touchdown resulted

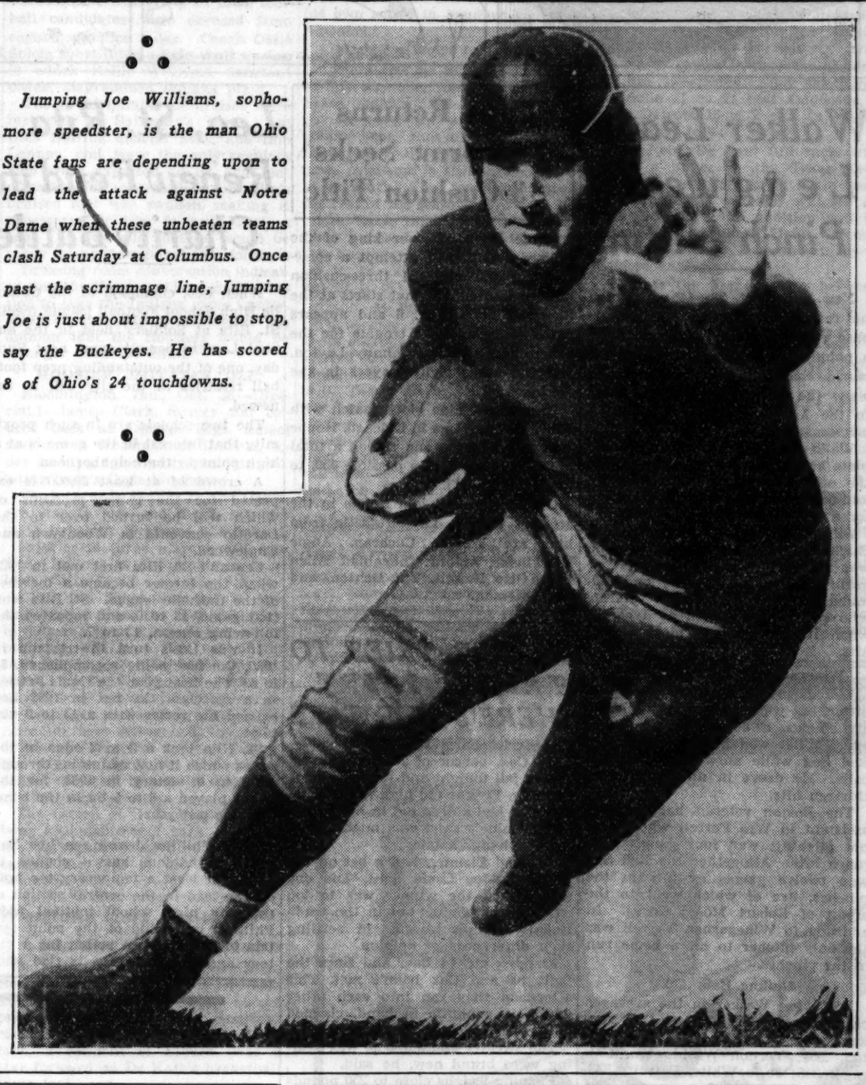
WANT A TOUCHDOWN? GIVE BALL TO JOE!

Jumping Joe Williams, sophomore speedster, is the man Ohio State fans are depending upon to lead the attack against Notre Dame when these unbeaten teams clash Saturday at Columbus. Once past the scrimmage line, Jumping Joe is just about impossible to stop, say the Buckeyes. He has scored 8 of Ohio's 24 touchdowns.



Celebron Wins Technical K.O. Over Tonelli

Billy Celebron, Rockford, Ill., welterweight, scored a quick technical knockout victory over Laddie Tonelli of Marseilles, Ill., last night at Marigold Gardens.

Celebron, protégé of former lightweight champion Sammy Mandell, floored Tonelli for a count of three with a right to the jaw and a second knockdown caused Tonelli's seconds to toss in a towel after 1:41 of the first round. Tonelli won a split decision in the first meeting several weeks ago. Celebron weighed 147 pounds and Tonelli 146.

Willie Davis, 134½, Mexico, outpointed Aubrey Martin, 137, Beckley, W. Va., in the six round semi-final, and Pat Murphy, 147¼, Terre Haute, Ind., stopped Joe Richards, 145, Chicago, in the third round of a five rounder.

Sailor Born, 136, Atlanta, Ga., and Davey White, 135, Chicago, drew in four rounds, and Mickey O'Shea, 150½, Chicago, won by a technical knockout over Danny Melillo, 149, Cincinnati, in the third of another four rounder.

Kieckhefer Wins First Two Blocks of Layton Match

Augie Kieckhefer won the first two blocks of his three cushion billiard match with Johnny Layton, world champion, yesterday afternoon and last night at Kieckhefer's recreation. The scores were 50 to 46 in 57 innings and 50 to 36 in 51 innings. High runs in the afternoon were Layton 6 and Kieckhefer 7 and in the evening Kieckhefer 5 and Layton 6. The match is to go 400 points. They will play again today at 3 and 8 p. m.

BUCKEYES HOLD EDGE IN WEIGHT FOR SATURDAY

Columbus Battle to Draw 87,000.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—Notre Dame this afternoon started preparations for its greatest test of the season—the battle with Ohio State Saturday at Columbus which will attract more than 87,000 fans who believe that the winner may go on to a national championship.

Ohio has won four games in a row, whipping Kentucky, Drake, Northwestern and Indiana. Notre Dame has piled up five straight victories, over Kansas, Wisconsin, Carnegie Tech, Pittsburgh, and Navy.

Fears Ohio Passes.

The Ohio passing attack, which has gained an average of more than 145 yards a game and which features laterals as well as forwards, is just one of the things that was worrying Coach Elmer Layden of Notre Dame today. The superior weight of the Buckeyes in both line and back field was another. Third was the fact that Coach Francis Schmidt has veterans available almost three deep in every position, while the Irish have only three regulars from last year in the starting lineup.

Notre Dame's respect for Ohio's passes was shown in today's practice, in which the backs went through a long workout on methods of stopping laterals and forwards. Linemen held a brief scrimmage.

May Be Air Battle.

The success of Notre Dame's own passing attack against Navy last Saturday has led many observers to believe that the battle at Columbus will be decided in the air. The Irish completed five out of nine passes for 104 yards. Previous to the game with the Middies the Notre Dame aerial attack had been considered mediocre.

Comparative figures give Ohio State a big edge, but it must be remembered that much of the Ohio yardage was gained in the 85-7 rout of Drake. The Buckeyes' average score has been 40 points, against slightly more than 18 for the Irish. First downs average 23 to 12 in favor of Ohio, and, while Notre Dame has averaged only three completed passes a game, the Buckeyes have clicked with eight.

Here are the comparative figures:

	Ohio State.	Notre Dame.
Average score per game....	40	18 2-5
Average opp. score.....	6½	3 1-5
Average no. first downs....	23	12
Average yards, rushing.....	272	183
Average no. passes tried...	17¼	8 3-5
Aver. no. passes completed	8¾	3 1-5
Avg. yds. gained, passing.	146¼	52 2-5

Irish in Good Condition.

Notre Dame came through its engagement with the Navy in excellent condition. Don Elser, full back, and Harry Becker, right tackle, suffered slight injuries, but will be ready to play Saturday. Becker was called home to Louisville today because of the injury to a member of his family but is expected to rejoin the squad in a day or two.

Approximately 600 students will accompany the team to Columbus and there will be 2,000 more South Bend citizens on hand. The 90 piece Notre Dame band will make the trip.

WE'LL SHOW 'EM—SCHMIDT.

Columbus, O., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—"My boys can play better ball than they showed on the field at Indiana Saturday," Coach Francis Schmidt said today while preparing his eleven for the game here Saturday with Notre Dame.

"We'll show them just what kind of a team Ohio State has. I'll admit that the Hoosiers had the boys stumped a little in the first half with their unorthodox defense, but they quickly solved that problem and from the time the whistle blew in the second half—well, you know the result."

Builds Pass Defense.

Today Schmidt had the entire team working on offensive and also on defense against passes. Each of Ohio's opponents this year has scored a touchdown and passes played a big part in all of them.

"We tried to improve on our passing against Indiana, but just couldn't do it. Against Northwestern we completed four out of eight, and we thought we could do better than just 50 per cent. But we completed 11 out of 22 against Indiana for the same average. We'll have to do a lot better than that against Notre Dame," Schmidt said.

Most of the Ohio regulars were given a rather busy day of it today. All of the players came out of the battle with Indiana in good condition. Joe Williams received an injured jaw, but will be ready to go against the Irish.

Tickets at Premium.

The starting lineup as it took the field today consisted of Rees and Wendt at ends, Hamrick and Harre at tackles; Smith and Zarnas, guards and Jones at center. In the back field were Pincura at quarter, Heekin and Boucher at halves and Antenucci at full back.

Tickets for the game are at a premium. Single seats have been reported sold at $25 each with three and four seat blocks going as high as $125.

KARAKAS SIGNS AS BLACKHAWK RESERVE GOALIE

Three Ontario Rookies Are Sent Home.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—Mike Karakas, one of the nine rookies in training at the University of Illinois rink, signed a Blackhawk contract today. Manager Clem Loughlin announced that Karakas, who topped the goal tenders of the American association last season, will replace Joe Starke, sub goalie, for two seasons, who has been sold to the Pittsburgh team of the International league.

Karakas, who will be 24 years old in December, started professional playing with James Norris' Shamrocks five years ago. His entire pro career has been in the American association—two seasons with the Chicago Shamrocks, one with the St. Louis Fliers and two with the Tulsa Oilers. Twice Karakas was the American association's leading net minder and three times he was runner-up.

Hard to Score On.

The signing of Karakas makes the Blackhawks the most powerful National Hocky league team in the goal tending department. Lorne Chabot, regular goalie, is the present holder of the Vezina trophy, the yearly award to the league's leading net guardian.

Today also saw the departure from the training camp of Verdell Price, Mike McMahon and Cliff Maundrell, the Ontario Hocky association amateurs who did not show enough in the two weeks of drilling to warant retaining any of them. It was Manager Loughlin's opinion that all of them are certain to enter professional hocky after another year of senior amateur play and are decidedly worth controling through option in some manner.

Veterans at Right Wing.

Today's two hour scrimmage saw Mush March, Donnie McFadyen, and Norman Locking playing right wing positions. Although Hodge Johnson and Emery Hansen, the St. Paul rookies, are right wingers, it was evident today that Manager Loughlin figures that players with major league experience will be needed in the season's opener against the New York Americans Nov. 7.

Iowa Strong, But It Is Far from Title

after Lamb had intercepted a pass and returned to Illinois' 27 yard line. The play might easily have been a completed pass for Illinois since Lindberg's pass bounced from Henry's outstretched hands to Lamb for the interception. Then came a 22 yard gain by Lannon who took the ball from Lamb for an end around after the Iowa backs had faked in the opposite direction. Three smashes, one by Simmons and two by Crayne, shoved over the score.

Hawkeyes Are Confident.

Iowa didn't appear to be unduly keyed for the Illinois game. It may have been the players realized early that sooner or later they would win, and after Simmons' touchdown run and Lamb's place kick for the point [Iowa's only successful attempt after five touchdowns in the last two games], the Hawkeyes had the satisfaction of a seven point lead.

Against Colgate and Illinois, Iowa has shown four exceptionally strong plays. Simmons' speed on a spinner inside of tackle was the long gainer against Illinois. The most consistent play aimed at the left side of Colgate's and Illinois' lines, was a delayed, slanting smash by either Bowlin or Lamb. From this, a lateral to Simmons [he scored a touchdown against Colgate on the play] is possible. The other consistent play, the surprise end around which amounts to a reverse has been used twice. Against Colgate in the first period Lannon gained 25 yards and put the ball on Colgate's 10 yard line. The Hawkeyes, then trailing 6 to 0 failed to score, however. Lannon's run of 22 yards around Illinois' left end already has been described.

Iowa has reasonable expectation of defeating Indiana, barring misplays. The real test of the Hawkeye team is scheduled for a week from Saturday when Minnesota will be homecoming at Iowa City.

GROOM CLEARED IN HORSE DOPING CASE AT LAUREL

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Charles Brown, alias Woodtrap, 46 year old colored groom, was acquitted today by an Anne Arundel county Circuit court jury of charges of cruelty to an animal by administering a sedative drug.

Morton J. Sacks, track watchman, testified he saw Brown in Deduce's stall early Oct. 17, the day the drugging was attempted. Brown denied he had been there.

Walker Leads League in Pinch Hitting

New York, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Although not rated a regular, due to his erratic base running, Gerald Walker swung a potent bat in the pinches for the world champion Detroit Tigers to show the way to the pinch hitters in the American league during the last season.

Walker made thirteen trips to the plate as a pinch hitter, according to the official averages released today, and on six occasions he came through for a pinch hit average of .462.

Although the Detroit outfielder chalked up the highest average, he was forced to yield to Ralph Winegarner, Cleveland pitcher, and Edmund [Bing] Miller, Boston veteran, who started the season as a coach, when it came to the most telling hits.

Winegarner Wins Six Games.

Winegarner hit only .320 as a pinch hitter, but won six games by making six singles, a double, and a home run. Miller won five games for the Red Sox while answering forty-five calls. He drove in nine runs with thirteen hits.

The Boston veteran had an able assistant in Wes Ferrell who, when not pitching, won four games with pinch hits. Altogether the Red Sox won twelve games by hits in the pinches, five of which went to the credit of Robert Moses Grove. In addition to Winegarner, Ferrell was the only pitcher to hit a home run in the pinches.

Ruffing Bats .412.

Following Walker in the averages came Charley Ruffing of the Yankees with .412; Dee Miles, Washington, .364; Vernon Washington, Chicago, .345; Jo-Jo White, Detroit, .333, and Winegarner, .320.

OLIN AND LEWIS PRONOUNCED FIT FOR TITLE BOUT

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Champion Bob Olin and John Henry Lewis, colored challenger, today were pronounced physically fit for their light heavyweight title clash Thursday, as promoters voiced unconcern at an injunction suit aimed at stopping the show.

Both fighters weighed 175 pounds as they appeared before Dr. Joseph Mayes, physician for the Missouri boxing commission. Dr. Mayes reported their hands in perfect condition, and their heart and blood pressure normal.

Olin participated in a short workout, but the colored fighter's trainers gave him a day of complete rest.

Lew Raymond and Benny Greenberg, promoting the first championship fight in St. Louis in years, professed belief that the show would go on after a hearing tomorrow on a request of the Madison Square Garden corporation for an injunction prohibiting the fight.

The New York corporation asserts Olin agreed to make his next title defense for the Garden management. He professes the agreement is void as the Garden had sufficient opportunity to arrange a bout and failed to act.

Hoppe Returns to Form; Seeks 3 Cushion Title

Willie Hoppe, former king of the billiard world, will attempt a comeback in the national three-cushion billiard tournament that starts at the Sherman hotel Nov. 6 and appears to be ready to make trouble for the defending champion, Johnny Layton, and the other eight players in the field.

In a recent nine block match with Kinrey Matsuyama in Chicago, Hoppe won seven blocks and scored a total of 441 points out of a possible 450, to Matsuyama's 325.

Others who will join Hoppe in the attempt to take Layton's title from him are Welker Cochran, Augie Kieckhefer, Arthur Thurnblad, Allen Hall, Otto Reiselt, Tiff Denton, and Jay Bozeman.

BARBER TRIES TO TRIM A SHIRT—HERE'S THE TALE

Fredericksburg, Va., Oct. 28.—(AP)—J. D. Cox, barber of Fredericksburg, was in jail tonight and Ralph [Fatso] Fleming, 17 year old high school football star had a deep cut in his neck—but Fleming's shirt was intact. And thereby hangs a tale.

Cox and Fleming had a bet on the Max Baer-Joe Louis fight. The one who picked the winner was to lop off the other's shirt-tail in the traditional Virginia manner of settling such differences of opinion.

Fleming picked Baer and since the fight he and Cox hadn't met. This afternoon they ran into each other and Cox, penknife in hand, claimed his trophy. Fleming demurred.

The sweater and shirt he was wearing were brand new, he said.

Fleming weighs close to 250 pounds and he struggled actively in defense of his raiment. Thus it was that the barber's knife slipped and gashed the youth's neck.

Fleming was treated at Mary Washington hospital and police decided they had better hold Cox pending the return of Commonwealth's Attorney W. B. F. Cole, who was away from the city.

POLO SEASON AT RIDING CLUB TO OPEN SATURDAY

The Black Horse Troop poloists, under the leadership of Capt. Roy D. Keehn Jr., will oppose a Culver Military academy team in the feature game of the double-header which will inaugurate the indoor season at the Chicago Riding club, 333 East Erie street, Saturday evening.

In the opener, Olympia Fields will be pitted against the Chicago Riding club. The Olympia Fields lineup will include Ed Hirsch and Charlie Roovaart. The Riding club lineup is still unnamed although it is believed it will be made up of Harvey Mosely, Harry O. Owen Jr., and Leon Mandle.

Winding up a month of practice, the troop combination of Capt. Keehn, Lieuts. William F. Kirby and Richard K. Strauss are ready to get to work on their schedule which calls for matches each Saturday for the next twenty weeks.

Leo, St. Rita Renew Feud in Charity Battle

When Leo, champion of the Catholic High School Football league, meets St. Rita at Soldiers' field in the annual Loretto benefit game next Sunday, one of the outstanding prep football rivalries in the city will be renewed.

The two schools are in such proximity that interest in the game is at a high point in the neighborhood.

A crowd of at least 20,000 is expected for the game, proceeds of which will be turned over to the Loretto convents in Woodlawn and Englewood.

Leo and St. Rita first met in 1928 when the former became a member of the Catholic league. St. Rita won that game, 13 to 0, and repeated the following season, 13 to 7.

It was Leo's turn to triumph in 1930, the feat being accomplished, 13 to 6. The next year the rivals battled to a scoreless tie, but in 1932 Leo evened the series with a 13 to 0 victory.

St. Rita took a 3 to 2 edge in the series which it now maintains through a 13 to 0 victory in 1933, for the teams played a 6 to 6 tie in the benefit game last year.

With Phillips drawing a bye Saturday, Lindblom has a chance to obtain at least a temporary toe hold on the lead in the central section of the city high school football race. Phillips, by virtue of the point system of scoring, two points for a victory and one for a tie, is tied with Lindblom for the lead, although the latter has won one more game. Lindblom will meet Hyde Park this weekend at Stagg field.

Sullivan of the north section of the city league is the only one of the 28 teams involved in the league that has yet to score points. The team will meet Lake View Saturday.

St. Michael is the only eleven in the Catholic league which has not scored a point. The squad draws a bye this week.

SCHURZ TIES CRANE.

North Central to Rebuild Team for Elmhurst Game

The North Central football lineup will be revised for the game against the undefeated Elmhurst team at Naperville Saturday. The poor showing of veteran North Central players against Augustana last week prompted the contemplated shakeup.

Many of the regulars were benched before the Augustana game was far along and reserves were given chances during the remainder of the contest. Coach Fisher said yesterday that at least half the starting assignments are now open for new men.

1,119 Sweep Prizes Won by Americans

DUBLIN, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Regardless of what happens in the Cambridgeshire race at Newmarket Wednesday, luckseekers in the United States were certain tonight to collect $1,333,470 from proceeds of the 16th Irish Hospitals Sweepstakes.

When the draw was completed late today 1,119 Americans, or 43.5 per cent, were numbered among the lucky circle of prize winners.

In round numbers, today's draw added $333,470 bound for America to the $1,000,000 drawn Saturday. The result of the Cambridgeshire at Newmarket, England, will add an unestimated amount to this comfortable sum for America.

In addition to holding 20 tickets on the first five favorites, Americans are well represented on the list of other horses which will go to the post.

Alliance, O., Prep Football Player Dies After Injury

Alliance, O., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Injuries received in a high school football game caused the death today of Peter Zamaitis, 17. The boy, who played tackle for Alliance High school, suffered a ruptured bowel Friday night during the fourth quarter of a game against Massillon. When the seriousness of the injury was discovered Saturday the boy was taken to a hospital where his coach, Dr. George Wilcoxon, and Dr. B. C. Barnard operated on him.

North Section C.Y.O. Boxing Trials Tonight

First matches in the fifth annual Catholic Youth organization boxing tournament will be held tonight at Loyola university gymnasium, Sheridan road and Loyola avenue, as the opening round of the north section trials is run off. Forty bouts are scheduled, the first at 8 o'clock.

Hundreds of boys from the north and northwest sides will report to Loyola gym tonight, tomorrow and Thursday night to go through the sectional preliminaries, the winners qualifying for the tournament quarter-finals Nov. 19 at the same location.

Youngblood, Berne to Fight.

Parishes that are likely to make strong bids for north section team honors include St. Alphonsus, St. Hyacinth, St. Sylvester, St. Edward, and Lady of Lourdes.

Among the most popular boxers who will be seen in action at Loyola are William Youngblood, 147 pounds, St. Mary of the Lake; Lou Raziendi, 118, St. Hyacinth; Pat Berne, 126, St. Bartholomew; Sigmund Ligocki, 160, St. Hyacinth; Terry Bannon, heavyweight, Lady of Mount Carmel, and Matt Egan, 160, St. Ignatius.

Three Two-Minute Rounds.

Three rounds of two minutes each will be fought in all tournament competition, Paddy Kane, chief C. Y. O. boxing instructor, announced yesterday as scores of boys went through regular workouts at the downtown Catholic Youth organization gymnasium, 31 East Congress street.

As a precautionary move, the C. Y. O. medical staf will be constantly at the ringside. In five years of tournament competition the most serious injury sustained by a C. Y. O. boxer was a dislocated jaw by Savior Canadeo, lightweight finalist, last March. Canadeo, who resumed boxing activity two months ago, is now attending St. Norbert's college on a Bishop Sheil scholarship.

MARBERRY PLANS TO QUIT UMPIRE JOB, PITCH AGAIN

Lubbock, Tex., Oct. 28.—(AP)—The Morning Avalanche will say tomorrow that Fred [Firpo] Marberry, American league umpire during the latter part of the 1935 season, will attempt a comeback as a major league pitcher in 1936, and that he does not intend to start the season as umpire.

Marberry said today, "I can pitch major league baseball at least two or three years longer, and I think I shall have the opportunity to try it next season."

Marberry said he was dickering with three American league clubs. He said he would sign a coach's contract, if necessary, in order to break back in the big time.

"Umpiring is okay," he said, "but I'd rather play."

Marberry pitched last with Detroit, leaving the team to accept a position as American league umpire.

Melrose Trojans to Meet Austin Bears Tomorrow

The Austin Bears will meet the Melrose Park Trojans tomorrow night at Proviso stadium in one of a series of elimination football games being played under the sponsorship of the Maywood post of the American Legion. Last week the Austin team beat the Berwyn Parrots in the second game of the series.

DAY-ARIZMENDI BOUT CLOSED FOR STADIUM NOV. 8

They'll Go Ten Rounds at 135 Pounds.

Davey Day, Illinois' No. 1 lightweight contender, and Alberto Arizmendi, who hails from Los Angeles, Cal., but is recognized as the leading challenger for Freddy Miller's featherweight crown in this state, have been signed to box ten rounds at Chicago Stadium, Nov. 8. The match, in the making for the last few days, became official yesterday at the Illinois athletic commission offices, after Chairman Joe Triner informed Cal Working, manager of Arizmendi, that his protégé would displace Day as foremost challenger for Tony Canzoneri's throne, if victorious over Day at 135 pounds, the title limit.

Triner said Arizmendi would retain his featherweight rating here whether or not he beat Day. The Mexican fighter has been recognized as a topnotcher on the Pacific coast for several years. He wasn't considered seriously in the east until last year when he whipped Al Roth and Mike Belloise to earn the New York commission's recognition as 126 pound king after Kid Chocolate was dethroned. He made a good start in Chicago by trimming Jimmy Christy in ten rounds at the Stadium a few weeks ago.

Day was stopped in his drive for a title match by losing to Al Roth in ten rounds at New York. He regained some ground by defeating Geno Salvatore at Marigold Gardens three weeks ago.

The state boxing commission yesterday approved the list of bouts to be held at White City Friday. The card:

Geno Salvatore, La Salle, Ill., has agreed to head the program at Marigold Gardens next Monday. . . . N. U. SCOFFS AT 'MORAL VICTORY'; GUNS FOR ILLINI

New Found Pass Attack May Help Saturday.

Wearied of the so-called moral victories that have been its lot for several weeks, Northwestern's football team is set upon defeating Illinois when the two meet in the Wildcats' homecoming game at Dyche stadium Saturday.

Co-Captain Wally Cruice voiced the sentiment of the squad after the Minnesota game last Saturday when he said: "Now let's go out and win a few ball games."

Each succeeding game has found the Purple playing a greatly improved brand of football, which reached its peak against the Gophers. In that game the Wildcats' offense clicked smoothly, being aided by a heretofore unrevealed forward passing attack. The sophomore passing combination of Don Heap and John Kovatch enabled Northwestern to complete five out of nine passes for a total of 138 yards.

Praises Four for Defense.

Coach Lynn Waldorf, in addition to praising the offense work of the eleven as a whole, singled out the defense play of Hugh Duvall, Steve Toth, Henry Longfellow, and Kovatch for special commendation.

The play of both Longfellow and Kovatch was particularly pleasing, since in the earlier games the ends were the most vulnerable spots in the Wildcat line. Neither gave ground, and this ultimately forced the Gophers to despair of trying to advance via the ends.

It's Up to Half Backs.

The Wildcats were dealt a blow by the loss of Bill Henderson, a letter man, who withdrew from school. Henderson was a regular on last year's team, but had seen little action this fall, due to an ankle injury.

Northwestern will pin hopes for victory against the Illini on three speedy half backs, Don Heap, Bob Swisher, and Wally Cruice. This trio gained 174 yards against Minnesota. Swisher compiled the best average with 59 yards in three attempts for an average of better than 19 yards.

ILLINOIS REGULARS WORK.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—All of Bob Zuppke's Illinois regulars reported today with the exception of Full Backs Tom Wilson and John Theodore, who rested while Joe Brown, sophomore plunger, appeared on the first team.

A few new plays designed to mystify Northwestern's Wildcats were rehersed and there was prolonged practice on pass defense. Jack Berner, sophomore tackle, also worked with the first eleven.

Andy Glosecki, sophomore full back, who has been disabled, returned to practice with the second team back field of Charle, quarter back, Jansen and Grieve half backs.

How to stop Fisher, Heap and other Wildcat backs who showed so well against Minnesota, will be the objective in the scrimmage which will begin tomorrow with the freshmen in the rôle of the Purple ball carriers.

THOMAS PAIRED WITH DEBAETS IN 6 DAY BIKE RACE

Gerard Debaets, the Belgian rider, will be paired with Bobby Thomas of Kenosha, in Chicago's 34th international six day bicycle race which starts in the Stadium Sunday night, Nov. 10.

This means that the Kenosha youngster will have a good chance to win the race, for Debaets is one of the strongest riders in the field. Thomas is looked upon as one of America's outstanding six day cyclists in spite of the fact that he has never won a six day race. Thomas has a large following of Kenosha fans who come to Chicago to see him ride.

Debaets did not ride in the last Chicago race as he was ill, but just a year ago he and Alfred Letourner took first place in the Stadium grind. Debaets won five six day races last winter taking first place in New York, Buffalo, Philadelphia, and Detroit besides winning the Chicago race. Debaets has won seventeen races, finished second in four, third in four and fourth in seven. Thomas has finished second in five races, third in three and fourth in two.

MAROON CENTER OUT WITH INJURY

Whiteside May Be Lost for Season.

Sam Whiteside, center, may be lost to the University of Chicago football team for the remainder of the season as the result of an injury he sustained in the Wisconsin game last Saturday, it was disclosed yesterday as the squad assembled to begin preparing for the appearance of Ohio State at the Midway a week from Saturday.

SAM WHITESIDE.

A torn ligament in his knee is expected to keep Whiteside on the sidelines for several weeks. The big 200 pound former Evanston High school star has been a bulwark in Chicago's forward wall and has been developing marked talent at backing up the line.

Bill Bosworth, another junior, a chunky 190 pounder, who has been a reserve guard and full back and who finished out the game for Whiteside, is expected to become the varsity center.

Coach Clark Shaughnessy was only mildly pleased with his team's performance in defeating Wisconsin, 13 to 7. He had words of praise, in addition to the routine acknowledgment of Berwanger's work, for the defensive play of two backs, Warren Skoning and Ewald Nyquist, and the offensive performance of Omar Fareed, sophomore half back.

With no game scheduled for this coming Saturday, varsity members who played against Wisconsin were excused early yesterday and the reserves were set to blocking and tackling drill.

WILSON OF BADGERS HURT.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—Johnny Wilson, who has scored all three of Wisconsin's touchdowns in its two conference games, may be lost to the Badgers for their next game, two weeks away, it was revealed today by Trainer Bill Fallon.

Wilson, fastest half back on the squad, suffered a shoulder injury in the Chicago game which may keep him on the sidelines for three weeks, Fallon said.

Purdue Next Opponent.

With an open date Saturday, Coach Doc Spears excused the squad this afternoon. The next game is with Purdue at Camp Randall Nov. 9, and will be the Badgers' homecoming.

Aside from Wilson, Wisconsin players came through the Chicago game in good physical condition. Tackle Paul [Swede] Jensen suffered an ankle injury but probably will be ready for scrimmage by the latter part of the week.

AL DIAMOND IS HANDED SEVERE POUNDING BY THIL

PARIS, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Marcel Thil, recognized in some parts as the world's middleweight boxing champion, defeated Al Diamond of Paterson, N. J., in a ten round nontitle fight tonight.

The Frenchman put Diamond on the defensive in the first round and then, with pounding rights and lefts that left the American's body and face badly bruised, took every other round. By the eighth round the crowd of 20,000 was howling for a knockout, but the New Jersey fighter managed to stay on his feet. Twice he was warned for fouling.

Thompson Wins Place as Minnesota Varsity Back

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—Clarence [Tuffy] Thompson, youngster who got his first chance to show his speed in the homecoming game with Northwestern Saturday, will remain at left half back on the Minnesota team as reward for putting over a 21 to 13 victory for the Gophers. In other words, Coach Bernie Bierman will continue George Roscoe at right half back, with Bud Wilkinson ready to alternate between right half back and guard when necessary.

Bierman dismissed the players who participated in Saturday's game with a chalk talk today. There was heavy work for the others, however.

Lowell [Red] Dawson, back field coach, returned from scouting Purdue against Carnegie Tech, and he warned the Gophers that they were in for a fight next Saturday.

The Gophers came out of Saturday's game in the best physical shape of the year. There were no aggravations of injuries and those who had been injured earlier showed improvement.

PURDUE COUNTS ON SPEED.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—Purdue's football squad today considered ways and means of converting yardage into points as it launched preparations for the game with the undefeated Minnesota eleven at Minneapolis Saturday.

The usual Monday of rest was canceled as Coach Noble Kizer sought to regain the scoring spark that carried the Boilermakers to successive victories over Northwestern, Fordham, and Chicago, before the attack bogged down against Carnegie last Saturday in scoring territory. Fundamentals, blocking and tackling, were emphasized throughout the afternoon's drill.

The Boilermakers, sharing the lead in the Big Ten race as the result of their victories over Northwestern and Chicago, are aware they face their most difficult assignment of the season in attempting to halt the undefeated Gophers.

Although Purdue cannot hope to match the power of the Gopher eleven, Coach Kizer is hopeful that the speed and deception of the Boilermaker attack may balance to a certain extent the Minnesota edge.

EASY DAY AT MICHIGAN.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—Michigan's varsity, a tired lot of ball players, all happy that the Columbia game is past, did nothing more than run plays on South Ferry field this afternoon, while a reserve team, including only a few boys who saw service against the Lions, scrimmaged against the freshmen.

Only Chris Everhardus, John Smithers, and John Viergever were suffering from injuries, but all the rest of the players were leg weary. This was true especially of Capt. Bill Renner, who before the season started was doped to work only "when needed" in each game and has actually played three full games and 50 minutes of another. Everhardus was suffering from a kick in the ribs, Viergever from the charley horse that has bothered him for a month, and Smithers from a split lip and loosened teeth.

Campbell Piles Up Gains.

Bob Compbell, sophomore, was the running star of the scrub-freshmen game today. Campbell found holes or made them and reeled off one long gain after another. Bill Barclay, another sophomore, also did some good running.

All but Bob Cooper of the varsity squad were on hand, either in uniform or sweat clothes, today, and Kipke said Cooper would be out in a day or two. Bud Hanshue, one of the boys out with a knee injury, did some running and, Kipke said, will probably play in the Pennsylvania game Saturday.

MARQUETTE TRIES OUT NEW PLAYS FOR IOWA STATE

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—Coach Frank J. Murray was absent today as the undefeated Marquette university football squad returned to practice for next Saturday's homecoming game here with Iowa State.

Murray, confined to his home over the week-end with a severe cold, will resume his duties tomorrow. In the meantime Assistant Coaches Red Dunn and Tarzan Taylor were in charge of the varsity today.

Harold Carroll, a Milwaukee high school coach who scouted Iowa State Saturday, presented his report today and indicated that the Cyclones boast a defense which will be hard for Marquette's type of offense to crack. The Hilltop squad immediately went to work on several new plays designed for their homecoming game.

Several Hilltop regulars—notably Ward Cuff, full back, and Marvin Bell, end—are on the casuality list, and it remains to be seen whether they will be available before the Michigan State game.

The event is being sponsored by the Wisconsin section of the Professional Golfers Association of America, of which Revolta, who is attached to the Tripoli club here, is a member.

LANDIS RULES PHILLIES HOLD TITLE TO GOMEZ

Jose L. Gomez, Mexican shortstop, is the rightful property of the Philadelphia Nationals, Baseball Commissioner Landis ruled yesterday.

The Monessen club of the Pennsylvania State league, a farm of the Cincinnati Reds, claimed it had Gomez under contract and protested his playing with the Phillies. The commissioner ruled that the Monessen club failed to make the necessary reservation for Gomez on its list.

Philadelphia signed Gomez as a free agent last July.

IOWA GOES OVER INDIANA'S PLAYS

Two Hawkeyes Are Out with Injuries.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—After reporting to Dr. William Payne, team physician, for a medical examination, University of Iowa football candidates were excused from regular practice today. Coach Ossie Solem substituted a long skull session in which Rollie Williams, assistant coach, diagrammed Indiana plays.

The usual number of bruises were incurred in Saturday's game, but Dick Bowlin, quarter back, and Bob Lannon, end, were the only regulars who were expected to be kept out of action for several days. Bowlin's bruised foot was swollen, making it necessary for him to walk with a cane. It was said that he would be ready for action against the Hoosiers.

Dressing room conversation indicated that the Hawkeyes have no inclination to take the Indiana game lightly. Most of the players expressed the opinion that the Hoosiers would be stronger than the Illini.

HOOSIER IMITATES OZE.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—James Clark, former star colored back at Central High school and now a freshman at Indiana, today took part in varsity practice, imitating Iowa's Ozzie Simmons.

Clark, who is similar to the Hawkeye star in size and build, ran the plays in which Simmons has figured.

Injuries to three players will handicap Indiana in Saturday's game at Iowa City.

Chris Dal Sasso, star tackle, who was carried from the field Saturday, is suffering from a knee injury which probably will keep him out of the Iowa battle, Coach Bo McMillan said today. Corby Davis, full back, received three broken ribs in the game, an examination disclosed, while Eddie Antonini, first string end, suffered a recurrence of a foot injury. Despite the injuries, McMillin said he expected the team to play its best game of the year Saturday.

Westlake Gets Assistant Coaching Job at Streator

De Kalb, Ill., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—Ben Westlake, graduate of De Kalb Teachers college, was today named printing instructor and assistant coach at Streator Hig.. school. Westlake, a resident of Elburn, was a star forward on De Kalb's basketball team last year.

Alabama Still Best Southern Team—Sasse

New York, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Alabama, Rose Bowl champion, still is the best football team in the south, says Maj. Ralph Sasse, who coached the team that handed the Crimson Tide its only defeat this season.

The former army coach, who is now stationed at Mississippi State and is on his way to challenge West Point's unbeaten march this Saturday, doesn't take anything away from his own squad in handing honors to Alabama.

Alabama Won't Lose Again.

"There was no fluke about our 20 to 7 victory over Alabama," said Maj. Sasse today. "We outplayed them but we were 'up' and the Tide was going 'down' that afternoon. I don't think we could repeat that victory now. Alabama is still the best team in the south. They won't lose a game the rest of the season."

Maj. Sasse thinks Mississippi State "has a chance" to beat the Army this Saturday. There's only one senior in the starting lineup. Average weight is 183 pounds.

34 Players Arrive.

To become thoroughly accustomed to its surroundings, Mississippi State arrived here over the week-end from Cincinnati, after beating Xavier, 7 to 0. Today the squad of 34 players was quartered at Cragston-on-the-Hudson, on the estate formerly owned by J. Pierpont Morgan the elder. They are near West Point and will have several workouts on Michie field, the Army gridiron.

Lake View Swim Teams Beat Amundsen, 38-4, 36-17

Lake View swimmers won a dual meet from Amundsen in the Lake View pool yesterday. The juniors triumphed 38 to 4, and the seniors came out on top 36 to 17.

DE PAUL POINTS FOR CATHOLIC U.

Squad Strengthened by Return of Kein.

With the hardest game of the season scheduled with Catholic university of Washington, D. C., Saturday, De Paul university's Blue Demons opened a week of intensive practice yesterday, for the annual homecoming game at Soldiers' field.

In four games to date the easterners are undefeated. They smothered La Salle 41 to 7; beat Duquesne, 6 to 0; Detroit, 13 to 7, and St. Mary's of Texas, 7 to 0.

Les Kein, De Paul full back, who broke a finger in the Texas Tech game two weeks ago, is again back in uniform and probably will see action Saturday. His addition will be welcome as Julian Heim, second string full back is bothered by a twisted ankle.

CALUMET STARS PLAY ST. LOUIS GUNNERS TONIGHT

The St. Louis Gunners and the Calumet All-Stars, who tied at St. Louis earlier in the month, will meet again tonight at Washington field, 141st and Hemlock streets, East Chicago. Kickoff will be at 8 o'clock.

Recruited from former varsity stars now employed in Calumet region steel plants, the Calumet All-Stars this season have played a number of leading midwestern teams including the Bears, Cardinals, and Ganos of Chicago, and the Kenosha American Legions.

CARNERA-NEUSEL BOUT SCHEDULED FOR TEN ROUNDS

New York, Oct. 28.—[Special.]—The New York state athletic commission today decided the heavyweight bout between Primo Carnera and Walter Neusel at Madison Square Garden Friday night would be scheduled for ten rounds. The decision was unsatisfactory to Louis Soresi, Carnera's manager, who was in favor of a 12 or 15 round encounter. He declared he would ask the board to reconsider the decision. Paul Damski, Neusel's manager, insisted, since the articles were signed, on ten rounds.

IMPRIMIS HOLDS UP START, THEN WINS WITH EASE

Pays $12.60 in Thornton Purse at Sportsman's.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Imprimis, a daughter of Hourless-Lady Loose, resorted to the most ancient strategy in the turf book to win the Thornton purse at Sportsman's Park yesterday afternoon.

While 5,500 looked on she exerted herself just enough to delay the start of the 6½ furlong struggle for 7½ minutes. During that long delay eight other nervous thoroughbreds pawed and kicked until they were in a frenzy.

The old trick worked. When the start came Imprimis let three of her nervous rivals make the pace. They were Petty Taw, the favorite; Hilda Martha, and Benediction.

Petty Taw Takes Lead.

She seemed to be enjoying herself while she watched this trio run their legs off in an effort to get to the front. Petty Taw finally romped out into what appeared to be a safe lead. Yet just as she did it Imprimis, which races for Mrs. Charley Cherry of Chicago, moved along past Hilda Martha and Benediction.

She wasted little time on the job of making weak-hearted Petty Taw quit on the turn into the stretch. She was running away from all of them when it ended and was the winner by two lengths.

Whether it was Imprimis or her jocky, G. Green, that caused the delay at the start no one was able to say. A heavy fog hung low over the track and lights were blinking from nearby buildings when the race was run.

Imprimis was a tip in the betting, yet paid $12.60 to win. She ran the distance in 1:24 3-5 over the dull track.

Favorite Players Start Well.

During the early part of the afternoon the favorite players were in great form. They collected on Evil Eye, a daughter of Roguish Eye, in the first then came right back in the second race and plunged on Susan Miller.

Susan was very kind to them. She gave them not even a heart flutter for she went to the front soon after the start and stayed there until she strutted by the winning post. Susan demonstrated by this victory that she is just about tops among the selling platers which run over half mile tracks.

After Susan triumphed, the players of favorites were tossed out into a rough and angry sea. They made their big plunge on Cabotin in the third race. He was never a contender. Sir Michael, on which there had been a red hot post-time tip, rushed to the front early, then went on to score the easiest triumph of the afternoon. Poop Deck rushed up to be second. Cabotin did manage to stagger home in third place.

Ann's Baby Wins.

In the next race, for 2 year olds at 5 furlongs, the backing swung early to Jerry H. It developed in such volume that some of the skeptics thought Jerry H. had been nominated in an overnight caucus.

He wasn't. Or at least he didn't run that way. Ann's Baby, at 28 to 1 in the betting, dashed up in the stretch and won by the comfortable margin of half a length. Sun Voter, on which there had also been quite a plunge, finished third.

Time, :23 3-5, :49 1-5, 1:03. Two dollar mutuels paid: Evil Eye, $5.80 straight, $4.20 place, $3.60 show; Sun Tryst, $4.00 place, $3.00 show; Fanle, $4.80 show. Winner trained by owner. Went to post at 2:01. At post 2½ minutes. Start bad from Bahr gate. Won driving; place same.

EVIL EYE battled to the lead early, was cleverly rated while setting the pace, responded gamely to strong pressure and just lasted. SUN TRYST forced the winner throughout, gave improved speed in the stretch and was rapidly wearing down the winner. FANLE, away well, was allowed to drop out of it, then failed to make an appreciable gain when punished. CACARINA quit.

SECOND RACE—Five furlongs, out of chute. Purse $600. Net value to winner, $475; second, $75; third, $30; fourth, $20.

Time, :23 2-5, :48 4-5, 1:02 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Susan Miller, $4.80 straight, $3.00 place, $2.60 show; Gale Way, $6.60 place, $4.00 show; Brilliant Dee, $5.60 show. Winner trained by C. Meyer. Went to post at 2:31. At post 2½ minutes. Start good from Bahr gate. Won driving; place same.

SUSAN MILLER displayed the most speed, took command soon after the start, was well rated while setting the pace, then stood a long drive gamely to outfinish GALE WAY. Latter, away in stride, was hustled to contention, forced the winner throughout, offered good opposition, but was not good enough. BRILLIANT DEE, under pressure maintaining a forward position, held on with good courage under strong riding, but was no menace for the first two.

THIRD RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Purse $700. Net value to winner, $550; second, $90; third, $40; fourth, $20. [Daily double, 2d and 3d races, paid $61.60.]

Winner trained by G. Gauthier. Went to post at 3:00. At post 4 minutes. Start good from Bahr gate. Won easily; place driving.

SIR MICHAEL, suddenly improved and racing as if much the best, took command early, raced to MERN into deep stretch, then drew out to win well. POOP DECK, taken in hand for the early racing, responded well when urged, but was no match for the winner. CABOTIN forced the pace for three-quarters, appeared to sulk when subjected to strong urging, then failed to be dangerous.

FOURTH RACE—Five furlongs, out of chute. Purse $700. Net value to winner, $550; second, $90; third, $40; fourth, $20.

ANN'S BABY improved under different handling, bettered her position gradually, stood a long drive gamely and outstayed JERRY H. Latter, given a hustling ride, was never far back, but weakened after getting to the front. SUN VOTER, suddenly improved, raced to the leaders after three-eighths, then closed gamely.

FIFTH RACE—Six and one-half furlongs. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $625; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Winner trained by C. F. Cherry. Went to post at 4:00. At post 7½ minutes. Start good from Bahr gate. Won handily; place driving.

IMPRIMIS acted badly at the post, raced improved under different handling, was taken in hand for the early racing, moved to the lead when ready and outfinished PETTY TAW. Latter began quickly, raced HILDA MARTHA into defeat, held on gamely thereafter, but was no match for the winner. PORTER CALL, probably best, acted rank at the post, delayed the start, was placed on the outside, from where he began slowly, closed a good gap and finished strong.

TOPSY OMAR, racing as if much the best, was taken off the early pace, moved up with a rush when urged, drew out after taking command and won cantering. BROWN POLLY, suddenly improved and displacing a good brand of speed, gave way to the winner when challenged, but was easily best of the others. TEABERRY had no excuse and failed to be dangerous.

CRESTA RUN broke fast, but lacked speed, improved her position thereafter, took command and drew out to win in hand. LESSING, in close quarters early, moved up well when clear but was no match for the winner. JUST BUCK, blocked several times during the early running, gained rapidly in the final stages.

WARSHIPS OF 3 NATIONS HONOR FRENCH MARSHAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GIBRALTAR, Oct. 28.—The warships of Great Britain, Spain, and Italy paid homage today to Marshal Louis Hubert Lyautey, founder of France's north African empire. His body was taken across the straits of Gibraltar this afternoon to Morocco for burial after resting since his death July 17, 1934, in the Nancy cathedral.

Great Britain's second battle cruiser squadron and the sixth destroyer flotilla met the French cruiser Dupleix, carrying the marshal's body. Crowds watched from the cliffs. The Dupleix was escorted by the French cruiser Foch and two destroyers. As the Dupleix passed Europa point the vessels were manned and the British ensign was lowered. The guns of the fortress crashed out a funeral salute of nineteen guns. Ceremonial salutes also were fired to honor the French minister of marine, who was aboard the Foch.

When the ships had progressed further west they were met by four Spanish destroyers from Algeciras, Spain, which saluted. The French liner Marshal Lyautey from Casablanca, Morocco, joined in the procession. Yesterday three Italian cruisers escorted the Dupleix until night and fired funeral salutes.

HEREDITY, RACE, SEX FACTORS IN LUNG DISEASE

New York, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Sex, race, and heredity are all influencing factors in mankind's susceptibility, or immunity, to tuberculosis, Dr. Arnold Rice Rich of the Johns Hopkins medical school suggested tonight in an address before the New York Academy of Medicine.

While medicine has made forceful inroads into the spread and prevalence of tuberculosis, Dr. Rich warned, it hardly can be regarded jubilantly as being nearly conquered as long as it remains a disease that still kills more than twice as many individuals as any other single cause of death during the most productive and enjoyable period of life span.

Loses Fight for a Share in Estate of $1,300,000

The United States Supreme court refused yesterday to review a finding of the Illinois Supreme court which denied the claim of Mrs. Madelene Geiger for a share in the estate of William F. Merle, Chicago furniture man, who left $1,300,000 at his death in 1921. The action was begun thirteen years ago by Mrs. Geiger's mother, the former Jane McNeff, who was Merle's widow, and his third wife. Mrs. Merle died in 1931. She refused to accept a specific bequest of the will and instead sought a one-third share of the estate, charging that Merle's eight children by a previous marriage had sought to defraud her.

Michael Bartlett, the tenor who stepped into Frank Parker's shoes on the Jack Benny program a few weeks ago, has withdrawn from the program for new motion picture assignments and for a tour of Europe in 1936. Bartlett will be Grace Moore's leading man in "Cissy," written by Violinist Fritz Kreisler. The Benny sponsors are busy conducting auditions for a new singing stooge.

Benny recently got another boost in salary. He is now the top priced man in radio, getting $7,500 a week according to a report. Eddie Cantor and his foils and writers get $10,000, but Eddie's portion is said to be an even $7,000.

Harriet Hilliard, who left radio and her husband the day after she married to answer the call to Hollywood, is to be co-starred with Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers in their forthcoming picture, "Follow the Fleet." JOSEPH W. FIFER, ONCE GOVERNOR, IS 95 YEARS OLD

Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Former Gov. Joseph W. Fifer, Bloomington's distinguished citizen, observed his ninety-fifth birthday today. He was able to be up today after being confined to his bed for three weeks.

Fifer is opposed to conflict as a mean of settling international disputes. He is greatly concerned over the Ethiopian situation and is afraid of another general war in Europe.

Born in Staunton, Va., on Oct. 26, 1840, "Private Joe" has been a resident of McLean county since 1857.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 28.—The bond market encountered a setback today with a number of domestic corporate and foreign issues suffering sharp losses.

Closing quotations represented losses of a fraction to around a point on many issues in all classes, and wider declines were registered in a variety of bonds of all types. Trading in United States government issues was sluggish and closing prices were weak.

War Outlook Disturbing.

The liquidation in today's market could be traced to no definite news developments. In Wall street, however, there was an inclination to regard the European outlook with more pessimism. Chances that the Italian-Ethiopian conflict would be brought to an early conclusion seemed more remote.

Among corporation issues one of the most conspicuous weak spots was Paramount 6s, which dropped 4½ points to 92. Studebaker 6s lost 3¼ to close at 68¾, and Murray Body 6½s fell 4½ points. New Haven 4½s declined ¾ to close at 27.

More Moderate Elsewhere.

Elsewhere in the list declines were more moderate. Slight recessions took place in Baltimore and Ohio 4½s, Utility Power 5s and Southern Pacific 4½s. The 5 per cent bonds of Peoples Gas declined ⅜ to end the day at 107⅛.

Italian government 7s, which showed strength during most of last week, turned weak and dropped 4⅞ points to 60⅜. Other foreign bonds which showed declines were Australian 6s and 7s.

Equitable Life Insurance.

Investors' Guide: Have been a reader of your good newspaper for many years and now want to take advantage of your service by inquiring for information regarding Equitable Life of Iowa. I am contemplating taking out several thousand dollars' worth of insurance, but before doing so I would like information from an unbiased point of view.—E. H. H.

Answer: Equitable Life Insurance Company of Iowa, Des Moines, ranks among the 30 largest life insurance companies. On Dec. 31, 1934, insurance in force was $551,217,000.

Assets have expanded steadily since incorporation in 1867. Insurance in force also expanded consistently through 1931. During the succeeding three years, however, reflecting conditions affecting insurance companies in general, insurance in force decreased somewhat.

This is a stock company. Surplus over liabilities on Dec. 31, 1934, appeared satisfactory. In addition to the investment contingency reserve of $1,420,000 and the mortality fluctuation fund of $2,204,000 net surplus over all liabilities was $3,428,000.

Assets comprised $20,575,000 of real estate; $43,059,000 mortgages; $33,770,000 bonds; $2,912,000 cash, and $27,859,000 policy loans. In 1934 the company earned a return of 4 per cent on its assets, the same as in 1933. In 1932 it earned a return of 4.3 per cent.

The company is ably managed. Expenses and lapses are low and ratio of actual to expected mortality is favorable.

Consolidated Coppermines.

Investors' Guide: Kindly let me have a report on Consolidated Coppermines. I thank you kindly.—C. W. M.

Answer: Consolidated Coppermines corporation's properties are in the Robinson mining district, Nevada. In 1934, estimated ore reserves approximated 35 million tons. The company is primarily a copper producer, although some gold and silver is in the company's ores.

The company did not mine any copper during 1933 and 1934, although some of its properties were leased.

On Jan. 21, 1935, the company negotiated a $3,000,000 Reconstruction Finance corporation loan, and in May, 1935, began construction of a concentrator.

Earnings statements for the last few years, in the absence of mining operations, mean little. In 1934 loss was $47,000, against losses of $26,000 and $633,000 in 1933 and 1932.

A special master awarded $115,000 to the company as the result of a suit against Kennecott Copper.

Capitalization consists of 1,320,635 shares of $5 par stock on which nothing has ever been paid. The stock is highly speculative.

CRANE PREDICTS RECOVERY, BUT SEES TAX CLOUD

Investment Bankers Told of Problems.

BY HOWARD WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Oct. 28.—The management of the Investment Bankers' Association of America today joined the ranks of those optimists who foresee genuine business recovery in the near future.

R. T. CRANE.

"As I look ahead into the coming year I cannot help but feel that we are approaching another very prosperous period in our history," said Ralph T. Crane, president of the association and vice president of Brown, Harriman & Co., New York, in his annual address to the convention. But he warned that it would not be a permanent prosperity.

"Let us all profit by the mistakes of the past and so regulate our business that when the next depression comes, as it will, we will not have to apologize for or explain our actions," he urged.

U. S. Policies Cloud Future.

This was the most optimistic statement made by the management of the Investment Bankers' association since the period prior to 1933, when assertions that "prosperity is just around the corner" were common.

Although he viewed the near term outlook as especially bright, Crane hastened to point out that the long term outlook is clouded by government extravagance, federal deficits, and taxes.

"One of the serious effects of the depression," he asserted, "has been our unbalanced budget with our increased government debt. Every business man in the country recognizes that ultimately our budget must be balanced, and then will come the problem of paying this debt through taxation. We are just beginning to feel some of the tax pressure—government, state and local—both direct and indirect.

States Imposing New Taxes.

"In the recent sessions of legislatures in 45 states new taxes were levied, so that almost every act and every purchase made today has a tax directly or indirectly attached to it.

"So far there have been indications of improvement in business management policies that have resulted in enough profits to offset some of this heavy burden. Of course, if taxes continue to mount, business may not be able to overcome the handicap."

Today's sessions consisted largely of a series of cautious fencing matches between the members of the Investment Bankers' association and Judge John J. Burns, general counsel to the Securities and Exchange commission.

For two days the bankers have been making speeches urging amendments to the securities act of 1933, which, they insist, are necessary to permit resumption of the flow of long term capital into industry.

Burns' Remarks Discouraging.

This morning Judge Burns had his say and the bankers found his remarks somewhat discouraging. He admitted that the New Deal securities legislation had been likened to liquor prohibition laws in that it "goes beyond on the limits in which the law can effectively control human conduct," but he indicated that the administration will insist upon further experimentation with the new statutes before being willing to grant amendments.

One of the chief issues raised by the bond men is the complaint that the requirement of a twenty day interim period between the filing of a registration statement covering a new security issue and the time when the security may be offered for sale results in "bootleg" sales by dealers who "beat the gun," thus seriously disrupting the delicate mechanism of new security distribution.

Instead of accepting their arguments Judge Burns attempted to shift the blame to what he termed the "whirlwind" sales methods of American securities dealers.

Stock Exchange Leaders Confer

Harris Trust Group to Form Security Firm

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Formation of a new Chicago investment house composed of officers and interests identified with the Harris Trust and Savings bank, to engage in a general investment business, will take place shortly.

This was indicated last night when the bank announced that its directors at a special meeting authorized the officers of the bank "to perfect negotiations with a contemplated corporation to carry on the business in corporation securities which the bank is no longer permitted to do" under the national banking act.

Disclose Details Friday.

The proposed name of the new corporation is Harris, Hall & Co. Its offices will be located in the Harris bank building at 115 West Monroe street. Details of the financial setup of the new organization will be disclosed when its stock is filed for registration with the securities and exchange commission, probably next Friday.

Members of the new investment house will include Edward B. Hall, vice president in charge of the bond department; Norman W. Harris, son of Albert W. Harris, chairman of the board; Julien H. Collins, sales manager of the bank's investment department, and Lahman V. Bower, assistant vice president in the banking department.

The bank will continue to deal in municipal and government bonds, which is permitted by the banking act, just as it has done for more than fifty years, officials said.

Action Follows Morgan Move.

The action of the Harris bank follows that of J. P. Morgan & Co. in New York. Late last summer several members of the house of Morgan resigned to set up the investment firm of Morgan Stanley & Co. As in the case of the Morgan house officers of the Harris, Hall Co. will have to resign from the bank to enter the new investment house. Under the new banking act, a bank may not engage in the sale of securities other than municipal and government.

Action of the Harris Trust board was taken in La Salle street to indicate that the bankers are confident of the future of the security business.

The number of unemployed workers in the United States totaled 9,466,000 during September, a decrease of 386,000 or 3.9 per cent from August, the national industrial conference board reported last night. The total was 927,000 or 8.9 per cent less than in September, 1934.

Gains from August, classified by industries, follow: Manufacturing and mechanical, 3,092,000 unemployed, decline of 182,000; trade, 1,090,000; decline of 172,000; transportation, 1,249,000, decline of 11,000; domestic and personal service, 970,000, decline of 9,000; mining, 442,000, decline of 28,000; miscellaneous, 767,000, decline of 12,000. These aggregate 7,610,000 unemployed, a decline of 413,000. Making allowance for 1,856,000 new workers since the 1930 census, 27,000 more than to August, the September total was 9,466,000, or a decline of 386,000.

In comparison with September, 1934, the greatest gain was 26.1 per cent in manufacturing and mechanical industries which had 4,186,000 idle a year ago. Other gains were: domestic and personal service, 7.3 per cent; transportation, 4 per cent; miscellaneous, 7 per cent.

STOCK LEADERS MEET LANDIS AT PARLEY HERE

StudyBroker,Dealer Segregation.

The largest assemblage of national stock exchange leaders ever to be brought together at one time wrestled here yesterday with the problem of whether or not functions of security dealers and brokers should be separated. After a full day of it they decided to extend their round table sessions today.

Seated at the head of a big oval table in the Union League club was James M. Landis, in Chicago for the first time since his elevation to the chairmanship of the securities and exchange commission. With him were Commissioner Robert E. Healy and five leading members of the SEC staf. Among those around the table were twenty-two stock exchange presidents.

Report Is Due Jan. 3.

Opinions were of major import to the SEC men, because it is the commission's duty to report to congress by Jan. 3 next on the "feasibility and advisability" of segregating broker and dealer functions. Out of the closed meeting seeped several reports.

One said at least five of the nation's smaller exchanges would be forced to close if dealers are excluded from doing brokerage business, and vice versa. The five definitly placed in this category, it was learned, are located in Cincinnati, Cleveland, Detroit, Minneapolis-St. Paul, and Philadelphia.

May Seek More Time.

A second report was that the SEC will ask an extension of time so that it can give the complicated matter further study. This, it was believed, would please the trading fraternity and appease those who advocated making the broker-dealer separation mandatory at the time the securities and exchange act was drafted. As a compromise at that time, it was provided that the commission make a study of the question.

On the one side it is contended that the functions of the two should be separated because of "serious abuses" incident to the present system. It is said that no person should be allowed to act as an agent for others and to purchase stocks for his own account.

Specialist System Discussed.

In this connection activities of "specialists" who keep the books of bids and offers in the various issues were under considerable discussion yesterday.

The dual relation is necessary in the eyes of the trading profession. It was pointed out that the separation would make it impossible for more than a few persons to make a living from brokers' commissions alone in smaller exchanges where trading volume normally is light. Further, it was added that a segregation would work hardship even on the largest marts.

In addition to its mechanical complexities, the problem presents a question of vital importance to the SEC in the potential effect which might be had on the principal function of stock exchanges — furnishing the means of financing industry through a ready market for securities issued.

At the meeting yesterday twenty-five of the nation's thirty-two markets were represented, including the Chicago Board of Trade, which maintains a stock department.

Stock Market Crash Started Six Years Ago

Yesterday was the sixth anniversary of the start of the greatest stock market crash in history, the debacle of Oct. 28 and 29, 1929, which ushered in the depression.

Stocks tumbled on Oct. 28 in wild selling, the turnover on the New York Stock exchange on that date totaling 9,212,000. But that was just a taste of what was to happen next day when 16,388,750 shares were handled on the New York Stock exchange, 7,096,300 on the New York curb, and 1,179,000 on the Chicago Stock exchange.

Depression Not Expected.

On the day following the crash a number of leading industrialists and bankers issued reassuring statements minimizing the possible effects of the market collapse. The general tenor of these statements was that the market decline could not materially affect the prosperity of the nation.

Judging from the statements nobody in authority in either government or business believed the crash marked the end of the prolonged period of prosperity which the country had enjoyed. Overlooked was the fact that unlike the experience in previous market debacles the general public, as well as the speculators, had been caught.

FORD DISPLAYS NEW 'LINCOLN ZEPHYR' OF MEDIUM PRICE FIELD

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—At a preview for representatives of the press and automobile publications at Dearborn today, a new car, to be known as the Lincoln Zephyr, entered the medium price field.

The new car, a product of the Ford Motor company, is of advanced design both as to engineering and general appearance. It takes a place between the Ford V-8 and the more expensive Lincoln.

The first public showing of the new car will be in the Ford Lincoln exhibit at the Hotel Astor, New York City, opening Nov. 2 and running concurrently with the New York automobile show.

With the new car in the medium price field, the Ford V-8 in the low price and the Lincoln in the custom fine class field the Ford Motor company for the first time in its history will be able to blanket the motor car market.

The new Zephyr is powered by a new V-12 engine and is body streamlined to a greater degree than the Ford V-8. The price of the new car has not been announced.

Edsel Ford said arrangements have been completed for the production of about 2,000 Zephyrs a month, or approximately 20,000 during the year.

STEEL OUTPUT ESTIMATE RISES TO 51.9 CAPACITY

New York, Oct. 28.—[Special.]—Steel production for this week is estimated by the American Iron and Steel institute at 51.9 per cent of capacity, compared with 51.8 per cent in the preceding week.

The gain over the preceding week lifted operations to the highest level since the week of Feb. 4. The present schedule compares with 50.8 per cent a month ago and 25 per cent a year ago.

Coca-Cola Co. Paves Way for 300% 'Melon'

New York, Oct. 28.—[Special.]—The way was cleared today for the declaration of a 300 per cent stock dividend by the Coca Cola company when stockholders of the firm at a special meeting in Wilmington, Del., ratified the proposal of the company's directors to increase the number of shares of common stock from 1,000,000 to 4,000,000 shares.

Meeting Set for Nov. 4.

This action, which was in the form of an amendment to the company's certificate of incorporation in Delaware, gives directors a free hand to vote the vast "melon" at their next meeting at which it is expected the date for distribution of the new shares will be fixed. This meeting is set for Nov. 4.

In addition to the 1,000,000 shares of common stock outstanding the company has 800,000 shares of class A stock, which is preferred over the common in dividends to the extent of $3 per annum cumulatively and is limited to that amount.

Stock Price Reacts.

The present common stock is of no par value, the million shares being carried at $25,000,000 in the balance sheet. On the news of the already thoroughly discounted action today Coca Cola common stock on the New York stock exchange sold off from an opening price of $275, a point under Saturday's closing level, to $273 a share, where it closed, down $3 on the day. There were only a couple of transactions, with 400 shares traded in.

BOARD OF TRADE VOTES TO EXPEL ROSENBAUM CO.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Expulsion of the Rosenbaum Grain corporation and of Emanuel F. Rosenbaum, president of the concern, from Chicago Board of Trade membership was ordered by directors of the grain exchange in a report completed yesterday for submission to Federal Judge William H. Holly. Edwin S. Rosenbaum, vice president, was ordered suspended for a period of five years.

EMANUEL ROSENBAUM.

The corporation and its officials were found guilty of "reckless disregard" of the rules of the exchange. The charges were an outgrowth of the failure of the firm last April, when action was brought in the federal court for reorganization under section 77-B of the amended bankruptcy act.

Case Is Up to Judge Holly.

The disciplinary action voted by the exchange is subject to the approval of Judge Holly, before whom the reorganization proceedings are pending.

Attorneys for the Board of Trade will appear before Judge Holly tomorrow morning to ask vacation of the court order issued last April restraining the exchange from disciplinary action against the firm or its officials. Other attorneys in the case were notified yesterday of the intended action of the exchange and of the findings of the directors.

The exchange directors reported that in violation of rules both officials of the corporation had carried on extensive speculation in the grain and stock markets with inadequate margins. The operators were found guilty also of making "material misrepresentation of fact" in reporting the financial condition of the corporation to the exchange in March, 1934.

Short on Grain and on Margins.

Emanuel F. Rosenbaum was found by the directors to have been short in his margins on two specific occasions. A margin deficiency of $19,935 existed in his trading account on Aug. 31, 1933, they reported, and at the time the account was "short" 100,000 bushels of wheat in the market and 3,000 shares of stock. On Dec. 31, 1934, according to the directors, his accounts showed a margin deficiency of $47,418.

Edwin S. Rosenbaum was guilty of similar violation of the margin rules, the directors' report says. On Aug. 31, 1933, he was short 50,000 bushels of wheat, which was adequately margined, but deficits in other of his Erratic Price Movements Feature Activity.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 28.—The stock market lost some of its assurance today as the list turned erratic. Most pivotal industrials, accompanying the steels, utilities and motors, moved downward, but a number of special issues, the sugars and mining shares, attained higher levels.

Business news was favorable but the list was forced to absorb profit taking as traders awaited a period of adjustment before resuming constructive efforts. The session was active, transactions amounting to 2,114,710 shares.

Metal Shares Buoyant.

While recent leaders in the speculative rush were working lower, enough other stocks came forward to prevent the market from looking as if it had been abandoned to the bears. Metal stocks in particular did well. American Smelters rose to a new high price of 58½, Federal Mining and Smelting gained 3 points and Cerro de Pasco moved up a major fraction.

The farm implements group also turned in a strong performance. J. I. Case at one point in the session went to 104¾ and despite some late opposition managed to chalk up a gain of 2 points for the day. Mesta Machine also climbed to a new high with a gain of 2¾ points.

Cause by Farm Situation.

Strength of the farm implements was attributed to the favorable vote for continuance of the corn-hog program. This was interpreted to mean the government would keep on pouring out easy money to farmers, enabling them to pay their machinery bills as well as to buy new motors, tractors and trucks.

Motor shares encountered profit-taking. Fractions to over a point were lost. The accessory division suffered with them. Chrysler gave up over a point, Auburn did equally as bad and General Motors followed suit.

In the steel sector Bethlehem and United States Steel gave up fractions despite news of a further increase in the operating rate of industry.

Sugar stocks were among the strongest in the list. Cuban American preferred advanced $5.75.

GRAINS RECEDE; CANADIAN WHEAT DROPS FURTHER

Prices Below Dominion's Guarantee to Farmers.

Grain prices moved lower on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday under the weight of small but persistent selling. Wheat dropped more than a cent a bushel, oats and corn declined fractionally and rye lost ⅛ to 1¼ cents.

Weakness in wheat, which took its cue from Canadian and northwestern markets, was largely responsible for easiness in other grains. Following its break of 3 cents last Saturday wheat in Winnipeg yesterday dropped 2 cents a bushel further, carrying all futures except the May delivery below the guaranteed price to farmers for cash wheat which the new board has established. Liverpool lost ¾ to 1⅞ cents, Buenos Aires moved about a cent lower, and Rotterdam slumped nearly 2 cents.

Purchases Against Bids.

Chicago prices fell to a level where purchases could be exercised against bids. While a fair quantity of this type of buying made its appearance execution of stop loss orders, coupled with a steady stream of offerings by Saturday's sellers of bids, provided too heavy a burden for the market to overcome.

Corn was aided to some extent early in the session by reports of wet weather in the belt, which checked harvesting operations and movement of grain to market, but the upturn attracted sellers and prices fell back.

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Wk. ago.
Wheat	$ .97¼	$ .98⅝	$1.01¼
Corn	.60	.60⅝	.59⅝
Oats	.26¼	.26½	.27⅛
Rye	.48⅞	.50½	.50⅝

Rumor Canada Will Unload.

The selling in Winnipeg was accompanied by vague rumors that the new political party in Canada plans to dispose of government holdings of wheat as rapidly as possible, regardless of the loss sustained. Such reports have been circulating generally and led to considerable selling, although verification has been completely lacking.

Market observers believe the Canadian selling represented long liquidation. In view of the lack of knowledge concerning the dominion's plans, shorts would be unlikely to sell, not knowing whether they can get cash wheat for delivery at less than the guaranteed price.

ONE SMALL UTILITY REGISTERS WITH SEC AS HOLDING CONCERN

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—[Special.]—The Orange and Rockland Electric company of Monroe, N. Y., has registered as a holding company with the Securities and Exchange commission, the first to take that step under the utilities act of 1935, the commission announced today.

The company, a relatively small one, and its subsidiary, the Orange and Rockland Electric company of New Jersey, operate in Orange county, N. Y., and Passaic county, N. J. Some of the importance which might have otherwise been attached to the registration is discounted by the fact that because of the restricted nature of activities, the parent company apparently was in a sound position either to register or seek exemption under the holding company provisions of the act.

Where a dispute arises as to whether a company comes under the jurisdiction of the securities and exchange commission or the federal power commission, jurisdiction goes to the SEC unless it grants an exemption to a company.

PENNSYLVANIA OPERATING NET UP IN SEPTEMBER

The Pennsylvania railroad reports net railway operating income for September gained $1,520,619, to $6,526,328, or a little more than 30 per cent over the $5,005,709 reported in the corresponding 1934 period. Gross revenues for the month, amounting to $31,139,641, were $4,182,539, or 15½ per cent higher.

Other roads reporting marked improvement in September net operating over September, 1934. Baltimore and Ohio September operating net gained to $2,519,549 from $2,415,238 a year ago; Louisville and Nashville showed $1,315,004, against $946,356; Northern Pacific reported $2,035,713, against $1,179,287; Atlantic Coast Line reported $212,880, against $146,168, and the D. & R. G. $447,795, against $314,222.

Early freight trafic reports for last week show a decline from the preceding week but considerable improvement over a year ago. Totals follow:

Huge Tax Liens Filed Against Grain Trader

New York, Oct. 28.—[Special.]—Income tax liens aggregating almost $3,300,000 were filed this afternoon in the United States District court against Ralph J. Cutten, one of the heaviest grain operators in North America; the Cutten Company, Ltd., and E. L. Chudleigh, said to be an associate of Cutten, all of West Toronto, Canada.

The liens were filed by a clerk from the office of James J. Hoey, collector of internal revenue for the Second district. That against Cutten alleges that $2,281,576.72 is due for unpaid taxes and interest covering several years.

SUGAR

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was quiet today and as no sales were reported prices were nominally unchanged, with spots at 3.60c per lb, and over-quota sugars at 3.25c. There was believed to be some interest for over-quota stocks at the 3.25c basis, but holders generally were asking 3.30c. After opening 2 points lower on December under liquidation, and 1 to 3 points higher on later deliveries on covering, futures firmed up on increased covering and more general trade and Cuban support. At best prices showed gains of 6 to 8 points, with December at the maximum upturn. Near the close there was a partial reaction under realizing, with the final prices 4 to 6 points above the previous close. Sales were 11,900 tons.

Raw sugar prices in cents per pound:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. close.
December	2.37	2.47	2.37	2.45	2.40

PHOENIX TRUST NOW IN CONTROL OF UNITED CIGAR

Buys Morrow Interest to Reorganize Concern.

New York, Oct. 28.—[Special.]—The Phoenix Securities corporation confirmed today that it had purchased a controlling interest in the United Cigars Stores Company of America from George K. Morrow and companies with which Morrow is identified.

Phoenix Securities, an investment trust headed by Wallace Groves, made the purchase with the aim of reorganizing and rebuilding United Cigar Stores, which has been in bankruptcy since 1932. Phoenix has acquired approximately 50 per cent of the outstanding bonds of United Cigar, more than 60 per cent of the 5,369,661 shares of common stock outstanding, and a large block of the 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock at $10.75 a share.

Gets Whelan Drug Chain.

United Cigar Stores owns and controls the Whelan Drug Stores, the third largest drug chain in the United States. It has around 200 stores and over 100 drug agencies, totaling over 300 outlets. United Cigar Stores has about 580 stores and approximately 600 agencies.

"The Phoenix Securities corporation have made this purchase as an investment and with a desire to aid in reorganizing and rebuilding sound companies which are in financial difficulties and need assistance," an official statement said. "During this reconstruction period the sooner these companies can be taken out of receivership and put on a sound paying basis, the sooner the business depression will be terminated. In doing this work, during this period, investment trusts can and should be helpful."

Bond Purchase Explained.

Phoenix Securities purchased such of the bonds of United Stores Realty Holding, Inc., and such of the common stock of United Cigar Stores company as were held by United Stores corporation, Tobacco Products corporation, and the Morrow group.

Phoenix Securities has recently worked out and underwritten the plan which has been approved by the federal court in Wilmington, Del., to take out of receivership and reorganize the Celotex company, which company is expected to be out of receivership within the next two weeks.

U. S. WITHDRAWS 83 MILLIONS OF FUNDS IN BANKS

Gain in Other Deposits Outstrips Loans.

Heavy withdrawals by the government and small country correspondent banks from reserve member institutions were disclosed in banking statistics issued last night covering operations for the week ended Oct. 23. Federal money on deposit with member banks in 91 cities fell 83 million dollars, while interbank deposits dropped 120 millions. At the same time indicated gross deposits rose 37 millions and individual deposits soared 240 millions.

Deposits Outstrip Loans.

The amount of money profitably employed failed to keep pace, total loans and investments increasing only 14 millions. The greatest change was shown in the volume of loans to business, which declined 50 millions.

The decrease was offset by an increase in security holdings, which rose 62 millions, with government's accounting for 16 millions and other securities for 46 millions.

CHICAGO BANK'S RECEIVER SUES POSTAL SAVINGS

Seeks Return of Bonds to Secure Deposits.

Suit to compel officials of the United States postal savings system to return to the closed Woodlawn Trust and Savings bank approximately $300,000 in bonds posted as collateral for a postal savings deposit was filed yesterday in the District of Columbia Supreme court by William L. O'Connell, general receiver for closed banks in Illinois.

The action follows decisions of the Illinois courts that banks in this state have no authority to pledge their securities as a guarantee of deposits of various governmental units. This is the first case, however, in which the federal government has been involved.

Suit Affects Other Banks.

Other closed banks in the state have various smaller amounts of bonds pledged as collateral for postal savings deposits in an aggregate estimated at $500,000. The Woodlawn bank is being used as a test case, it being involved to a greater extent than any several other Illinois banks.

O'Connell contends that funds of the postal system are private deposits and cannot be given a preferred status. He seeks not only to have the pledged bonds returned, but to make the deposits common claims to be paid at the same rate as those of ordinary depositors. Under the O'Connell theory, the government as such is not being sued and therefore cannot claim sovereign rights and refuse to be sued.

Held $454,000 Postal Savings.

O'Connell set forth in his petition yesterday that $454,000 in postal savings funds was on deposit in the Woodlawn bank when it closed June 22, 1932. The $300,000 in bonds was pledged to secure the deposit. The return of these securities to the bank would mean an immediate difference of about 10 per cent in returns to depositors.

The suit asking return of the bonds to the bank is directed at Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, Attorney General Cummings, and Postmaster General Farley, trustees of the postal savings system, and William A. Julian, treasurer of the United States, who also is treasurer of the system.

FARMS REBUILD HERDS BY BUYING FOREIGN CATTLE

Thousands Moving Over Border Lines.

Faced with the task of rebuilding live stock herds depleted by the combined forces of nature and the AAA, American farmers are finding it necessary to bring in foreign feeding and breeding stock. They are unable to obtain enough animals for their needs in this country, the greatest live stock nation in the world.

Animals are moving over the Mexican and Canadian borders by the thousands, many of them going into corn belt herds to take the place of some of the millions of head destroyed by the government and drouth. Many thousands of others are being brought in for slaughter.

Import 280,311 Head.

In the first nine months of 1935 this country imported 280,311 head of cattle, both for slaughter and replacement of herds on the farms, over the high tarif wall. Costs of rebuilding the American herds are running the highest in six years. In addition to paying foreign farmers a high price for cattle to replace those sold to the government during the drouth period at ruinously low prices—averaging $13 per head—the American farmer must pay a duty of $2.50 to $3 per hundred pounds to the government on cattle he brings into this country.

This amounts to $12 to $30, or more, per head, depending on the weight of the stock. Cattle weighing less than 700 pounds are taxed $2.50 per hundred pounds coming over the border, while stock 700 uounds or over is taxed $3.

Caused by AAA Program.

The AAA by killing off more than 18,000,000 animals in this country is getting much of the credit for pulling the Canadian live stock markets out of a ruinously low price rut and opening up a huge export demand for that country's surplus. It is estimated that Canada annually produces a cattle surplus of about 200,000 head in excess of its domestic needs, which it has been exporting to other countries.

From Jan. 1 to Oct. 17 this year the United States has imported 107,000 cattle and calves from Canada, or more than half of its estimated surplus. More than a third of these cattle came from the ranches of Alberta. Cattlemen of Alberta admit that their farms have been enriched through shipments of live stock into this country and are prepared to make further heavy shipments the remainder of the year.

PRICES OF BEEF RISE; CATTLE MOVE HIGHER

A sharp rise in wholesale beef prices yesterday bolstered cattle prices despite a heavy influx of stock from all leading western cattle states. Total receipts expanded to 23,000 head, exceeded only twice this year. Clearance was better than usual for Monday, with top steers selling at $13.15. Prices were steady to 25 cents higher than the close of last week.

Strong to $1 higher prices for dressed lamb stimulated buying of live lambs by packers and prices rose 25 to 50 cents. Closely sorted natives sold to city butchers at $9.90. Packers bought largely at $9.50 to $9.75 in the natives, westerns, and range lambs.

Influenced by the action in cattle and sheep the hog trade picked up after a weak opening and closed about unchanged. Top young hogs reached $12.05, processing tax included, steady with last week's close, while the day's average of $11.65 was a reduction of 5 cents.

Yesterday's market for pork was weak to $1 lower, with quotations for loins at the various distributing points $1 to $4.50 under a week ago.
